SQUANDERING CONGRESS RULE HIT BY BUSINESS

Taxes Piled Up to Win Votes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A blistering indictment of congress for the squandering of billions of dollars and for bringing the nation to the verge of bankruptcy was read in the senate today. It was a memorial to congress by the Federation of American Business, a national organization of big and little business men with headquarters in Chicago which is dedicated to taking the government out of business enterprises and to radical curtailment of federal activities and expenditures.

B. W. SNOW. [Acme Photo.]

The memorial, brought to Washington by Bernard W. Snow of Chicago last week was presented by Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], the majority leader, under impressive circumstances today.

Read in the Senate.

For the first time in his career in either house, said Senator Watson, he was asking to have a memorial read from the desk instead of being merely filed. This departure from custom he thought warranted by the "influence of these men" composing the federation and "the objectives they have in view.

"The very existence of the nation is at stake and your constituents, alive to your every action in this crisis, will accept no excuses and no extenuations," was the conclusion of the demand voiced in the memorial for reduction of government expenditures and reduction of taxation. The document was signed by Charles A. Wilson, chairman of the board of directors of the federation.

Tax Burden Too Heavy.

The memorial began by reciting that the federal, state, and local tax burden has become so heavy that the business and industrial machinery of the country has broken under its weight.

"The tremendous increase in the cost of government is the result of three major causes," the memorial contended. "First, government competition directly or indirectly with the business activities of its citizens, and the absorption by increased taxation of losses thus incurred; second, new regulatory or social services not contemplated in our scheme of political administration, but taken on in increasing volume in recent years, and, third, independent boards and commissions, under direction of no established executive department and frequently financed with revolving funds that free them of United States treasury supervision. The whole pattern of government is being changed without approval or even discussion by our citizenship.

Drive Toward Insolvency.

"It is our belief, founded upon careful study, that the financial policies which the federal government has been pursuing in recent years and is still pursuing will, if continued, reduce the United States treasury to insolvency and if present demands for appropriations are granted the debacle will come soon."

The federation then cites the increase of federal appropriations from $4,208,765,478 in 1927 to $4,951,160,738 in 1931, in which year the deficit was $902,716,845, while this year the deficit is estimated at $2,122,683,685.

"Your treasury officials," the memorial went on, "expect further tremendous deficits in the immediate future and hopes of restoring the necessary balance are based upon the assumption that the business and earning power of the people will improve, an assumption that will not be realized so long as you continue to pile up deficits.

Balance Books by Borrowing.

"You have balanced your books by borrowing. Deliberate overappropriation in expectation of recourse to borrowing for payment of ordinary and recurring expenses is to invite financial disaster. You have neglected the warning signs that are manifest o'every hand. Your bonds have recently sold to yield more than 4 per cent and are showing no disposition to rally. Your last offering of treasury notes was only barely oversubscribed. It is perfectly obvious that

Goes to Assembly for Last Stand.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Here are some of the things that Mayor Cermak, returning from a brief health trip to Florida, said last night before he took a train to Springfield to urge passage of the Kelly plan bill:

"All of the active opposition that we have been able to analyze accurately is based on political motives.

"Not $15,000,000 but $50,000,000 more will be needed for relief here unless the legislature helps us. The teachers, policemen, and firemen and thousands of other public employes will be asking for food and fuel.

"If the public knew the true situation any legislator who would help defeat this bill would be afraid to come back and get off the train here.

"I can't understand how any Chicago man can oppose this bill and dare to aspire to public office in April.

"Public improvements this year are entirely out of the question. Contractors can't get 60 cents on the dollar for our paper."

Mayor Jumps Into Action.

Although apparently not in the best of health, Mayor Cermak took command of the situation as soon as he stepped off the Illinois Central Floridian at 2:30 p. m. He went into a series of conferences immediately, one of them with D. F. Kelly, for whom the tax machinery reorganization bill has been called, and Mr. Kelly issued a statement replying to a Sunday speech by Michael L. Igoe in which it was charged that the banks and business interests of the city are seeking to control the assessment of property.

From these conferences the mayor went into a meeting of Democratic officials at the city hall, where plans for Springfield were discussed behind closed doors. Little that occurred there was disclosed, but it was reported the decision was to stake everything on the effort to pass senate bill 14 by a two-thirds vote when it comes up on third reading tomorrow. Today it is on second reading, and amendments are scheduled to be adopted.

Want Two-Thirds Vote.

A two-thirds vote of 102, followed by senate concurrence in the amendments, would make the bill effective immediately. The strategists said that if this two-thirds is not obtained there will be no attempt to pass the bill with a mere majority vote, by which it could not be effective until July 1.

Instead, it was said, Gov. Emmerson will be asked to call a third special session, another concurrent one, with the reorganization of the Cook county taxing machinery as its sole purpose. The governor is said to have expressed a willingness to call as many sessions as are necessary to give Cook county the help its asks.

The mayor was pleased by the receipt of copies of letters sent to all assemblymen by the Legislative Voters' League of Illinois and the Citizens' Association of Chicago, two veteran organizations in the fight for state and city betterment.

Action Called Imperative.

"It is impossible to exaggerate the seriousness of the situation," wrote Paul Steinbrecher, president of the Legislative league. "In our opinion the grave danger that now threatens our city makes it imperatively necessary that the members of the house put aside any objection they may have to this 'key bill,' and cooperate in enacting it as an emergency measure."

"The city of Chicago and the various taxing bodies of Cook county," wrote President Francis E. Broomell of the Citizens' association, "are facing the indescribable disaster in the impending breakdown of their local governments and default on their financial obligations.

"A necessary step toward averting the catastrophe is the enactment of the so-called Kelly measure which was passed by the senate almost unanimously and is now on third reading in the house. The Citizens' association appeals to you to aid in passing senate bill 14 as an emergency measure."

Mayor Silent About Igoe.

As Mayor Cermak left the train he was greeted by his two daughters and their husbands, Senator and Mrs. Richey V. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kenlay, but, going into the station from the train shed, he kept them waiting while he talked to the newspaper men. He first said that he did not know whether to make any statement on what occurred last week.

It was noted with interest that throughout a long interview he did

A STUDY IN EXPRESSIONS

ELOPING HEIRESS SAILS FOR U. S. WITH HER PRINCE

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

CANNES, Jan. 18.—Prince Geronimo Rospigliosi, whose mother was Mary Reid of New Orleans, and his American heiress-bride, the former Marian Snowden, are believed to be aboard the S. S. Vulcania, which is due in New York on Friday. The couple was married in Rome several weeks ago.

Marian's mother and guardian, Mrs. Walter Sherman Davidson of Newport, has refused to recognize the marriage as legal. It appears that the ceremony was performed by a priest at midnight and that his superiors afterwards refused to recognize the marriage.

Mrs. Davidson is known to be anxious that her daughter should return to her. The mother recently said that Miss Snowden is 19 years old and that the laws of Rhode Island require the consent of parent or guardian to the marriage of a minor.

(According to other dispatches from France Mrs. Davidson has requested the state department to intern the prince when the Vulcania docks. State department officials last night said they knew of no such appeal. They added that a request of this sort would be turned over to the immigration authorities.)

Since the elopement of Miss Snowden nothing has been heard directly from her. It is, however, believed that she is accompanying Prince Rospigliosi on the Vulcania, which passed here some days ago. While the ship was outside of Cannes several people recognized the prince.

GLENCOE WILL REOPEN SCHOOLS ON THURSDAY

Glencoe's schools, which have remained closed since the Christmas holidays, are to be reopened on Thursday, according to an announcement made last night.

Homer F. Horton, president of the village board of education, and Elmer F. Wieboldt, chairman of the fiscal committee which is managing the sale of 1931 tax warrants, said that the opening was provisional and that no guarantee was given that the schools would remain open after March 1 unless a campaign to raise a total of $396,700 is successful. So far warrants sold total $138,000, the number of persons who have purchased them being 416.

If the sum aimed at is reached, it was said, Glencoe will have sufficient funds to carry on its schools and its corporate affairs, and also to pay its part of the expense of running the New Trier High school in Winnetka until March 1, 1933. The New Trier High school serves several north shore suburbs.

Clarence B. Randall, president of the Winnetka board of education, told 700 Winnetkans attendin a mass-meeting in the Hubbard Woods school last night that $200,000 would have to be raised by sale of 1930 tax anticipation warrants to keep the four schools of the suburb open until June.

Paris, London Favor Longer Debt Holiday

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Premier Laval of France has taken diplomatic steps to determine the American government's attitude toward possible European extension of the moratorium on intergovernmental debts.

PARIS, Jan. 19 [Tuesday.]—(AP)—France wants the Lausanne reparations conference postponed and the moratorium on reparations and war debts extended until next year, it became known today.

The British and French governments, said a semi-official note, seem to be agreed on a renewal for six months or one year of the Hoover moratorium on payments due from Germany. The present moratorium will expire next July 1.

Under the French plan, as announced in the note, a meeting of financial experts would be called to prolong the Hoover moratorium. The United States would be asked by France and other European debtors, who are creditors of Germany, to be given a moratorium on their war debts on the same terms.

Cite Elections as Reason.

Elections due this year in America, Germany, and France were given in the note as reasons for the contemplated "provisional postponement" of the reparations conference, tentatively scheduled to meet in Lausanne next Monday.

The note was issued at midnight, after Premier Laval had talked with Leopold von Hoesch, German ambassador to Paris.

"The opinion is becoming more and more general in the interested international sphere," the note said, "that it is impossible to arrive now at a detailed and definite solution of the problems of reparations and war debts.

"It seems to be agreed now in Paris and London," the note continued, "to renew purely and simply for the German reich the Hoover moratorium expiring July 1, 1932, and which would be prolonged under the same conditions for six months or a year.

Ask Same Treatment.

"At the same time, the European debtors of the United States, who also are creditors of Germany, would make a common declaration asking the American government to give them the same treatment as a condition of and during the new moratorium accorded Germany.

"If an accord can be established on these bases between the Young plan signatories by the intermediary of the chancelleries, the Lausanne conference will become provisionally without object, since the fundamentals of the problem will not be discussed before the end of the year by the interested government.

"Under these conditions, a meeting of financial experts might well suffice to proceed with elaboration of the convention necessary for a prolongation of the moratorium now in force."

MELROSE PARK'S FIREMEN CHARGE FOR THEIR WORK

Fire protection is on a pay-as-you-enter basis in Melrose Park nowadays, Arthur H. Langredar, 401 North Maple avenue, Oak Park, complained yesterday to the Chicago Motor club. His automobile caught fire last Friday in the suburb. The local fire department put it out. And now the Melrose police, who, like the firemen, have been unpaid for five months, are holding the automobile until Langredar pays them $25 for the job.

Fire Chief Dan Passarella said that members of his department are working on a voluntary basis and will be paid by the village when it gets funds for the number of fires extinguished and the time put in. No charge is made to residents of the village for fire protection, he said.

"You bet we're going to charge him and anybody else who gets their car caught on fire in our village," the chief said of the Langredar case. "It takes money to put those fires out, and if they don't pay us we'll stop putting the fires out, that's all."

'Alfalfa Bill' Likens Us to Tethered Mule

"Alfalfa Bill's" activities in Washington yesterday were not confined to his appearance before the house ways and means committee. At night he spoke as a dry before the Anti-Saloon convention and said: "Prohibition will not prove the wisest legal solution of the control of the liquor traffic." Details on page 3.

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—"Alfalfa Bill" Murray came out of the west this morning, and, between big gulps of black coffee that splashed on his sandy mustache told the house ways and means committee that the American citizen, under the present federal reserve system is like a mule tied to a stake—all he can do is kick.

Later, in an interview, this Oklahoma governor pushed his gray fedora back off his weather-beaten forehead and denounced bureaucratic government as "inefficient, lawless, extravagant and duplicative."

Crowds Follow Tall Figure.

And wherever he went crowds followed the tall figure in the shiny black suit with the rip in the left elbow.

Gov. Murray appeared before the ways and means committee to urge passage of a bill to remove the 10 per cent tax on state bank note issues, which was first proposed by him as a congressman 15 years ago, and which is now sponsored by his fellow Oklahoman and Democrat, Representative Tom D. McKeown.

Such a plan, he argued, would not destroy the federal reserve but it would "break the chain that now binds the little fellow to the coterie of big men that are merely speculators and not producers." Under its provisions the states would be empowered to issue currency on financing agencies and to lend money on produce, particularly wheat and cotton. It would be similar, he explained, to the old "Scotch banks" that flourished in this country until after the civil war.

Fears Worse Conditions.

Basing his appeal for the state banks on aid to the farmer, "Alfalfa Bill" declared that "until the lever of economic error that produced this depression is reversed the condition will grow worse and worse. Those gentlemen that think things are going to be better at once have another guess coming."

"I was simply amazed," he drawled, as he wiped the coffee off his mustache, "to read the statement of a prominent Chicago banker, who said, seriously, mind you, that as a natural consequence, when banks fail, merchants and farmers fail. Why, I expected him to go on and say that the thermometer caused the weather. It's just as silly. Banks fail because farmers fail."

Cites Fate of Rome.

In the interview he lamented the fact that the old time uplift societies have been replaced by modern uplift commissions, incorporated in the government and paid for by the taxpayer. Rome had a bureaucratic government, he recalled, and Rome prevented criticism of it by having a strict censorship.

"The United States," he insisted, "has a bureaucratic government; and the United States throttles criticism by poisoning the source of information."

"Let me tell you a story about these bureaus here at Washington," Gov. Murray said eagerly.

"When I was in congress I went to a bureau to get some information. I asked for the assistant chief; he was out trying his father's new car. I asked for his assistant; he was at the baseball game. I asked for his assistant; he was playing golf. Finally I bothered the chief. He said he'd get it right away.

"'Busy?' 'O, No.'

"'Guess you're pretty busy?' I remarked. 'O, no,' he replied.

"'How many you got in the office?' 'Nine.' 'Do you need 'em all?' 'Heavens, no. If I worked I could get everything done myself in two hours and forty-five minutes a day.'

"'Why don't you recommend a reduction in the force?' I asked him. He winked at me. 'You mean you want me to resign?' And that's what I mean about the extravagance of these bureaus."

WM. WRIGLEY ILL AT HIS PHOENIX WINTER HOME

CORTEGE TAKEN TO CEMETERY BY ARMED SQUADS

The body of a housewife was buffeted about at her funeral services yesterday because of a union controversy. Four arrests were made and it was necessary for a policeman to drive the hearse containing her body to church and cemetery.

Other policemen and a representative of the state's attorney's office drove the members of her family, a car of mourners and the flower car.

Two motorcycle policemen were assigned to guard the body on its way to the grave. A shotgun squad was in the cortège for the protection of the living as well as of the dead.

Two detectives, not knowing each other, nearly fought a pistol duel in an effort to preserve order in respect for the dead, each believing the other to be a hoodlum or union slugger.

Union Rule Causes Trouble.

The trouble was due to the efforts of the livery car chauffeurs' union to enforce a rule that none except union livery cars can drive in funeral processions. Owners are forbidden to drive their own cars.

The funeral was for Mrs. Stratigoula Economakos, 62 years old. For the last twenty-one years she and her husband, John, conducted a restaurant at 1177 South State street, a few doors south of police headquarters. They lived upstairs. They had four sons and one daughter. Last Wednesday night the mother died. Yesterday the relatives and friends gathered for the funeral.

A. Collias, 622 Blue Island avenue, was the mortician in charge of the funeral. He had ordered a hearse and five livery cars from the Shenandoah motor livery, 3635 North Halsted street.

Start Ride to Church.

At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the flowers were taken from the home to a waiting livery car. The pallbearers carried out the body of Mrs. Economakos. The family and close relatives got into the cars assigned to them. Other mourners entered their own automobiles. The cortège proceeded north in State street to 11th street, then east to Wabash avenue, where the hearse stopped. The other cars also halted.

"Unless those private cars get out of the line we will go no farther," announced William Libal, hearse driver and union steward at the Shenandoah garage, of which he and his brothers are part owners.

"What will be done?" asked one of the sons.

"We'll take the body to the church and leave it there and all the other union cars will pull away and you folks can get to the cemetery any way you please," the son was informed.

Son Calls Prosecutor's Office.

He went to the telephone and called the state's attorney's office. State's Attorney Swanson himself had encountered difficulties at a funeral last week and had told union officials he would not tolerate their tactics in attempting to force the employment of their men on persons who have cars of their own.

He was ready to take action yesterday at a scheduled hearing before Superior Judge Robert E. Gentzel, who issued an injunction restraining the union from interfering with funerals. But that hearing was continued for a week.

Assistant State's Attorney Edward Markham and a squad of detectives responded to the call of Mrs. Economakos' son. Within a few minutes they were at the scene of the trouble, 11th street and Wabash avenue. Traffic was blocked and a crowd of a thousand persons had gathered.

Police Seize Hearse Key.

Libal, the hearse driver, took the ignition key from the car as the detectives arrived. He started to walk away with it. Detective David Levine seized him and after a struggle took the key away from him.

Sergt. John Sheehy of the detective bureau, passing, saw the scuffle and drew his revolver. Sergt. John Greer, menaced and not knowing Sheehy was a policeman, drew his gun and a shooting was imminent when Detective Herbert Seyferlich of the state's attorney's office, recognizing Sheehy, called to both.

"Don't shoot; we're all policemen."

That call halted a possible tragedy.

"You men get on your cars and drive this funeral away or be arrested," Assistant State's Attorney Markham and the detectives told the union drivers. Libal refused. So did

Shotgun Squad Joins Cortége.

Motorcycle Policemen Robert Williams and Harold Anderson were ordered to precede the funeral procession. Sergt. James Fitzgerald's detective bureau shotgun squad car became part of the cortége as did a car containing Detectives Seyferlich and Greer.

The funeral proceeded without interference to the Holy Trinity Greek church at 1101 South Peoria street. The flowers were carried into the church—by policemen.

Two union drivers had agreed to take part in the funeral, Joseph and Clarence Libal, brothers of the hearse driver. They said they did so to protect their property and "out of respect for the dead." Nevertheless, detectives guarded them at the church to see that they did not disappear.

Drive Cars to Cemetery.

Chief William Collins of the county highway police had by telephone deputized the city policemen to act for him outside the city limits and they therefore, as guards and emergency drivers, continued on to the Elmwood cemetery. Five private automobiles filled with mourners were in the cortége. At the cemetery the body of Mrs. Economakos was placed in the grave as the policemen stood guard.

Mr. Markham told the substitute drivers to take the hearse and livery cars back to the Economakos' home on State street and leave them there.

About the time they returned the state's attorney office notified the police to enter charges against the four prisoners under a city ordinance which makes any interference with a funeral a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $100. The four were released on their own recognizance when the mortician promised to have them in court this morning.

MYSTERY BLAST FROM SHOTGUN FELLS PRINTER

Franklin Jones, 20 years old, a printer, was shot in the face and chest early this morning by one of two mysterious gunmen in the rear of his home at 2742 North Fairfield avenue.

Shakespeare avenue police took him to the Norwegian-American hospital, where it was found he had been wounded half a dozen times with birdshot from a shotgun. Physicians said his condition was critical. Jones told police he knew of no reason for the attack.

The youth had returned from a night of bowling, and was putting his automobile in the garage in the rear of his home when a green sedan, containing two men, drove up the alley. Without a word, one of the men thrust out a shotgun and fired. The car sped ahead. Jones ran into his home, crying for help, and his mother, Mrs. Clara Jones, summoned police. Detectives said they were mystified over the case.

FIREBUG'S PLOT FOILED BY CHILD; FAMILY IS SAVED

An incendiary fire of mysterious motive was started early this morning in the hallway of the first floor home of Peter Hess at 3047 Osgood street. His daughter, Lorraine, 4 years old, discovered the fire when she was aroused from sleep by the flames. Her screams awakened the rest of the family.

The fire had barely penetrated the interior when firemen arrived. They found a can of gasoline in the hallway. Hess told police an automobile had stopped in front of his house just before the fire, and said the men in the car probably had set the fire. He could give no reason. Damage was estimated at about $100.

HAWAII LAUNCHES CRUSADE TO RID ISLAND OF CRIME

Legislature Acts on New Reform Measures.

BY CLIFFORD GESSLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Jan. 18.—The Hawaiian islands launched their crusade to purge Honolulu of crime today. The territorial legislature met in special session and began its task of overhauling the law enforcing machinery and divorcing it from the "evil" of politics.

Gov. Lawrence M. Judd, who is also under fire as the result of a succession of major crimes climaxed by the abduction and killing of Joseph Kahahawai, Hawaiian accused of raping a naval officer's wife, introduced his reform bills.

What Bills Provide.

The first bill provides for a chief of police and police commission, both appointive, to replace the present head, Sheriff Patrick Gleason, an elective official. Another empowers the governor to assume immediate and complete control of all law enforcement agencies in case of emergency. The third provides for an appointive prosecutor instead of an elective official, a post now held by County and City Attorney James F. Gilliland. The fourth and fifth bills provide the death penalty as a maximum sentence for convicted rapists, and punishment for persons convicted of loitering on highways.

Should the legislature pass the bills at once there is a likelihood that a prosecutor will be appointed to act in the trial of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and the two naval enlisted men held for Kahahawai's murder.

All bills passed the first reading and both houses adjourned until tomorrow.

"I have been promised a majority in both houses in favor of the measures," Gov. Judd said.

Picks Major for Sheriff.

Before the adjournment the legislators adopted a resolution requesting the general opinion of Sanford B. D. Wood, United States attorney for Hawaii, as to whether the United States congress can remove the territorial government and substitute a commission form of government.

Gov. Judd tonight nominated Maj. Gordon C. Ross of the National Guard for territorial high sheriff to succeed John C. Lane, who resigned last Saturday under pressure. Maj. Ross will have charge of Oahu prison.

While the legislature was sitting attorneys for Mrs. Fortescue and Lieut. Massie announced that they will ask a delay in the murder trial until the arrival of Mrs. Fortescue's husband from New York.

Maj. Fortescue, who is recovering from an attack of pneumonia, is not expected to reach Honolulu at least for several weeks.

Sister Visits U. S. Officials.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Mrs. Julian A. Ripley of New York City, sister of Mrs. Granville Fortescue, who is awaiting trial in Honolulu on a charge of murder, conferred with officials here today preparatory to leaving for Hawaii next week.

She conferred with Secretary of the Navy Adams, Representative Ruth Pratt [Rep., N. Y.], and Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.], chairman of the senate committee on territories and insular affairs. Mrs. Ripley said that both Secretary Adams and Senator Bingham approved of her trip to Hawaii.

"I think the officials of the government have acted splendidly," Mrs. Ripley said after her visits. "My main purpose in coming here today was to thank them for their great kindness. I wish to be with my sister when she goes to trial. She would come to me if I were in trouble, and I think my place is with her."

Urges Prisoners Be Freed.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Kentucky general assembly today unanimously adopted a resolution calling on President Hoover to "use the power vested in him as commander in chief the the army and navy" to demand the conviction of the group of five Hawaiians alleged to have attacked the wife of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., located at Honolulu.

The resolution asked that "every arm of the government" be called into use to insure the immediate release of Lieut. Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and two American sailors held for slaying one of the men.

The resolution was first introduced by Representative Abram Renick of Clark county, of which the naval lieutenant is a native.

$414,000 LOANS OF OUSTED BANK EXAMINER TOLD

Can't Repay $336,000, Charles H. Meyer Says.

Charles H. Meyer, former chief examiner for the Chicago Clearing House association, was a witness yesterday before Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg in an action to discover assets hidden to the receiver of the Lake View State bank. On being questioned concerning an unsecured note for $149,000 with accrued interest of $3,000, which he owes the bank, Meyer said he had borrowed a total of $414,000, largely without security, from a number of banks while he was examiner.

CHARLES H. MEYER

Meyer, who was ousted from his clearing house post in July, 1928, for unethical practices in making the loans, said he used the money to speculate on stocks. He admitted that of his borrowings approximately $336,000 is unpaid. Meyer said that although he drew a substantial annual salary for a long period as examiner, he has no money today and is dependent on friends for meals.

Lists His Loans from Banks.

In addition to his indebtedness to the Lake View State bank, Meyer listed his loans from banks affiliated with the clearing house. These are:

Boulevard Bridge	$30,000
Kaspar American State	25,000
Washington Park National	25,000
Metropolitan State	20,000
Union Bank of Chicago	20,000
State Bank of Chicago	15,000
Capital State Savings	15,000
Suburban Trust and Savings of Oak Park	10,000
Commonwealth Trust and Savings	6,000
Northwestern Trust and Savings	5,000
Chicago City	5,000
Fidelity Trust and Savings	10,000

Another loan, since repaid, was made at the former Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank. Meyer said he had borrowed $95,000 from the bank, of which $50,000 was unsecured. The former examiner disclosed the last loan only when Judge Feinberg questioned his ethics in getting the loans.

The judge asked Meyer if he had not been censured for unethical conduct on his discharge by George M. Reynolds, the president of the clearing house. Meyer replied that he would rather not answer the question, but the judge ordered him to do so.

Meyer Defends the Loan.

"I got a loan from Mr. Reynolds' bank—he was president of the Continental and Commercial bank," Meyer said. "That's why I didn't think it unethical. He probably knew of the loan."

Meyer was questioned on the transfer of the homestead of the late James S. McCullough, former state auditor, by himself, his wife, and his son, to Mrs. Meyer's mother, Mrs. Celinda McCullough, widow of Mr. McCullough, in 1928. The Lake View State bank brought a lien against the property shortly after Meyer was ousted as examiner.

Meyer said he could not remember the details of the transfer. He was instructed to have his wife and son in court this morning. During the afternoon Judge Feinberg questioned various debtors of the Lake View State bank.

State Auditor Closes Bank.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson yesterday closed the Depositors' State bank at 4701 South Ashland avenue at the request of the board of directors. The bank has paid out deposits of approximately $3,500,000 since last March. On March 31 deposits were $6,456,000. Yesterday deposits were $2,915,000. R. D. Mathias was president and A. M. Smietanka, cashier, of the bank.

SECRET MARRIAGE OF LYMAN J. GAGE GIRL KIN REVEALED

The secret marriage last Saturday of Miss Alice Brunson, 22 years old, great grandniece of the late Lyman J. Gage, Chicago banker and former secretary of the treasury, and John Valleau Rathbone Jr., Princeton graduate, was revealed by friends last night.

The couple motored to Waukegan Saturday, procured a license, and were married by Justice of the Peace Walter Dow Wright. They returned to their homes immediately afterward. The bride said last night they had hoped to keep their wedding secret for several months.

The former Miss Brunson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brunson of 366 South avenue, Glencoe, and is a graduate of Fullins college in Virginia. Her father is a manufacturer. Rathbone is a cousin of the late Henry R. Rathbone, Illinois congressman at large, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rathbone, 523 Abbottsford street, Kenilworth. He is now attending law school. His father is an insurance executive.

RUMANIA BARES SOVIET $5,000,000 'ASSASSIN PLOT'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Jan. 18.—What police claim was intended to be the biggest communist plot ever directed against Rumania was described by police today following the arrest yesterday of 15 Reds and the seizure of documents and $5,000,000 in cash which was to have been used to finance a drive to bolshevize the country.

The documents revealed that the Reds had already sentenced many prominent politicians to death, including Constantine Argetoianu, minister of finance and King Carol's "strong man," and Juliu Maniu, National Peasant party leader. The communists had planned to bomb the cathedral, the royal palace, and parliament.

The Reds arrived at Constanza from Russia aboard the Greek steamer Philomela. The ringleader, a woman with whom Capt. Kapapodis, skipper of the steamer, fell in love, was the cause of Kapapodis' arrest. He was released when police found he was the innocent dupe of the woman's charms. The skipper said the Reds had chartered the ship and intended to make a getaway on it.

MOTORIST ROBBED OF CASH.

Three armed men robbed Henry S. Buckberg, 6454 South Winchester avenue, of $200 after forcing his car to the curb last evening at 58th place and Ashland avenue.

GUARD CHARGED WITH MURDER OF SCHOOL ATHLETE

Alexander Roney, manager of the Dr. Herzl Community center, 1335 North California avenue, was charged last night with the murder of Louis Lakin, 18 years old, whom he shot and killed Sunday night in a scuffle outside the community hall.

Capt. Patrick Collins of the West North avenue police ordered him booked and held without bail when a complaint was signed by Nathan Lakin, brother of the dead youth, after a coroner's inquest had been continued until Friday. Alois Vargo, janitor at the center, was also placed in a cell, charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Youth Signs Complaint.

The complaint against the janitor was signed by Martin Brooks, 1739 North Francisco avenue, a companion of young Lakin. Lakin, who was captain of the 1931 Tuley High school basketball team, Brooks and five other youths had climbed to a fire escape in an attempt to "crash" a dance at the Community center. It was charged at the inquest that Roney and Vargo beat them with clubs after ordering them down from the fire escape.

Roney exhibited a bruised arm and powder burns on his sleeve at the inquest in support of his contention that he shot the Lakin boy in a struggle for the gun. Roney, who was also watchman at the center, had a permit to carry the weapon on the premises.

Roney's testimony was disputed by Lakin's companions and by a resident of the neighborhood, who saw the struggle from his bedroom window. They testified that Roney stood at arm's length from the boy when he fired the fatal shot.

Tells Story of Shooting.

David Thomas, 2744 Evergreen avenue, testified that he saw the shooting from his bedroom. He identified Roney and Vargo as the men who appeared beneath the fire escape on which the boys were standing, armed with clubs and accompanied by a police dog.

"The boys seemed afraid to go down, and the men left for a moment," Thomas said. "Then, when the boys started down the fire escape, they returned and started beating them on the shoulders. The boy who was shot had his hands up, but I couldn't tell whether he was defending himself or attacking Roney."

Abraham Lakin, 1206 North Kedzie avenue, father of the dead youth, collapsed as the hearing opened. It had been called at an undertaking room at 1023 North California avenue, but was moved to the West North avenue station when 500 spectators appeared, mostly schoolmates of the dead boy or friends of his family.

Twofold Search for Racket Clews in Cleaning Inquiry

Activity was focused on two phases of the racket ridden cleaning and dyeing industry yesterday as the authorities entered the second week of the Benjamin Rosenberg murder investigation with no tangible clews in sight.

Coroner Walsh announced that he would investigate relation of independent cleaners to the Cleaners and Dyers' institute, headed by Dr. Benjamin M. Squires. Rosenberg was an independent.

The coroner made his announcement after a conference with the slain man's widow, Daisy Rosenberg. She submitted the names of ten men whom the coroner said he would subpoena to be present when the inquest is resumed Jan. 26.

Will Question Partner.

Assistant State's Attorney Edwin C. Duffcy of the racket bureau announced that he would question Harry Alpert, Rosenberg's partner in the International Cleaners and Dyers, 2812 South State street, to learn whether coercion was applied when the International, three months ago, contracted to restrict itself to cover-all cleaning and turn over the remainder of its business to the New Drexel Cleaners and Dyers, 4722 Cottage Grove avenue.

Murray Humphreys, lieutenant of Al Capone, is a partner and supposed agent of the Capone syndicate in the New Drexel concern. Mr. Duffcy ordered the police to bring in Humphreys' partner, Abe Osland. Osland holds a membership in the Cleaners and Dyers institute.

Humphreys is also wanted by Coroner Walsh. His name headed the list of those to be subpoenaed for the inquest. The coroner announced that the list had been submitted to him by Rosenberg's widow. Others on the list were:

DR. BENJAMIN M. SQUIRES, University of Chicago economist, arbitrator in the cleaning industry and dictator of the Cleaners' and Dyers' institute.

JAMES CROWLEY, proprietor of the City Dye Works, former president of the Master Cleaners' and Dyers' association, now dissolved, and trustee of the Cleaners' and Dyers' institute.

BEN ALBERTS, alias Abrams, head of the Inside Workers' union, affiliatrd with the institute.

MORRIS I. KAPLAN, attorney for the Cleaners' and Dyers' institute, its affiliated unions, the Linen Supply association, and other trade groups.

Dr. Squires is due to return today from Miami. He has arranged for a conference tomorrow with Prosecutor Duffcy. In his absence, Attorney Kaplan has given State's Attorney Swanson his personal check for $1,000 as evidence that the institute wishes the Rosenberg murder cleaned up.

Glad to Quit Cleaning.

As for the contract between the International and the New Drexel concern, Alpert declared he and his slain partner had been "glad to have the cleaning business taken off our hands."

"We weren't making any money at it," he asserted. "We made a big profit on coveralls, however. We were glad to enter the contract taking the cleaning business off our hands. We were going to specialize in the coverall work."

Louis Hollman, proprietor of the Michigan Cleaners and Dyers, 1338 West 63d street, an independent operator who has been doing a large business at cut rates, has left this city on a "vacation," the plant manager announced. A police guard was stationed at the plant after Hollman received threats that, with Rosenberg dead, he "would be next."

RAILWAY UNIONS ASK GUARANTEE ON EMPLOYMENT

Submit New Proposal in Wage Cut Parley.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

The process of bargaining toward a possible settlement in the negotiations between the railway unions and a committee acting for all the railroad managments was begun yesterday.

The settlement will be reached only after a game of give and take is played, it is generally understood, and the unions took the lead yesterday by presenting a counter proposal on one issue which is regarded as a vital one.

The roads are asking for a voluntary wage cut of 10 per cent for a period of one year. The unions are seeking, among other things, an agreement by which the workers will be given definite assurance of employment for a period of a year.

Labor Submits Question.

The railroads have given an indefinite answer to this union proposal, and yesterday David B. Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, presented to the committee of railroad presidents a question seeking a more definite reply.

Mr. Robertson's question was: Would the presidents agree to guarantee, during the one year period for which they wanted the 10 per cent wage cut, that they would maintain a minimum force at work at least equal to that employed in 1930?

In other words, if the workers agreed to a 10 per cent wage cut, would the roads relieve unemployment and establish a feeling of security among the employés by guaranteeing that they would employ workers on the basis of conditions in 1930?

The year 1930 was selected, it was explained by Mr. Robertson, because it was somewhat better from the workers' point of view than 1931. However, in 1929 the rate of employment was much higher, Mr. Robertson said, and he declared that the year 1930 had been selected as a middle ground.

The Union's Proposal.

The language of the unions' counter proposal, as it was formally submitted to Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio and chairman of the presidents' committee, at yesterday's session in the Red Lacquer room at the Palmer house, is as follows:

"Would the railroads agree to guarantee, during the period for which they have proposed a pay roll deduction, to maintain as a minimum amount of work not less than the total hours worked by each class of employés in the year 1930? The distribution of this work to be made by mutual agreement between the representatives of the employés affected and the management of each railroad, contemplating the full observance of existing schedule rules unless otherwise agreed by the parties to the existing agreement. [As to the Pullman company this suggestion contemplates restoration to service of conductors in service as of Jan. 1, 1930, so far as the lines remain in operation.]"

The last provision was added, Mr. Robertson explained, because on many runs the Pullman company has laid off conductors and has required Pullman porters to collect tickets and perform the other duties of the Pullman conductors. The conductors should be reinstated except in cases where lines have suspendd operation, the unions hold.

Mr. Robertson was asked to what extent railway employment has dropped off as compared to 1930, and he said that while he had not the definite figures before him, he could estimate the difference at about 10 per cent. Thus, if the roads accepted the unions' counter suggestion, they would get a 10 per cent wage cut and would have to increase employment about 10 per cent.

Mr. Robertson said it would not figure out just this way, because in some of the brotherhoods the roads could not bring the employment rate up to the 1930 scale unless business conditions improved substantially. He explained that the plan would aid the shop crafts and the maintenance of way men mostly, because in these classes the railroads are already faced with a necessity for hiring many additional men to make much needed repairs and improvements on their equipment and road beds.

The transportation brotherhoods—engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, and switchmen—would be benefited only slightly by the proposed plan, Mr. Robertson said.

The only prospects for giving material aid to these classes of employés would be the adoption of a six hour day, it was said, and on this subject the two committees are still at loggerheads.

Debate on Six Hour Day.

The railroad presidents have refused in positive language to acknowledge even the feasibility of a six hour day to take the place of the present eight hour day. The unions' program calls for the creation of a joint commission to study a shorter workday, and during yesterday's session of the conference several hours were devoted to a heated discussion of the proposal, without either side yielding.

Mr. Robertson pointed out that while the agreement to have the roads maintain a 1930 working schedule would aid the shop and maintenance crafts, it was impossible to expect the roads to put on more engineers, firemen, conductors, and trainmen than traffic required. Before the operating brotherhoods can be aided their workday must be shortened, Mr. Robertson said.

The labor spokesman had in mind that the railroads and the unions might be equally represented on a commission to study the project, with a member of the interstate commerce commission as a neutral member. The railroads have refused to accept this plan so far, and whether the unions will capitulate and accept the wage cut even if the six hour day plan fails, or whether the roads will agree to a study of the plan at least, remains to be thrashed out.

The unions submitted a statement to the presidents agreeing with them in a proposal to establish regional employment bureaus in New York, Chicago, and Washington.

The other problems before the conference are still pending. It is expected that the railroad presidents at this morning's session will submit their answer to the counter proposal of the unions on the stabilization program, and that the general discussion of the proposed wage cut will begin.

Prospects for an early settlement dimmed yesterday when the labor officials notified the hotel management that they desired to reserve their conference rooms until Jan. 27, a week from tomorrow.

Offer to Accept Wage Cut.

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Herald Tribune says more than 25,000 workers, the entire labor personnel of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, have offered voluntarily to accept 10 per cent reductions in pay, but their proposal has been refused by the management.

The Lackawanna will persist in this stand, it says, until the end of the national conferences now being conducted between labor and the railroads in Chicago.

The reason the road has not taken advantage of the offer, J. M. Davis, president of the Lackawanna is quoted as saying, is that its officials feel the men should be treated on the same basis as those on other lines.

"Alfalfa Bill" Hits Bureaus

JERSEY DEMOCRATS PASS G. O. P. MEASURE REPEALING DRY LAW

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A measure repealing New Jersey's prohibition enforcement law, the Hobart act, sponsored by a Republican, passed the Democratic controlled house of assembly tonight by a vote of 42 to 15.

The Democrats a few minutes before had introduced a bill to repeal the act, but went along on the Republican measure, in order, leaders said, to put responsibility for its eventual enactment up to the Republican senate.

Assemblyman Siracusa of Atlantic City, sponsor of the bill, said he realized the "proper procedure would be to pass a measure seeking first repeal of the 18th amendment," but asserted the people of New Jersey "want action not logic."

ALFALFA BILL HORRIFIES DRYS WITH A SPEECH

Tells Anti-Saloonists His Doubts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Gov. William H. Murray, Oklahoma's outspoken "Alfalfa Bill," whose reputation as a champion of prohibition brought him an invitation to address the national convention of the Anti-Saloon league, surprised that bone dry group tonight when he submitted to them a new suggestion for state control of liquor.

Gov. Murray told the dry leaders that it should not be a violation of the law for a citizen to make wine and beer in his own home or to import the ingredients from a distant point if he himself was unable to grow them.

"The doctrine of the home," said Gov. Murray, "is so sacred to the American citizen that any trespass upon that doctrine, whatever the excuse, has been and always will be resented. Too often I have known it to be done in Oklahoma."

Suggests State Control.

Gov. Murray's suggested solution of the prohibition problem, as shown in his prepared speech, provides that the manufacture and sale of intoxicants be returned to the states but that interstate commerce in intoxicants be permitted only between those states which have similar liquor laws. This commerce will be controlled through direct treaties between the states.

Gov. Murray departed in a number of places from his prepared text to tone down his criticisms of prohibition. In opening his address he said he wanted it "distinctly understood that this does not commit me to any change in the fundamental law."

In his address as prepared for delivery Gov. Murray said the basis for private and public morals must be proper home training. Laws, he held, are added to remove temptations. The test of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act, in his opinion is whether "they destroy the shops, the dives of intemperance and debauchery."

He Gives His Opinion.

Then Gov. Murray added:

"Candor exacts of me that I state my personal opinion of that method of control. When, as president of the Oklahoma constitutional convention I threw my entire strength and prestige on the side of prohibition, it was because I wanted Oklahoma to step in [become a state in the Union] duly sober. But there is a possibility that the final solution of legal control will not be prohibition."

Bishop James Cannon Jr., in a speech before the convention here, served notice on the Democratic party that nomination for the presidency of former Gov. Alfred G. Smith or any candidate chosen by him would be met with desertion of the party standard by southern dry Democrats.

DRY ADVOCATES LOSE THEIR GOAL, SENATORS TOLD

'Have Forgotten What They Started Out For.'

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Prohibition's advocates, in their zeal for a cause, have forgotten that they once started toward a goal, Charles A. Boston, New York attorney and last year's president of the American Bar association, told a senate committee today.

His statement was made along with other testimony which demonstrated not only the cost of prohibition, but the loss of once reliable revenues through prohibition.

Prohibition, said F. D. Buck, executive secretary of the Tax Reduction league, has cost the United States 24 billion dollars since the eighteenth amendment became effective.

And it has meant that the government collected only $11,695,267 in liquor taxes in 1930 as against $483,000,000 in 1919, according to the statistics submitted by David Burnet, commissioner of internal revenue.

A Psychological Fault.

Testifying in support of the Bingham bill to legalize 4 per cent beer, Mr. Boston declared:

"I am here to deny recent allegations that no one except the liquor interests advocates these bills. As an individual I find my contempt fatigued at the opposition to efforts to ameliorate present conditions. The organizations behind this opposition have been guilty of a grave psychological fault. In their devotion to a cause they have lost sight of the object they had in mind. And their attitude has descended from love of humanity to a hate of those—numerous beyond enumeration—who disagree with them."

"And do you go so far," asked the dry Senator Hatfield [Rep., W. Va.], "as to favor repeal of the 18th amendment?"

"I go so far as to advocate repeal of the 18th amendment on every pinnacle on which I can stand," replied Attorney Boston. "It has filled the land with spies, created contempt for law, jeopardized the sanctity of the constitution, and educated the young in intemperance such as they never would have known without it.

"It has been enforced with a degree of hate such as has marked the enforcement of no other law except the fugitive slave law."

Huge Revenue Lost to U. S.

Commissioner Burnet brought with him statistics requested by Senator Metcalf [Rep., R. I.], subcommittee chairman. The figures in the long tables brought out by Senator Bingham [Rep., Conn.], author of the beer bill, showed:

That, were the Volstead act amended, tax laws now on the books would tax beer at $6 a barrel; that at such a rate the 22,000,000 barrels of illicit beer estimated by the prohibition bureau itself in the fiscal year 1930 would have meant $132,000,000 in federal revenue; that the 73,831,000 gallons of alcohol estimated distilled in that year would, in terms of whisky, have paid a tax of $162,000,000; that 1,086,000,000 gallons of wine made, 1924 to 1929, would have been taxed at from 4 to 25 cents per gallon, according to alcoholic content.

Mr. Burnet said a beer tax would be easy to collect; that in contrast to the income tax it would produce a fairly constant revenue; evasion would be negligible; and regulation of the amount of alcohol would be easy.

"In other words," said Sen. Bingham, "a beer tax would be a good revenue producer for the government?"

"Yes," Mr. Burnet answered.

TWO RUM RUNNERS AND $225,000 WORTH OF LIQUOR CAPTURED

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—In one of the busiest periods on record in their branch of activity, prohibition enforcement authorities scored heavily last night and early today in a series of brushes with rum runners in and about Boston. In three seizures coast guard and police arrested three men and captured two power boats and a large quantity of liquor, the value of the haul being placed at close to $225,000.

The speed boat Buddy, overhauled in the harbor off Fort Warren, yielded a cargo of liquor valued at $20,000 and two prisoners. Another speedboat, the Mary of New Bedford, ran ashore in Dorchester to escape a pursuing const guard craft, and her crew got away.

This vessel and her cargo of liquor represented a value of $150,000, according to coast guard officials in Cohasset. Police interrupted a gun battle between rum runners and hijackers and seized 400 sacks of liquor. Two loaded trucks got away. One man, who claimed an automobile found on the beach, was arrested.

KILLS SELF WITH RAZOR.

Anthony De Benedetto, 54 years old, of 826 South Hermitage avenue, died yesterday in the county hospital of razor wounds evidently self-inflicted while despondent over the loss of several hundred dollars in a closed bank.

RULES HUSBAND CANNOT KEEP HIS WIFE TO HIMSELF

British Judge Says Women Control Own Destiny.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Husbands in Great Britain are virtually without rights over their wives, Judge McCardie, famous bachelor commentator on matrimony, declared in a case in the Cambridge Assizes today in which a grocery clerk sued a wealthy doctor on a charge for alienating his wife's affections.

JUSTICE McCARDIE. [Acme Photo.]

"I do not think husbands realize the disadvantageous position in which they exist," the judge said. "You can talk about a bargain being a bargain as man to man, but not as man to woman."

Doctor Beats Up Clerk.

John Place was suing Dr. O. F. Searle, prominent in Cambridge society, who took Mrs. Place riding and boating. He finally is alleged to have removed her from the rooming house which she conducted with her husband after a fist fight in which the doctor whipped the complaining witness.

Place testified that he forbade the doctor to see his wife when he discovered their long association.

"When a woman says, 'I don't want to break up our home, but I refuse to be your slave,'" Judge McCardie told Place's counsel, "you have to reconcile these two things. If you succeed, you will pass into great tradition in English legal history.

Cannot Imprison Her.

"A husband is not entitled to strike his wife to prevent her from going somewhere and he is not entitled to imprison her. In other words, a married woman today controls her own destiny."

not mention the name of Minority Leader Igoe, who marshaled the opposition that killed the house Kelly plan bill last week, or to Len Small, w ose followers in the house also voted solidly against the measure.

"I was surprised by the vote," he said, "as I could see no logical reason for opposition to the bill, particularly from downstaters who are not asked to sacrifice a thing and are asked merely to help Cook county meet its terrific problems.

Must Have Better Plan.

"The question is whether the opponents have a better plan. If they have they should present it. If they haven't they should support this plan, which every one agrees is the only one that has a chance to pass the legislature. It is not ideal, but the exigencies of the situation demand this sort of a plan. While it does not mean instantaneous relief, it at least opens the way for the only relief we can expect.

"One of the opponents of the Kelly plan introduced a bill last year for the appointment of a tax board of three by the president of the county board. I was president at that time and while I was campaigning for mayor I was asked repeatedly if I was for that plan. I said I was not, that it was placing too much power in the hands of one man, the single assessor. But since that time the general demand for a change has forced me to change my own mind. We must take this plan or get nothing.

Now Favors Uniting Boards.

"Now I am told that this same man favors the consolidation of the present boards and their continuation as one board. Does he forget that two of the present assessors and one of the present members of the board of review have been there for several years and are held responsible for the failure to assess personal property about which there is so much criticism from him?

"There is certainly more reason to expect that new men will put personal property on the books than to look for that from men who failed to do it and now say it was impossible."

In speaking of the income tax bill, which downstate has linked up to the Kelly plan bill as a sort of quid pro quo, the mayor said that downstaters should not ask Chicago legislators to vote for "a new tax."

"What we are trying to do," he said, "is to reduce taxes, not to devise new ones. The two subjects are not related to one another in any way."

Kelly Defends Plan.

D. E. Kelly's statement, contending that this measure is the foundation for the entire relief structure intended to pull Cook county municipalities out of their "horrible" financial condition, emphasized the fact that the bill provides that as soon as possible—1934—the three new taxing officials will be elected by the people, that their appointment until that time is necessary in the emergency. It is desired that the new officials take hold at once and their scheduled tasks cannot be completed before the election next November, certainly, he said, not before the April primary.

"There is great danger," he said after picturing the conditions of municipal bankruptcy," that this bill will be defeated through the personal and political ambitions of one man (Igoe) who has set himself up against the whole community regardless of his actions.

"I cannot understand how a man who voted for the establishment of the Illinois commerce commission, the most vicious assault upon the home rule of the city of Chicago, can suddenly appear as the champion of home rule in the question now before the legislature."

ENVOY ATTACKED

ADDISON SOUTHARD.

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Addison E. Southard, of Louisville, Ky., American minister to Abyssinia, was knocked down yesterday during an argument with policemen.

Mr. Southard's automobile, with him at the wheel, ran over the foot of an Abyssinian woman, it was reported, and a native policeman arrested the minister's chauffeur.

The arrest caused Mr. Southard to protest and during the argument several other policemen arrived. A scuffle ensued and the minister was knocked down. The woman was only slightly injured. Mr. Southard had stopped immediately to make sure that she was not badly hurt.

U. S. Officials Better.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Earle C. Taylor, assistant American trade commissioner, and George Berkalew, attached to the American embassy, were said at the American hospital in Neuilly today to be showing improvement after being hit Saturday night by an automobile.

U. OF I. WARNED OF APPROACHING CUTS IN BUDGET

18 State Colleges Pare Salaries in Year.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

President Harry Woodburn Chase of the University of Illinois has informed the faculties of the university's schools of medicine, dentistry and pharmacy, located in Chicago, that the university has sufficient cash to keep going for about two months. He cautioned the faculties to be careful in buying supplies and equipment and added that the staffs could expect severe reductions in all budgets next autumn. His talk was interpreted as a forecast of a cut in salaries.

HARRY W. CHASE. [A. P. Photo.]

Eighteen state universities and colleges cut salaries last year, according to the United States commissioner of education, in a report made public yesterday. The reductions ranged from 2 to 23 per cent and were due in nearly all instances to financial retrenchment resulting from adverse economic conditions.

Pay of College Presidents.

According to the United States office of education, the University of Wisconsin pays its president the highest salary of any state-supported institution. His annual income is $20,400, with an additional $2,400 set aside for rent and miscellaneous expenses.

The University of Illinois ranks second in presidential salary with $20,000 straight income and an additional $2,500 for house expense. Ohio State university gives its president $15,000 with an additional $5,000 for expenses.

Annual salaries of $15,000, without expense allowance are given to the presidents of the state universities of Iowa, California, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia. The president of Purdue also gets $15,000. About 30 other state supported colleges or universities pay between $10,000 and $15,000 to their presidents.

Virginia Pays Professors Most.

Full professors have the highest salary schedule at the University of Virginia of any of the state-supported institutions of higher learning. The range is between $4,000 and $10,000 and the most common salary paid is $6,000.

The salary range at the University of Illinois, according to the federal commissioner of education, ranks with Virginia, but the most common salary paid is $5,000.

President Chase of the University of Illinois publicly recognized the business depression last autumn in his address to the freshman class. He told those students they were in a privileged class because some of them were attending the university at the sacrifice of their parents. He added that this is the period when education should be appreciated most.

$5,109,954 Spent in Year.

For instruction, research and extension, the University of Illinois spent $5,109,954 during the fiscal year which ended last June 30. The largest item in this total was spent by the school of agriculture. It spent $1,414,520. The school of liberal arts and sciences came next with $1,178,635, and the engineering school was third with $827,194.

Of the Chicago departments the school of medicines spent $471,477; the school of dentistry, $151,191; and the school of pharmacy, $108,085.

While the university as a whole has a smaller enrollment than last year the Chicago departments have 1,436 students registered, as compared with 1,407 last year.

TAX DELAY BY COOK PUTS OFF ALL STATE IMPROVEMENT WORK

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson today announced that, owing to the failure of Cook county to pay its share of state taxes, it would be necessary to postpone indefinitely, work on projects for permanent improvement at state institutions, which involve the following expenditures:

Alton hospital	$ 246,700.00
Anna hospital	168,000
Chicago hospital	183,500.00
Dixon hospital	138,000.00
East Moline hospital	80,000.00
Elgin hospital	498,500.00
Eye and Ear infirmary	8,500.00
School for Deaf	50,000.00
Soldiers' and Sailors' Children's school	203,800.00
Soldiers' and Sailors' home	65,000.00
State penitentiary	65,000.00
State reformatory	2,200.00
Jacksonville hospital	301,870.00
Kankakee hospital	72,300.00
Lincoln school	150,000.00
Manteno hospital	1,526,214.27
Peoria hospital	100,000.00
Research and Educational hospital	57,000.00
Chester penitentiary	50,000.00
St. Charles School for Boys	250,000.00
Training School for Girls	47,500.00

"According to the state auditor's analysis of the situation," says the governor, "Chicago and Cook county now owe the state $25,000,000. This does not take into consideration another $17,000,000 which, under ordinary circumstances Chicago and Cook county would now be owing the state for 1931 taxes, payable in 1932.

"When any state tax payments will be received from Chicago and Cook county is problematical. No one can foretell. However, the state will complete its plans for the construction work it has been forced to postpone, and will proceed with it as rapidly as money becomes available."

COUNTY TO SEEK NEW BOND ISSUE FROM ASSEMBLY

The county commissioners' finance committee yesterday approved several measures affecting Cook county taxes and finances, which are to be introduced at the special session of the general assembly tomorrow. Five commissioners, Peter M. Kelly, Miss Amelia Sears, Mrs Glenn E. Plumb, Homer J. Byrd, and Frank J. Kasper, left for Springfield with Special Attorney Urban A. Lavery immediately after the meeting.

The most important bill, as outlined by Lavery, was one in which the county seeks authority to issue working funds bonds to the extent of $9,500,000 to bring the county's working cash to $16,000,000. This sum would put the county on a cash basis the commissioners said. The bonds would mature over a 20 year period, to be paid for from the highway taxes.

County Votes to Pay for Food with $180,000 Bonds

The county finance committee yesterday voted to pay Sprague, Warner & Co., wholesale grocers who have the contracts for the delivery of food rations to 51,000 destitute families, $180,000 in poor relief bonds for a bill submitted last week.

NEW YORK LETS CREDITORS DUN; IT PAYS NO BILLS

Prunes Budget Anew to to Obtain Bank Loan.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Further financial retrenchments to be made by the board of estimate tomorrow are expected to clear the way for a loan from the city's leading banking houses which will enable Controller Charles W. Berry to meet the $32,500,000 of short term obligations falling due Wednesday.

The new retrenchment program, approved at a meeting of the board at city hall today, may also point the way for an arrangement with the banks under which succeeding maturities will be met, taking care of a total of about 150 million dollars of short term obligations due by May 1.

The necessity for an early settlement of the city's financial troubles was emphasized by the disclosure that Controller Berry, as indicated by the files of the city record, has not paid any current bills except pay rolls since Jan. 1 because of an unwillingness to expend substantial amounts of the city's cash resources until arrangements had been made to take care of the pending short term obligations.

He Owes the Landlord.

The payments which have been held up included rents, contractors' bills, printing obligations, and other debts. The total amount is said to be substantial.

The program of additional retrenchment discussed at the conference in Mayor Walker's office was drafted in the light of the meeting last Sunday night of city officials and bankers in the home of Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank.

Representatives of the eight banks with which the loan negotiations are being conducted were in conference during the day in the Morgan offices and afterward were informed of the new retrenchment steps to be taken by the city. At city hall confidence was expressed that they would deem it sufficient, taken in conjunction with economies already effected, to warrant the funding of the $32,500,000 maturity due on Wednesday.

Bankers Are Suspicious.

Mayor Walker explained that the bankers felt that not only must they be convinced that the city has embarked upon a solid retrenchment program, but also the same fact must be brought home to the investors from whom the banks drew the funds which they loaned.

From the general attitude of Mayor Walker it was gathered that the banks will from time to time make available sufficient funds to take care of maturities as they fall due. This would require loans totaling about 80 million dollars this month alone.

HALF OF STATE AUTO FEES PAID BY COOK COUNTY

Figures for 1931 Made Public.

Secretary of State Stratton yesterday announced the complete figures on automobile license fee collections for 1931. Of a total of $18,426,496, Cook county motorists paid $8,542,415, nearly as much as all of the other counties combined. A complete table by counties follows:

Students of Closed Evening School Pay for Teacher

When their evening school was closed along with eight others, the 40 members of the graduating class of the Lawson Evening school secured new quarters and dug into their own pockets to complete their elementary education. Through the efforts of Principal Harry L. Tate a suitable room was obtained free of charge in the Douglas Branch library at 13th place and Homan avenue. A meeting was held and the class subscribed funds sufficient to engage Miss Margaret Walsh, their teacher, to continue their course to its completion in March. The students are all adult and average 25 years of age.

Bankers Turn Down School Trustees' Plea for Money

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The school trustees appealed to the bankers for cash yesterday afternoon. The bankers told the trustees that "there will be no money until there is a valid tax assessment," as one of them phrased it. The trustees went away with the feeling that it will be months before they will be able to borrow on tax anticipation warrants, or a better short term security.

The conference was held in the Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust company, with representatives present from the First National bank, Central Republic Bank and Trust company, Harris Trust and Savings bank, Northern Trust company, and the Continental. The representatives of the school board were President Myers, Trustee Hemingway [chairman of the board's finance committee], and Trustees Savage and Brandenburg.

Banks Ask Short Term Notes.

When times get normal again, the bankers said, they would prefer a short term note, such as New York City uses, to a tax anticipation warrant as security. The note would be a full faith and credit lien, instead of a mortgage upon a particular tax collection, as a tax anticipation warrant is now.

But the agreement on a form of security was looked upon as a matter for the indefinite future, since the bankers intimated there is no form of security which the school board could issue under present conditions that would be salable in any large amounts.

The school trustees would like to have about $60,000,000. This is the sum they need to pay up back salaries and continue operation of the schools until the end of the school year in June. They already owe their employés $24,147,040. In addition they have $65,000,000 of other obligations on the educational fund alone.

Bankers Hold Out No Hope.

The bankers, one after another, explained to the trustees that the school board at present has no credit, and that it is idle to hope to get $60,000,000.

The reason the trustees have no credit is the failure of the property owners to pay their taxes. The assessments for 1928 and 1929 have been declared illegal and void by County Judge E. K. Jarecki, and Judge Charles A. Williams has decreed that the 1930 taxes shall be reassessed. Both of these rulings have been appealed to the state Supreme court, which may give out a decision in February or may defer it until April.

The bankers reminded the school trustees of these and other pertinent facts. Some of them are said to have expressed the view that the state Supreme court decision would not help much in upholding the 1928, 1929, and 1930 tax assessments if the people were unable or refused to pay those assessments.

If the Supreme court indorses the decisions of Judge Jarecki and Judge Williams, then it is the bankers' guess that there must be a reassessment, which tax experts have estimated will take from six months to a year.

CITY CAN'T USE LICENSE FEES FOR PAY ROLLS

Collections for 1932 vehicle stickers and other city licenses, now being made, will not be available for pay rolls immediately, Victor S. Petterson, deputy city controller, said yesterday. He explained that before any more cash is taken from the city aggregate of funds for pay rolls the city "bank" must be restored to the condition of liquidity in which it was before the city dipped into it to prevent default on its bonds and interest payments Jan. 1.

V. S. PETTERSON.

The cash withdrawn from the aggregate of funds for that purpose was in excess of $11,000,000. License collections will fall below that figure. Of nearly $5,000,000 collected annually in vehicle taxes, $1,593,422 had been collected up to last night.

Collections continued yesterday at a rate faster than clerks were able to handle them. Long lines of license payers reached from the city collector's office into the first floor lobby of the city hall. At the end of the day 9,678 licenses had been issued and $153,200 collected.

Mayor Cermak, informed of the jam in the collector's office, suggested yesterday that motorists and others who have to pay city license fees save themselves a long wait in line by sending their applications in by mail, with payment in the form of a cashier's check or money order.

OFFICE OF TAX SERVICE RAIDED; RECORDS SEIZED

Clients Charge Payments to County Held Up.

Acting on complaint of a group of taxpayers, detectives from the state's attorney's office yesterday raided the headquarters of the Property and Tax Service Association of Illinois, Inc., in room 2203 of the Builders' building, 228 North La Salle street, and confiscated numerous books and other records. The raid was based on charges that money turned over to the association as part payment of taxes had not reached the county treasurer. At least $40,000 is involved, it was alleged.

The raiders, led by Assistant State's Attorney Martin Weisbrod, carried warrants issued in the Felony court, charging with conspiracy, Irving Greben, vice president, and Leo T. Nowicki, secretary and treasurer of the Property and Tax Service association. Neither was found, but A. E. Stevenson, who said he had been promoted to the presidency of the association within a month of his employment, was questioned. Other employés also were examined.

Organized Early in 1930.

The association was organized early in 1930, and had a membership of 2,600. As outlined to members, its purpose was to handle tax matters, file objections in court when necessary, and obtain equitable assessments.

Under procedure of the association, it is said, some of the members paid certain taxes directly to the associations for transmission to the county treasurer to protect themselves against delinquency penalties. Some of these payments were never forwarded, it is charged.

First notice of this was received by some of the association members when they were warned by County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough that their properties were to be sold for nonpayment of taxes. Complaints to State's Attorney Swanson followed. Warrants were sworn out, and the raid was made.

Story of the President.

Stevenson told Assistant State's Attorney Weisbrod that Greben and Nowicki made him titular head of the organization shortly after they hired him. He has not been paid for several months, he said. Several other employés also have pay due them, they said. According to the prosecutor, Stevenson admitted he was a "front" for Greben and Nowicki, and added that he was none too familiar with the organization.

Prosecutor Weisbrod said the association exhibited its greatest activity just before and after the issuance of tax bills. Squads of agents solicited members. Enrollment was based on graded fees, such, for instance, as $12 on a bungalow or two flat building; $18 on a three flat structure; $24 on a six flat building; $30 on a twelve flat building, and 5 per cent of the tax bill on larger properties.

Records show that the association has filed numerous complaints in court against tax assessments of members. It also employed a reputable law firm. There appears no recorded explanation thus far, Mr. Weisbrod said, as to the alleged failure of the association to turn over tax money of certain members to the county treasurer. The books seized in the raid yesterday will be examined for that explanation today, he said.

Speeders' Court Judge Furnishes Obj ect Lesson

22 MOTORISTS VISIT CRIPPLES ON COURT ORDER

See Children Maimed by Reckless Driving.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Twenty-two automobile drivers, one wearing a head bandage, stood in a schoolroom yesterday and allowed themselves to be photographed with crippled children, victims of reckless motorists. A few hours earlier the 22 drivers had appeared in Judge Frank M. Padden's traffic court, charged with reckless driving or driving while intoxicated. They were instructed to go to the Spaulding school, 1623 Washington boulevard, at 1:30 p. m. Seven, unable to furnish bond, rode to their appointment in a patrol wagon. Not one of the others failed to meet the judge at the school.

Every face was sober as a little girl with a patient smile was wheeled into the room. Both legs had been amputated. Next came a child hopping through the doorway on crutches. Both limbs were in braces. The heads of the twenty-two reckless drivers dropped guiltily.

Crippled Boy Brought In.

A tiny lad in a blue sailor suit hobbled in, a broad smile on his face as he swung along on his wooden leg, as jaunty as one of Capt. Kidd's band. He beamed as the judge called: "Come here, Smitty, let's have a look at you." Smitty chuckled as he was lifted in the man's arms.

They passed in review children with arms in splints or no arms at all, children with one leg shorter than the other, or one missing. They said nothing. The twenty-two traffic violators said nothing. But the faces of the children said volumes.

"I think, gentlemen," Judge Padden told the drivers, "I am going to make this a frequent occurrence. I believe you should be given this object lesson and that your pictures should appear in the newspapers.

"Seven persons were injured on the streets yesterday. A 12 year old girl was killed on a sidewalk in an automobile accident. There have been more than 65 automobile fatalities so far this year—in only seventeen days' time. In the last few months thousands of drivers have been brought into the traffic court. Several hundred have been sent to the Bridewell with sentences of ten days to a year and a half. But still the death rate increases.

"I am seriously considering keeping a record of the second offenders with the idea of revoking their licenses," the judge continued. "If we could take the licenses away from 50,000 Chicago drivers I believe we could cut the accident rate 90 per cent."

Second Visit to School.

This is the second recent pilgrimage of traffic violators to the Spaulding school at Judge Padden's suggestion. It is a part of the judge's campaign of education to supplement or replace in some cases punishment in court.

"I see you wear the Boy Scout badge," the boy said.

"I'm just a poor tenderfoot," replied the judge.

POLICE CHARGE MANGANO WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Philip Mangano, brother of "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, west side gangster, was booked on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by the Cragin police as the result of an automobile collision Sunday night in which Jennie Johnson, 12 years old, 2650 North Marmora avenue, was killed. The girl was run down at Parkside and Schubert avenues.

Police have not determined whether Mangano's car or the machine of William Vogel, 120 South Longcommon road, Riverside, who was also booked for manslaughter, hit the girl. The inquest was continued to Jan. 26. Mangano has been questioned about the murder of Benjamin Rosenberg, independent cleaner, and was on his way to a detective bureau showup when the accident occurred.

Harry C. Herguth, 35 years old, a salesman employed by the Briggs Engineering company of Highland Park, and Gus Terona of Granville, Ill., were drowned yesterday, when Herguth's automobile skidded off a bridge abutment and plunged into the Illinois river at Peru, Ill. Herguth, who was married and had two children, roomed at 313 East Park avenue, Highland Park, but his home was in St. Louis.

There were no automobile deaths in Cook county yesterday and the toll for the year remained at 68.

SPEAKEASY OWNER FINED.

Vito Dominick, 37 years old, who is alleged to have continued to operate a speakeasy at 21 West Ohio street in defiance of police orders to close, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Alfar M. Eberhardt in the Chicago avenue court yesterday.

STATE PROMISES SURPRISE MOVE IN CANAL TRIAL

Recess After Judges View Bridle Path.

A recess in the sanitary district graft conspiracy trial yesterday gave Prosecutor John E. Northup an opportunity to seek some "surprise testimony," he said. The testimony will be offered today or tomorrow, when the trial of Timothy J. Crowe, president of the district in the "whoopee days," and his seven co-defendants is resumed.

Mr. Northup did not disclose the nature of the expected testimony. He did say, however, that he was negotiating with federal prosecutors for use of records of Crowe's bank accounts in the state court trial. Federal agents seized the records some time ago in an income tax investigation of the former canal board president.

Judges View Bridle Path.

Yesterday's recess came after Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Criminal court, who is hearing the case, and Judges John Prystalski and James Joseph Kelly, who are sitting with him in an advisory capacity, had inspected the $1,000,000 bridle path constructed by the sanitary district under Crowe, without seeing a single horse.

They left their courtroom to view the six mile cinder path skirting the north shore channel of the district. It cost $1,062,000 to build, although experts have testified in the present trial that the work could have been done for $300,000.

Not a Horse in Sight.

The path was deserted when the inspecting party arrived. It remained deserted by equestrians during their visit. After careful scrutiny a member of the defense counsel pointed to a mud puddle in which a couple of hoofprints were visible.

One of Mr. Northup's assistants made light of this discovery, however. From the size of the prints, he asserted, they were made by a Shetland pony.

Judge Fisher stepped to the edge of the path to inspect it, and might have slipped into the sewage canal but for a shouted warning from his adviser, Judge Kelly.

ROOSEVELT GIVEN SENATE APPROVAL AS PHILIPPINE GOVERNOR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The promotion of Theodore Roosevelt from governor of Porto Rico to governor general of the Philippine islands was approved today by the senate.

The selection of the former President's son for America's most important territorial post went through the senate in about ten seconds without a single objection or a word of debate.

AUCTION HOME OF BELMONT UNLESS TAXES ARE PAID

Newport, R. I., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Unless the taxes for the last three years are paid by Feb. 17, Balcourt, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont here, will be sold under the auctioneers' hammer to the highest bidder.

Tax Collector Huga R. A. Anthony, after making an effort to collect the $8,482 due from Mr. and Mrs. Belmont for the assessment of 1929, 1930 and 1931 and failing, is tomorrow advertising the famous and well known estate on lower Bellevue avenue, close to the homes of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice, Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and several others, for sale at a special tax sale to comply with the law.

Mr. and Mrs. Belmont are at the present time in France, where they have been for some time and have not occupied Belcourt for the last two or three summers.

DRUG STORE OWNER ROBBED.

Charles Epple, 28, 6328 South Maplewood avenue, owner of a drug store at 1040 East 63th street, was robbed of $74 by two youths armed with pistols last night.

RURAL MEMBER OF LEGISLATURE GOES BANKRUPT

Big Landholder Says He's Broke.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in federal court here today by State Representative Henry F. Scarborough, farmer of Payson, Adams county, in the thirty-sixth senatorial district.

He scheduled assets of $1,526,627 and liabilities totaling $1,146,833. The obligations included secured claims fixed at $859,370 and unsecured claims totaling $228,469.

The representative's holdings are for the most part of extensive land parcels in Adams and Pike counties, Illinois, and in the counties of Marion and Scott in Missouri. Scheduled value of the land is $1,442,729, he listed stocks and bonds as worth $61,550 and personal property valued at $21,148. His accounts received amount to $1,200.

Taxes due on all property are scheduled at $57,893.93. This amount includes assessments due the Sny Island and South River Drainage districts. The representative was embarrassed by the failure of banks in the territory and his inability to secure further credit.

"Too Lazy," He Says; Kills Self in Loop Building

Jacob Gottlieb, 35 years old, 870 North Mozart street, shot and fatally wounded himself late yesterday afternoon in a washroom on the eleventh floor of the Burnham building, 160 North La Salle street. He died several hours later in the Iroquois hospital. Gottlieb was a newspaper carrier. In one of his pockets was found a note stating that no one was to blame for his suicide but himself. He characterized himself as "too lazy and self-centered."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation—you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

G.O.P. COMMITTEE PUTS BRAKES ON EMMERSON BODY

Slate Making Plan Runs Into a Snag.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The "new leadership" of Gov. L. L. Emmerson in Cook county struck bumpy going yesterday at a meeting of the Republican county committee at the Bismarck hotel. The chief news was in what did not happen. A resolution which the Emmerson men had prepared for the appointment from the floor of a committee to frame a county slate did not get out of the pockets of its promoters. It was headed off by Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney, who moved adjournment to give George F. Harding's harmony project more time.

ROBT. E. CROWE.

The only business transacted was to pass the hat for $25 assessments on the committeemen. At the end, B. W. Snow, county chairman, remarked it was "King's 'orses" session. "They marched up the hill and they marched down again," said Mr. Snow.

Call from Committeemen.

The call for the meeting originated from the three and thirty ward committeemen, who a week ago signed a round robin pledging fealty to Gov. Emmerson as leader, most of them being ex-city hall machinists now on the pay roll by grace of the governor. Before it was called to order typewritten copies of a resolution were displayed for the appointment of a committee, composed of Eden T. Brekke, chairman, and Mr. Crowe, Edward F. Moore, W. H. Feigenbutz, Louis Nettelhorst, Andrew C. Metzger, and Charles A. Nowak, to take up slate-making.

Before it had a chance to be presented, Mr. Crowe hit it in the eye by outlining the operations of the Harding harmony proposal, which has been going on for a week or so. He suggested a recess until the Harding committee has something to report. It is seeking to bring all groups together on a county slate, the idea being to let the committeemen go as they please on candidates for governor. In the corridors afterwards the general talk was that the governor's supporters had come a cropper.

Committee Passes Hat.

"I've got some good news before we adjourn," said Mr. Snow. The committeemen pricked up their ears. "The committee is without funds," continued Mr. Snow, "so I'm going to suggest an assessment of $25 each on the committeemen."

The hat passing proposal got a few votes. "It's enthusiastically carried," announced Mr. Snow, who is known for a sly vein of humor.

Homer K. Galpin, former county chairman, brought the first note of cheer the ward battlers have heard in some time. Mr. Galpin was called from Florida by the death of John K. Lawler, ex-sanitary trustee, for forty years his friend and political associate on the near west side.

After a eulogy of Mr. Lawler, whose funeral will be attended by a delegation of committeemen, Mr. Galpin spoke briefly on politics. "There seems to be dejection among the Illinois Republicans," he said, "but I believe a campaign cleverly organized and conducted can be turned into a nice fight in Cook county, because it is apparent there will be a split in the ranks of the Democrats. If you stick together you'll win."

Revive Chicago Governor.

At various group conferences during the day the idea was revived of bringing out a Chicago man for the Republican nomination for the governorship. Among those mentioned were Ald. John A. Massen of the 48th ward, the one Deneen ward committeeman, and James A. Kearns, city treasurer, who for years was a pillar of the Deenen organization. Boosters of Kearns declared that as a nonfactional candidate he might be acceptable to most of the Cook county groups, while his vote getting prowess would give him a chance to cut in between the downstate candidates.

Word from Galesburg was that the Knox county Democratic committee has indorsed Michael L. Igoe, minority leader at Springfield, for the governorship nomination and Judge C. C. Craig of Galesburg for attorney general.

FOUND GUILTY

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Tillie Becker Schwartz, 29 years old, 5708 Kenmore avenue, was found guilty by a jury in the Municipal court of Judge Thomas A. Green yesterday of disorderly conduct and leaving the scene of an accident. Arguments on a motion for a new trial will be heard this morning, when sentence will be passed if it is overruled. The charge was made by Police Captain John Ryan, who said that Mrs. Schwartz drove her car into his automobile Nov. 22 at Bryn Mawr avenue and Broadway and sped away. He gave chase, and said that he then found she had been drinking.

Evanston Aldermen Adopt Budget Over Mayor's Veto

Overriding Mayor Charles H. Bartlett's veto by a vote of 14 to 1, the city council of Evanston last night adopted its 1932 budget of $1,929,612. The budget, as submitted last week, showed a reduction of $273,073 from the 1931 budget of $2,202,685. Mayor Bartlett objected, however, to the $35,000 miscellaneous fund, the $15,000 contingency fund, and the $50,000 tax anticipation warrant interest fund, on the ground that the amounts were excessive.

FRIENDS CERTAIN ROOSEVELT WILL WIN NOMINATION

Seek a Favorite Son for Vice President.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—As proof of their conviction that the campaign to nominate Gov. Roosevelt for President already is won, some of his managers were flirting with favorite sons with a view to picking the nominee for Vice President to run on the ticket with the New York man.

GEORGE WHITE.
[Assoc. Press. Photo.]

Definite overtures are said to have been made to Gov. George White of Ohio, who is almost certain to have that state's big delegation on the first ballot unless the Roosevelt boom sweeps the convention. Gov. White's candidacy is supposed to be a cover for Newton D. Baker, whom many regard as the most formidable of the Roosevelt rivals and the darkest of the dark horses. An alliance with White and his state machine might put Baker entirely out of the picture.

Garner Being Considered.

It is known that the Roosevelt managers have been "weighing" and "considering" the possibilities of Speaker John N. Garner of Texas; Harry F. Byrd, former governor of Virginia, and James A. Reed, former senator, who is now openly a candidate in Missouri with every prospect of having his state's delegation.

Hints have been dropped in those and one or two middle western states which are not enthusiastically for Roosevelt of the possibility of getting a man on the ticket. How much of this Vice Presidential movement is genuine in the sense of really trying to work out a balanced ticket at this early stage and how much is smart politics designed to take favorite sons into camp, the outsider cannot hope to know.

In the event that Mr. Roosevelt is nominated, his wishes will be final in the selection of the man for the second place on the ticket. At least, the nominee for President supposedly is consulted and his veto would eliminate a candidate for Vice President. There have been instances when the convention ran away and did its own picking without consulting the nominee for President, as in 1920 at Chicago when Coolidge was named for second place.

Display of Confidence.

This activity with its assumption of authority is regarded by local politicians as a bit premature and rather dangerous as there is a possibility of offending some state delegations, but as a display of confidence it is supposed to have a psychological effect and further the band wagon movement.

During the recent session of the national committee in Washington, the report was heard that the Roosevelt boomers were looking over the available Vice Presidential candidates. In fact, there were reports of a flirtation between the governor's admirers and the Ritchie camp. The probability is that almost any one of the favorite sons might be prevailed upon to take second place on the ticket in the event of Roosevelt's nomination. The interesting point just now is not so much who may be named but that the Roosevelt managers have reached the point of canvassing the field five months prior to the gathering of the national convention.

Jewelry Salesman Found Slugged; Laid to Robbers

Evidently the victim of robbers, Harry O. Cobb, 42 years old, of 5330 Harper avenue, a salesman for the wholesale jewelry company of Bolotin & Sheinin, 55 East Washington street, was found unconscious on the driveway between the Field museum and Soldiers' field late last night. He had been slugged. He was still unconscious after being taken to St. Luke's hospital. Police said Cobb's pockets were empty, and that one pocket was torn. They believe he was waylaid by strong arm men while walking to the Roosevelt road station of the Illinois Central railroad.

Britain Halts Construction Work on Giant Flying Boat

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—On grounds of economy, construction work on Great Britain's new flying boat, which was to have been the world's largest, was stopped today by the air ministry. One hundred workmen were dismissed. The flying boat is already three-quarters completed, but will now be dismantled. The ship, a six engined monoplane weighing 35 tons, was planned to carry 40 passengers.

WHO GOT YOUR BANK STOCKS? MELLON ASKED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The house judiciary committee hearing the impeachment charges brought against Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon by Representative Wright Patman [Dem., Tex.] today demanded that it be furnished a complete list of all the bank stocks sold by Mr. Mellon before taking office, and the names of the purchasers.

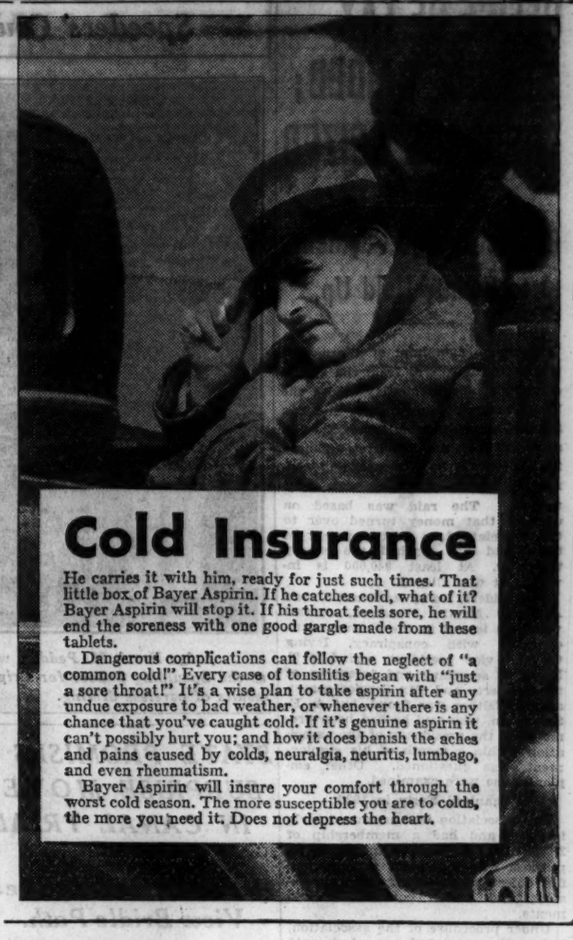
The committee made its request despite the assurance of Alexander Gregg, Secretary Mellon's counsel, that Mr. Mellon had disposed of all his bank holdings before accepting the treasury portfolio.

The committee members also took under consideration a request by Representative Fred Dominick [Dem., S. C.] that Secretary Mellon be asked to supply a list of all his holdings in other corporations. A decision on this motion will be made upon the completion of arguments by Representative Patman and Mr. Gregg.

"That will be a serious thing to do, to open to the public the investments of a citizen," Mr. Gregg countered when the South Carolina member made his request.

"I don't mean to be inquisitive," Representative Dominick replied, "but it might be necessary."

Much time was given at today's hearings to the merger of the "Mellon-Duke" interests in Canada and the United States. Mr. Gregg said that Mr. Mellon had not taken part in any conversations concerning an agreement over an aluminum and water power merger, although he was aboard a private car with the late James B. Duke and his representatives at the time the agreement is said to have been signed.



Cold Insurance

He carries it with him, ready for just such times. That little box of Bayer Aspirin. If he catches cold, what of it? Bayer Aspirin will stop it. If his throat feels sore, he will end the soreness with one good gargle made from these tablets.

Dangerous complications can follow the neglect of "a common cold!" Every case of tonsilitis began with "just a sore throat!" It's a wise plan to take aspirin after any undue exposure to bad weather, or whenever there is any chance that you've caught cold. If it's genuine aspirin it can't possibly hurt you; and how it does banish the aches and pains caused by colds, neuralgia, neuritis, lumbago, and even rheumatism.

Bayer Aspirin will insure your comfort through the worst cold season. The more susceptible you are to colds, the more you need it. Does not depress the heart.

HOURS

WHEN evening falls is the time of day when the people in general turn to EDISON SERVICE for what they regard as the fulfillment of its purpose in Chicago. It is the time of day when the chief function of the SERVICE is Light.

The Load Curve of a typical day of EDISON SERVICE shows, to be sure, that the total heaviest demand for electricity comes late in the afternoon. This "peak" is due to an overlapping of household service and the needs industry and transportation have for electricity as Power. It is an impersonal demand.

The evening demand for electricity as Light is a personal one. It is the demand of the individual and the home. It is the demand of every household in behalf of comfort and convenience; by every inhabitant in behalf of pleasure and safety.

Beginning around 6 o'clock, according to the season, lights glow by the million in Chicago homes. Also, advertising lights are ablaze all over town, and theatres turn on their lamps full force—outside to attract their patrons, inside for illumination. But around 10 o'clock households begin to go to bed, places of entertainment to turn dark and neighborhood shops and restaurants to close up, while overtime workers as well as pleasure seekers turn homeward.

From 10 o'clock onward the Curve drops rapidly until midnight leaving the city to the nighthawks of work and play. But through all the dark hours the sheltering power of electricity as Light is in service for the protection of those who sleep as well as those who wake—the greatest factor of safety that Chicago offers to its citizens.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY

A Home-Owned, Home-Managed Institution

For every kilowatt hour of EDISON SERVICE used, the Company must maintain a kilowatt of capacity in its generating stations, plus a safe margin of reserve in the event of accidents or extraordinary demands. This is true of the "peak" demand as well as of the minimum. The reason is that electricity cannot be stored as goods are stored; it must be generated as used.

NEW DIKE BREAK PERILS 410,000 ACRES, 5 TOWNS

Mississippi Water Ruin Spreads Southward.

Cruger, Miss., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A 75 foot section of the main east bank of the Yazoo river levee at Honey island collapsed today, threatening an entirely new section as large as that covered by flood waters in north Mississippi.

The break released three feet of water into a 410,000 acre basin in four counties. The towns of Cruger, Tchula, Keirn, Mileston, and Beelare are directly in the path of the water. Between 7,000 and 8,000 persons are estimated to live in the territory.

United States engineers from Greenville were reported to be en route to check the break if possible.

Rushes Unimpeded.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The disastrous flood sweeping over Mississippi has now covered seven counties and is encroaching rapidly on three others. The waters of the Tallahatchie, Coldwater, and Yazoo rivers are still rushing.

Practically all levees are out. Hundreds of families have been forced out of the lowlands in the counties of Eden, Panola, Quitman, Tallahatchie, Lafleus, Humphreys, Yazoo, Sunflower, and Holmes.

The flood extends over an area of 125 miles and the property loss is already estimated as more than $500,000. In Quitman county the main levee broke and residents were forced to flee. The little towns of Lambert and Marks are threatened.

In Sunflower county wide areas around Ruleville and Drew have been inundated. The great prison farm at Parchman is covered and prison camps have been moved.

The Red Cross reports that 3,000 persons are in need of food and shelter in the Tippo basin that from 45,000 to 50,000 persons are suffering.

Lower Indiana Flooded.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—More damage from flood conditions was reported along the lower courses of the White and Wabash rivers in Indiana tonight. Clear and colder weather checked the rise at upstate points.

Thousands of acres along White river in Pike county are under water and farmers in lowlands have moved their families and stock to higher ground.

SEND BOATS FROM CHICAGO.

Orders were received by Chicago coast guard units yesterday to send boats to Mississippi for assistance in curbing the flood. Four surf boats and three skiffs will be loaded on flat cars at the Illinois Central yards this morning at 9 o'clock by the river mouth station, according to Capt. John O. Anderson, in command. They will occupy four flat cars, and twenty men will accompany the boats in a coach to Glendora, in Tallahatchie county, Mississippi, where the boats will be unloaded. The trip is expected to take about twenty-four hours.

HERE'S RAILROAD THAT RETURNED A PROFIT IN 1931

Freeport, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Large railroad systems may find it difficult to obtain revenues sufficient to cover fixed charges, but northern Illinois has a tiny line, known as the Hanover railway, that makes a profit.

The Hanover road, two and one-half miles in length, operates between Hanover and North Hanover, connecting at the latter place with the Chicago Great Western. The town of Hanover, center of a stock raising region, had no railroad service until the little road connecting it with North Hanover was constructed several years ago.

Its 300 stockholders received no dividend this year, but the annual report, just issued, showed the line earned 71.3 cents a share during 1931. The $214 of profit was put back into the line and will be used in resurfacing the track.

Officers of the company are: J. J. Miller, president; Marion Limage, vice president; J. A. Speer, secretary; M. B. White, treasurer; Peter Thill, superintendent; John L. Mason, auditor.

Makes Chicago-New York Flight in 3 Hrs. 50 Minutes

Riding on strong winds from the west, a trimotor Ford plane of United Air lines flew from Chicago to New York in the record time of 3 hours and 50 minutes yesterday, officials of the line said. The regularly scheduled time between the two cities, a distance of 736 miles, is 6 hours and 30 minutes. Pilot Howard Knoop flew the plane from Chicago to Cleveland, 318 miles, in 1 hour and 50 minutes. Robert Dawson piloted the plane from Cleveland to New York, 418 miles, in two hours flat.

Society Matron Seeks Divorce

Charges Desertion

A bill for divorce on behalf of Mrs. Marjorie Allen Wilson of 460 North Washington road, Lake Forest, was filed in the Lake County Circuit court at Waukegan yesterday by Attorney Charles J. McFadden of Chicago. Mrs. Wilson charges that her husband, Hugh, deserted her on Dec. 5, 1930.

The Wilsons were married on May 26, 1926. The wedding at St. Chrysostom's church was one of the society events of the spring season.

In her bill Mrs. Wilson asks custody of her child, Benjamin Allen Wilson, who is 14 months old. She is also asking for alimony, but has not stipulated the amount.

Mrs. Wilson was graduated from Miss Master's school at Dobbs Ferry, and spent a year at Miss Risser's in Rome before making her debut. Wilson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver T. Wilson of Lake Forest, is a Yale man of the class of 1924.

500 LADY PACIFISTS MEET AND GLOOMILY PONDER ON MANCHURIA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Manchuria cast a sad shadow over the seventh conference on the cause and cure of war which some 500 peace loving women, representing 11 national organizations, opened here today.

Secretary of State Stimson's recent declaration that the United States will not recognize as legal any settlement forced upon China by Japan in violation of the nine power treaty and the Kellogg-Briand pact was heralded as the one ray of light that could pierce the shadow.

James G. McDonald, chairman of the foreign policy association, declared that the Stimson note, if sustained, "may mark an epoch in the development of American foreign policy and the strengthening of the world's peace machinery." He added:

"Not that I care for applause for myself; but I did think you'd applaud that Stimson note."

So Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the chairman, led the handclapping. Then a delegate asked, "But what good is the note if the other nations don't follow suit?"

"It will still be tremendously important," Mr. McDonald explained, "in putting teeth in the Kellogg pact and in giving an element of uncertainty to Japan's claim."

Bandits Too Late to Get PayRoll; Slug Business Man

Former Broker Gives Up to Face Iowa Charge

Dudley Dobry, 31 years old, 201 East Delaware place, formerly a broker with offices in Davenport and Des Moines, Ia., surrendered yesterday on a warrant charging him with violating the Iowa securities law. Dobry agreed to go back to Des Moines to face the charge.

SPAIN IN TUMULT; CHURCHES BURN, STRIKES CALLED

Government Acts to Balk New Outbreaks.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Jan. 18.—Enough churches were burned in Spain today to cause the government tonight to take extreme precautions against a new outbreak of extremist republican wrath against extremist Catholics. Simultaneously plans were made to frustrate a nation-wide strike reported planned for Monday by communists.

In the village of Santurce, near the northern industrial capital, Bilbao, 4,000 indignant republicans saturated the Church of St. George with gasoline and lighted it.

In the village of Mazarrocho, in the Valencia district, which is in the throes of a general strike of communist and anarchist inspiration, the parish church was soaked with gasoline, and only saved when villagers turned fire fighters.

"Burn the Convents."

"Throughout the region handbills were passed among the workers by agitators, reading, "Disarm the civil guards. Burn the convents. Kill the clergy and destroy religious orders."

In Moncada the village church was damaged by flames and the charity school of the Franciscans was barely saved. In Alfara del Patriarcho the church doors were burned.

In the Valencia district communists were largely responsible for the fires, but in the north the moderate republican elements marched on the churches, as a result of yesterday's attack in Bilbao by Catholic Basque Nationalists on Socialists and other republicans, which resulted in three deaths and 60 arrests.

General Strike at Bilbao.

Bilbao tonight was without lights or bread, as a result of a general protest strike. Troops protected the Carlist club and "traditionalists," as the Catholic Carlist remnants in the north are called. Panic reigned in the monasteries.

The monarchist attack at Bilbao resembled closely enough the one in Madrid in May which precipitated a two day destruction of church property, and the reactions have been so similar as to cause great alarm.

In an attempt to lynch 41 Catholic prisoners, a mob of 3,000 communists stormed the Bilbao jail today. Their wrath was appeased when two communist prisoners were freed.

At Seville Jose Sanchez, head of the Shoe Workers' syndicate, was killed by communists, it was alleged. A general strike was in progress at Plencia, while 20,000 employés of 20 textile mills in Barcelona went out on what was called an "anarchist" strike.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, Jan. 18.—Tobacco manufacturers announced today that all factories will be closed for an indefinite period and that employés who went out on strike Jan. 15 in protest against further reduction of the wage scale have been taken off the pay rolls.

There are sufficient stocks on hand in Cuba and abroad, it is said, to supply markets for Cuban tobacco for a period of six months, and the manufacturers are determined to bring the workers to their terms.

On the other hand, 15,000 tobacco workers in Havana and Pinar del Rio provinces are firm in their refusal to accept a wage slash ranging from 13 to 30 per cent. They claim sales have declined due to the manufacturers not reducing prices, despite the fact that raw material and labor are already far below what they were in 1930.

The tobacco industry is Cuba's second largest source of wealth. The annual cigar and cigaret sales amount to $50,000,000 and the capital invested in the industry is $300,000,000. The most important factories are American owned.

FEDERAL COURT SEEKS SLAYERS DURING RUM TRIAL

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A federal prohibition agent and a Bartow county bailiff today related the circumstances surrounding the slaying of Lee Crow, 65 year old Pauiding county farmer, early yesterday morning when a raiding party attempted to arrest Crow, a former justice of the peace and deacon in the Baptist church, near a still on his land.

Warrants charging George Rogers, the federal agent, and Jack McKoy, bailiff, with murder were sworn out today by sons of Crow. After both men were brought here in the custody of the sheriff anonuncement was made that a motion to transfer the cases to federal court would be made.

Crow died almost instantly from three bullets fired by McKoy, who ran out of the brush and opened fire when he saw Crow and Rogers struggling for possession of the farmer's gun, according to the officers.

SQUANDERING CONGRESS HIT BY UNITED BUSINESS

"Nation Brought to Verge of Bankruptcy."

your credit is burning up. Under existing conditions you will find that interest rates at civil war levels will not bring you lenders. You must take warning from the collapse of the British financial structure or the same catastrophe will come upon us unless you take prompt warning.

"If you do not reduce expenditures to fit income and you cannot borrow to meet your deficit, your only recourse will be to currency inflation in one form or another. With that the misery of the present unemployed will become the universal lot. Accumulations of monetary wealth will be wiped out. Every man of mature years alive today will be long in his grave before the effects of a collapse of our currency will be forgotten.

Political Spending.

"You have found the temptation to spend irresistible, and to the extent that the money was spent in your constituencies you found it politically profitable. Lately you have been encouraged to spend at even a faster pace, in the belief that the government must create employment to take the place of the unemployment which its policies have created in agriculture, commerce and industry. You established a policy of reckless spending when money from taxpayers was rolling into the treasury in an unbroken stream. But today it is not rolling in."

Vast government construction projects to provide jobs for the unemployed might have proved a successful temporary palliative in the early days of the depression, the federation argued, but now to provide the millions of jobs required would exhaust government credit.

"In the problem of economic recovery your part of the scheme is economy. It is not our function to tell you where to pare the budget but it is our solemn duty to warn you to reduce expenditures to the capacity of the taxpayer to meet the burden," the memorial continues. "The issuance of bonds to pay running expenses is indefensible. For the taxpayer it mortgages the future as well as burdens the present and makes him pay twice for whatever service he receives.

"Taxes must come down if agriculture, industry, and commerce are to recover. Today combined American governments are spending one-quarter or more of our national income. No nation can stand that drain and continue to function. You and your predecessors and your associates in state legislatures and municipal governments are overwhelmingly responsible for present conditions. You have ordered tax gatherers to suck life blood from business and they have done your bidding. The money secured for you has been squandered in wild programs in many of which you did not believe but which you were dragooned into supporting by threats of organized minorities. And not content with thus impoverishing the taxpayer you have continued to create costly commissions, committees, and independent bureaus to harry and regulate business. You have reduced the railroads to insolvency by destructive regulation and by directly government financed competition and then you call upon the taxpayer to pay for their resuscitation.

Farm Recklessness.

"Your farm board, with a reckless squandering of millions, has disrupted agricultural unity, narrowed the market for farm products, and producers have watched prices sink to the lowest levels in modern history. Your agencies call upon agriculture to reduce its cultivated acreage, and at the same time you have given other agencies of government appropriations to enlarge agricultural areas.

"We repeat. All these and similar follies must be ended and ended at once if we are not to be engulfed in a common ruin. The business of the country, regardless of party, demands that government cease its policy of meddling and repression."

HARP AND GEORGE V. UPON GREAT SEAL OF IRISH FREE STATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANDRINGHAM, Jan. 18.—During an historic ceremony today King George V. handed the new great seal of the Irish Free State to High Commissioner John Dulanty. The seal will be affixed to all documents involving the appointment of Free State representatives abroad. Hitherto the great seal was kept in England and used for this purpose. The last imperial conference gave the right to the dominions to have their own great seals, and the Free State is the first dominion to exercise the right. The seal is silver and bears on one side a large harp, and on the other the head of King George.

BEAT N. Y. MOVE TO TAP 2 BILLION TO END SLUMP

Senators Kill Copeland Amendment, 53 to 24.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The two billion dollar reconstruction finance corporation bill reached the stage of conference between the two houses tonight, with the chances good that differences between the senate and house bill will be quickly ironed out and the measure sent to the President before the end of the week.

Action on the bill was taken only after a day of controversy in the senate, with Senators Copeland and Wagner of New York and David I. Walsh of Massachusetts seeking to take advantage of the parliamentary situation to attach Senator Copeland's previously defeated amendment to permit loans to municipalities and states.

When the final ballot was taken the amendment was again defeated, this time more decisively, by a vote of 53 to 24.

The fight against the amendment was led by Senator Reed [Rep., Pa.].

"It is wrong in principle," he declared, "for the federal government to go to the aid of cities and states. Why should we lift the burden off the shoulders of Mayor Walker, who spent the money, and put it on the federal taxpayer?"

Senator Reed was interested solely in helping the Pennsylvania railroad, Senator Copeland charged.

"I am not trying to help the Pennsylvania railroad, but the holders of Pennsylvania railroad securities," Senator Reed retorted.

"And I am trying to help the holders of the securities of my state and city," said Senator Copeland.

"And the way to do that," Senator Reed shot back, "is by using the taxing power of New York to rehabilitate its credit, and by cutting out some of its extravagances."

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Carmel Myers [Mrs. Ralph Blum], motion picture actress, was robbed of jewels valued at $20,000 by two robbers who waited for her in her apartment after midnight. Miss Myers stepped into her apartment and switched on the light, to find herself confronted by a masked man with a gun. Her maid, Martha Moore, screamed and tried to run from the apartment, but a second masked man grasped her and forced her to face the wall.

The robbers took a sunburst of diamonds and pearls, four diamond rings, a fifth ring of diamonds and pearls, and diamonds, rubies, and emeralds from her dressing table.

Miss Myers' husband was out of town, and while complying with the bandits' demand that she refrain from phoning police for one-half an hour, the actress phoned her brother, Zion Myers, movie technical man, who called police.

CHEESE PARING MARKS HOUSE ECONOMY MOVE

Agriculture Bill Is Cut by Committee.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Cheese paring, instead of radical retrenchment, characterized the economies effected in the agriculture department appropriation bill, the first one of the supply measures which the appropriations committee reported to the house today.

Slight reductions were made in the allotments to all bureaus, but in no case is any material curtailment of the far flung paternalistic activities of the department involved.

For the fiscal year 1933 the appropriations committee proposes expenditures aggregating $175,443,814, compared with appropriations for the current fiscal year totaling $235,664,694. This represents a cut of $60,220,880 below this year's expenses and a reduction of $10,799,591 from President Hoover's estimate of the amount required for 1933.

Agricultural Relief Loans.

Of the 60 millions saved, however, 22 millions are represented by the agricultural relief loans which were made for this year only and 16 millions by the first of five deductions on account of the additional 80 millions advanced to the states for road building as an unemployment relief measure. The actual reduction below this year's expenses, therefore, comes down to 22 millions, made up chiefly in a saving of $9,625,880 in the cost of regular department activities, 9 millions in the outlay on federal aid road construction and $3,595,000 in extension of national forest roads and trails.

The reductions from what Mr. Hoover asked for the department are 9 millions for roads, $595,000 for roads and trails, and $1,204,591 for regular departmental activities.

The bill provides that vacancies occurring shall not be filled except by written order of the President. Salary increases also are prohibited.

The appropriation for salaries for the office of secretary of agriculture is increased $42,732 over this year, but rent and miscellaneous expenses are reduced $149,200. The office of information which gets out the tons of bulletins on every conceivable subject from the breeding of pigs and the building of henhouses to the tasteful curtaining of the parlor and the love life of bullfrogs was cut down from $1,420,961 to $1,335,800.

Cut Extension Service $103,000.

A saving of $88,116 was effected in the upkeep of agricultural experiment stations, chiefly by abolishing those in Alaska, Guam and the Virgin islands. The extension service is cut $103,390, the chief item of which is a reduction of $91,110 for the activities of county agents.

Weather bureau expenses are reduced $361,682. The bureau of animal industry, for which $13,041,695 is being expended this year, is given a cut of $759,273, the largest item of which is a reduction of $410,000 in indemnities in the eradication of tuberculosis.

The committee trimmed $501,100 from the $5,839,238 appropriated for the bureau of plant industry the numerous activities of which are directed to enhancing crop yields the surpluses of which the farm board with its 500 million revolving fund was created to remove from the market. The chief items of this saving are a reduction of the expenditures on barberry eradication from $377,140 to $196,400 and a scaling down of the outlay on dry land agriculture from $345,740 to $242,260.

Cut Forest Service $4,461,066.

The forest service was given a cut of $4,641,066, principally by reducing the outlay on improvement of national forests by $1,365,760, by allowing $200,000 instead of 2 millions for acquisition of more forest lands and by curtailing expenditures on the forest products laboratory in aid of wood using industries to the extent of $800,000. The bureau of chemistry and soils, which is expending $1,947,201 this year, is to be held down to $1,540,240.

The committee pared $236,695 from this year's appropriation of $2,863,740 for the bureau of entomology for its investigations of insects, pests, and their control. An increase of $53,080 was allowed in administration expenses. There seemed to be a prevalent opinion in the committee that much of the effort to control insect pests is wasted. When asked in the subcommittee if the eradication of the gypsy moth on which much money has been expended is not hopeless, Dr. C. L. Marlatt, chief of the bureau, said: "It looks so."

Corn Borer Damage Slight.

In discussion of the expenditures this year of $1,423,560 for control of the corn borer, Dr. Marlatt admitted that this pest has caused less than $100,000 damage in 20 years, that it cannot be exterminated and that its spread cannot be stopped by quarantine or other measures. So far the government has expended 18 millions in the effort to control it. The plant quarantine bureau wanted $795,000 to continue the corn borer work, but the committee allowed $295,000. The only pest for control of which the entomology bureau asked no more money is the Mormon cricket. That is one bug, the bureau said, which had been exterminated.

The bureau of biological survey suffered a cut of $472,993 from an appropriation of $2,229,170. The bureau of public roads comes down to 100 millions instead of $125,179,940, though only 9 millions represent a cut by the committee. The bureau of agricultural engineering, which teaches farmers how to build barns and use machinery, was given $9,800 more for administration but $74,950 less for investigations.

KIDNAPED AND ROBBED.

Plymouth, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—E. C. Zeigler, filling station operator in Plymouth, was kidnaped and taken fifteen miles from Plymouth and robbed of $60 by a pair driving a car with an Ohio license this morning. This is the fourth time Zeigler's station has been a victim of kidnaping bandits since last August.

SISTERS TO THANK POLICEMAN FOR AID GIVEN 19 YEARS AGO

The kindliness of a policeman nineteen years ago was remembered yesterday and tomorrow night there will be a gathering at his home by those whom he befriended. The policeman, now retired, is Fred C. Reed, 3504 Hollywood avenue. Those he befriended are Miss Anna Rozbesky, 4133 Marmora avenue, a teacher at the Onahan school, Norwood Park, and her sister, Miss Petronella Rozbesky, a substitute teacher.

It was Miss Anna Rozbesky who sought out Reed. Yesterday she telephoned James E. McSweeney, police department secretary. Nineteen years ago, she said, her family was aided by a policeman neighbor whose name she did not recall. By looking up addresses, McSweeney discovered the policeman was Reed.

"I was only 4 years old," she said, "but I can remember how kind he was to my parents. They were immigrants, and he helped them in every way possible. But most important, he continually impressed upon my mother to give her children a good education."

Miss Rozbesky telephoned Reed last night. They arranged to call at the Reed home tomorrow night to tell him of their gratitude.

ACTS TO GUARD CITY'S INTEREST IN DIVERSION WAR

Lewis Heads Delegation to See Stimson.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Active steps to safeguard the interests of Illinois and Mississippi valley states during the negotiation of the American-Canadian treaty for joint construction of the St. Lawrence seaway were taken by the Illinois delegation in congress today.

At a special meeting, a committee headed by Senator James Hamilton Lewis was appointed and instructed to call upon Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and express the concern of the delegation over the circulation of reports that the projected treaty would limit sharply the water diversion from Lake Michigan at Chicago. The committee also was instructed to ascertain the truth of these reports, learn the source of the leak if there has been one at the state department and make known the delegation's opposition to any mention of the diversion in the St. Lawrence treaty.

The special commmittee named today by the full committee included Senators Lewis and Glenn and Representatives Britten, Morton D. Hull [Dem.], and Charles A. Karch [Dem.].

Intimidation Is Charged.

The action today climaxed a session during which Chairman Britten read an exchange of correspondence between Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee and Robert Isham Randolph of Chicago, president of the Mississippi Valley association, in which the mayor charged that Chicago congressmen were attempting to intimidate President Hoover and the state department into eliminating the Chicago diversion paragraph from the treaty.

The Hoan letter carried the statement that "One of the paragraphs in that [the St. Lawrence] treaty provides in substance that the diversion of the water down the drainage canal shall be limited as provided by the decree of the United States Supreme court."

It stated also that Canada had made the further concession "that in case more water is needed for navigation purposes it is willing to submit this question to the international joint committee for settlement."

Investigate Hoan Charges.

Aroused by the Hoan letter indicating that opponents of the Chicago water diversion had secret access to information regarding the progress of the treaty negotiations the Illinois delegation immediately appointed its committee and instructed it to investigate the truth of the mayor's statements.

"The committee will ascertain if possible," said Chairman Britten, "from whom Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee has received his information that the substance of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty has been agreed upon between our government and Canada and that it contains a clause concerning diversion of the water from Lake Michigan which is contrary to the requirements and best interest of our own great lakes to the gulf waterway which not only affects the prosperity of the Mississippi states but indirectly will benefit every state in the Union.

Allen's Dual Status.

"The committee will want to know the exact status of ex-Senator Henry J. Allen, who, while acting as president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association, also is presumed to be the expert on waterways for our state department, and in this dual position might have considerable effect upon the language in the treaty. It was recalled today that Allen, while in the senate, voted with those who were opposed to an adequate flow of water between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi river and against the best interests of the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway and Chicago. The committee will insist on being kept informed by the state department from time to time as to the progress of the St. Lawrence treaty, notwithstanding the vicious attitude of Milwaukee's mayor."

In supporting the contention that the Chicago diversion matter should not be included in the treaty, Chairman Britten and Senator Otis F. Glenn pointed to the precedent set by Secretary of State Elihu Root in 1901 when a boundary treaty was concluded with Canada. At that time Secretary Root declined to permit the Chicago diversion matter to be mentioned, contending Lake Michigan was not a boundary water.

Read Mayor Hoan's Letter.

The first knowledge of the Hoan-Randolph correspondence reached the delegation when it was read by Britten today. The letter from Mayor Hoan was read first.

"I want you to know," he wrote Mr. Randolph, "that the treaty has been delayed for a period of three weeks due to the machinations of the congressional representatives from your city, and every day's delay may endanger adoption of the treaty. I am fully aware of the fact that Chicago's representatives have been fighting and threatening for the last three weeks the state department and the President of the country, suggesting dire political results if this section is not eliminated from the treaty."

Finds No Treaty Drawn.

Mayor Hoan also referred to the scandals of 1928 and before in the Chicago drainage board and said that "unless we hear within the next 10 days or two weeks that the treaty is making much more rapid progress, indicating that this opposition on the part of Chicago has ceased, commonsense would dictate that we cannot stand idly by, but must call together not only the representatives of the Great Lakes Harbors association, but of the 24 states and tell the people exactly what Chicago is doing.

"You are therefore making your own bed and must sleep in it."

Replying on Jan. 6 to Mayor Hoan's letter of Jan. 5 Mr. Randolph expressed surprise at the revelations regarding the terms of the treaty. He then stated he would go to Washington and check up.

Some One "Pulling His Leg."

On Jan. 8, Mr. Randolph sent a short letter to Mayor Hoan stating he had been informed by Mr. Stimson that the treaty had not yet been drafted.

"Somebody has been pulling your leg," he wrote in beginning his letter. "Your informant knows a lot of things that are not so. I talked with Mr. Stimson and Mr. Gregory of the state department this morning and they assure me there is not any treaty; that there isn't even a draft of a treaty, and that all that has transpired so far towards writing a treaty is some conversation. They were highly amused that any one outside of the state department should presume to know what might be the substance of a treaty that has not been written.

"If you would like to talk to a Chicago audience and care to address the forum of the Chicago Association of Commerce, I think we can arrange a date for you, but we would like to have you tell us how to restore good government, good faith, and sound credit to the city, rather than to rehash our old scandals and shadow box with imaginary grievances."

COURT IS GUARDED AS NEGRO GOES ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—While more than 100 special officers and plain clothes men with submachine guns and riot guns guarded the courthouse at Towson, Baltimore county, the trial of Euel Lee, the Negro charged with murdering Green K. Davis, his wife, and their two young daughters at Taylorsville, Worcester county, Oct. 11, last, was begun today.

The Negro has been in the Baltimore city jail since Bernard Ades of the International Labor Defense league as counsel for him contended that Lee could not obtain a fair trial in Worcester county.

After the state Court of Appeals had expressed an opinion in favor of change of venue, the judge of the first or eastern shore Judicial circuit moved the trial to Towson. A jury was selected after numerous challenges by David Levinson of Philadelphia, a defense league lawyer who tried unsuccessfully to oust the entire panel of talesmen, claiming they had been improperly picked.

The defense league lawyers sought a mixed jury, white and colored, Mr. Levinson quoted an old law relative to selection of jurymen. Judge Frank Duncan said the law had been superseded by his own method of selection, with the approval of the Court of Appeals. He declared there was nothing in the law to compel him to place Negroes on the jury.

In addition to Chief Judge T. Scott Offutt and Judge Duncan, Judge G. Gus Grason is sitting in the case.

"Whistle, girls . . . it makes lovely, tempting lips"

WHISTLE TWO MINUTES A DAY.....

Wait until you hear this one. Wait till some one catches you at it around the house. They'll think you've turned musical. But you and I will know it's just another stunt—and a mighty good one, too, for keeping lovely lips kissable. Whistle! Whether or not you can make a noise, pucker up your lips and try to whistle at least two minutes—and preferably five—every single day. An expert whose word is law in American beauty culture told me this can do more to chase away mouth lines and keep the lips up-standing than any other exercise she knows. So here we go . . . a whistling chorus!

GOING PLACES AND DOING THINGS .....

Have you ever used Palmolive in the bath? When you're all tired out and life seems too wearisome, melt up a bar of Palmolive, pour the rich liquid of olive and palm oils into a tub of warm water, step in and relax. Let the rich oils caress your skin, and soften it. Then massage your whole body with the lather from another cake of Palmolive Soap. After the bath, dusting powder. In no time at all, tired toes will feel like dancing, you'll feel like putting on your loveliest frock, going places, doing things.

* * *

*Julia Foster is employed by Palmolive to report last-minute beauty news. She visits hundreds of beauty salons, from month to month. She talks with experts. She attends beauty conventions; visits smart restaurants, clubs, theatres. She reports it to you in these news flashes.

BEWARE HARSH WASHCLOTHS.....

If you prefer a washcloth for washing the face, be sure you use a very soft cloth. The rough, thick, hard-rubbing cloths some women use are much too hard on delicate skin tissue. Work Palmolive lather gently into face and throat, then rinse it off with warm water. Palmolive Soap is recommended by experts, you know. Just try it once. That's all I ask.

THOSE UNSIGHTLY ELBOWS.....

Question—What is one to do about unsightly elbows, when evening dress is in order? Answer—Dip pads of cotton in a Palmolive Soap lather, and rest each elbow on these pads for as many moments as you can spare. You'll be enchanted with the smooth whiteness of your elbows after that. (It's the olive oil, in the soap, I suspect, that makes this so effective a treatment.)

Beauty in a test-tube

OLIVE oil for the complexion! Always known to keep skin soft, supple, youthful. In thousands of years nothing has ever been found to surpass this beauty secret of the ancients.

But can you get enough olive oil in soap? How much, actually, goes into Palmolive? There is the exact amount—in that test tube at the right. The exact amount used in every cake of Palmolive. To this generous olive oil content can be directly traced the great benefits of Palmolive Soap to the complexion.

Do you know what is in the soap you are putting on your face? Palmolive tells you. Palmolive is the only large-selling soap made of vegetable oils exclusively—the only one using olive oil as a base. Other Palmolive ingredients are simply oils from palm trees necessary to produce a richer, creamier, more workable lather than possible with olive oil alone.

Knowing the value of a liberal amount of olive oil in soap, and knowing Palmolive to contain olive oil in its most modern, most practical form, more than 20,000 of the world's leading beauty experts have for years urged women to use Palmolive Soap as the finest possible safeguard for lovely skin.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery Quick Without Cutting or Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Gov. Emmerson, by calling another special session of the legislature, merely extended the authority of the assembly to take up additional subjects. One of them is the calling of a constitutional convention to undertake what proved to be a failure in 1920 when the work of the revisionists was rejected in the election to which it was submitted.

The revenue difficulties of the state find some of their cause in the provisions of the present constitution and it therefore appears to some citizens that this is the time to correct them. There is more impatient zeal than wisdom in the proposal. This is not a favorable time for the holding of a constitutional convention. It is a time of abnormal conditions and of excited sentiments. It is difficult enough to keep unbalanced ideas out of current legislation and certainly the mood is not one which should be carried into the making of a constitution.

In such times people are inclined to recklessness in experiment. They will act without sufficient information or thought. Imaginations are prolific and checks are weak. Democracy produces its most foolish actions when it is excited or frightened. It throws up its least trustworthy and less dependable men. Americans have too much faith in the infallibility of legislation, and when they are angered or are in distress they run to a legislature as to a fire engine house or a doctor.

Constitutional revision should be undertaken when there is a chance for reasonable voices to be heard. A revision made at this time might contain ideas the state would have reason to regret as soon as they were made operative. The eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution is an example of misguided sentiment made effective because the country was out of its head with war emotions. It was starry eyed and given up to the ideals of self-immolation. It was certain that a new world was being born on the battlefields and for its own part it decided to sin no more. Now it is forced to admit that it was rather silly at the time and did itself injury.

Excesses are to be expected when people are out of their normal moods, whether they are greatly exalted or greatly depressed. Statutory law which emerges from such a mood can be repealed, but a constitution which reflected the unbalance of a distorted mentality would remain to plague the people a long time. Ordinary prudence would stop the revisionists at this time.

Citizens whose coöperation would be necessary to the framing of a constitution will be too busy in the near future putting their own private affairs back in shape to have any time for the tremendous labors of revising the body of fundamental law. Every consideration weighs against undertaking such work now.

The revenue provisions of the constitution need a change. There is general agreement as to that, but there will be submitted at the November elections an amendment which is intended to give more freedom in changing the constitution article by article—a method for which a great deal can be said. If this is adopted by the people the way will be cleared for a modification of the constitution. This may be the better method at any time. It certainly is the better method now.

RUNNING DOWN THE ROSENBERG MURDERERS.

The community of Maywood is rightly indignant at the murder of Benjamin Rosenberg, and both the trustees and the local police department seem to be making every possible effort to clear up and punish the crime. But Maywood is too small a community to maintain a detective force competent to deal with such a crime as the killing of Rosenberg. The roots of this offense run deep and far in the underworld of organized crime, racketeering business, and corrupt politics. They cannot be followed by ordinary police methods. What is needed is special ability as well as unlimited persistence. Here is a case in which a detective of exceptional skill should be hired, provided with all necessary means in money and assistance, and kept on the job until the guilty are run down. Unless this is done, the murder of Rosenberg will eventually fade out of public memory and be shelved by official agencies. It is this prospect that encourages organized crime and gives it such a large measure of immunity, even in cases of the most sensational publicity.

Professional criminality and its allies are always on the job and develop for this reason a high efficiency. It is practical, persistent, and resourceful. The interest of the community in crime is sporadic and its agencies of defense are overloaded with routine. There is of late an awakening to the need for a specialized expert agency for dealing with difficult crimes and the beginnings of practical measures to develop such an agency. But it has not yet been sufficiently established to rely upon, and the case of Rosenberg requires immediate and special treatment.

EMERGENCY RELIEF.

The situation described in the statement of the Joint Emergency Relief commission imposes a duty upon the assembly. Its performance was postponed during two months of the late session of the assembly, we suppose on the theory that private donation for relief would be checked if a large appropriation were granted by the legislature. That consideration no longer holds good. The people of Chicago have turned their pockets out to raise a larger fund in proportion to wealth and numbers than New York. They have raised the huge total of $10,500,000, a demonstration of civic spirit and spontaneous philanthropy which ought to impress even the most skeptical and unfriendly representative. In spite of this extreme effort it has not sufficed to provide for the emergency. The huge sum is rapidly dwindling. In December $2,500,000 was disbursed to the needy. Relief stations have been financed up to Feb. 15. The commission estimates that 100,000 families will have to be aided during the winter and will be destitute unless the legislature gives relief. At least $15,000,000, it is predicted, will be needed during the year 1932.

This is a situation which the most generous private philanthropy cannot meet. It is a public emergency justifying official action. It ought to strike home to every legislator. The people of Chicago have tried to carry the load. It is too heavy. The funds raised from private citizens have been and are being carefully disbursed. The aid asked of the legislature will be as carefully and competently administered.

Cook county, because of its urban and industrial conditions, has felt the concentrated effect of the business paralysis and its problem of relief for unemployment and destitution is more acute and heavier than elsewhere in the main. Its citizens have not shirked their duty and they turn to their government with clean hands.

RAISING THE SMOKE PALL.

The energetic campaign of City Smoke Inspector Chambers deserves the appreciation and certainly has the moral support of the community. It is producing observable results and they will be translated in better health and a substantial saving to the public. Mr. Chambers is proceeding on right lines. He is carrying on direct education in proper firing methods and proper equipment and he is backing his appeal with publicity and the promise of prosecution against persistent offenders.

The people of Chicago have paid for years a heavy tax upon their health, their comfort, and their pocketbooks, imposed upon them by the smoke nuisance, by obsolete furnaces and inefficient operation. The cost runs into millions annually and in these days it represents an economic waste the public ought not to tolerate. Mr. Chambers' efforts are an important contribution to public and private economy, the prime need of the hour.

NEW YORK REVELS AND LONDON REPORTING.

New York was a gay if also a besotted place New Year's eve. If the jag at eve had not drunk his fill he had when came dawn of New Year's day. Strangers kissed all over Broadway and ladies threw themselves into the arms of strangers. Staggering figures stumbled over prostrate ones. It was the whoopee of bacchanals and satyrs, the revels of the puritan under prohibition.

If this information seems to come somewhat late in the new year it is because it is gathered from Reuter's, the British news agency, and copy has just reached THE TRIBUNE. The story is dated Jan. 1.

It describes the condition of New York at dawn Jan. 1. Evidently neither the cable nor the air was used. To escape the six hours' difference in time and give the British readers the New York revels with their bacon and eggs, or cold boiled potato and bloater, Reuter's would need a reporter with prevision rather than just vision and probably found one in the London office. He gave New York the kind of a debauch London thought it should have to illustrate the hypocrisy and bad manners of the Americans. Derogation is a standardized journalistic method with British agencies which picture the lesser breeds to British readers. That is one reason we get along so understandingly together.

ANOTHER CHICAGO CONVENTION.

[The Times-Picayune, New Orleans, La.]

The Democratic national convention, awarded last Saturday to Chicago, will be held on June 27 next, two weeks after the Republicans nominate their presidential ticket there. Thus the great lakes city makes sure that it will witness the nomination of the next American President. That event will take place in all probability during the week beginning June 27 and the honors of selection will go to the Democratic delegates. That the Chicago spokesmen who secured the two great party conventions recognized this probability is indicated by their bid of $200,000 for the Democratic convention, whereas they landed the Republican assembly for $150,000. The feeling that this is "a Democratic year" and the Democratic convention therefore is a more valuable prize than the Hooverian one apparently prevails also in all of the cities which contended for the two gatherings. All save two of those which sought the Republican convention retired from the competition when the $150,000 bid was proffered, while five cities offered for the Democratic convention, as their initial bid, the sum which most of them regarded as excessive and declined to pay for the Republican meet.

Chicago may find the Republican convention a losing speculation. The present prospect is that it will be a perfunctory, cut-and-dried affair dedicated to renomination of President Hoover on a platform made to his measure. Many Republicans have lost their liking for Mr. Hoover and expect his defeat even though they concede his renomination. Unless something unexpected happens, the Hoover convention seems likely to be tame, mechanical and devoid of interest.

But Chicago will find the Democratic convention a good investment. It will be featured by plenty of action, by free and spirited discussion of national issues and keen competition for the nomination which, as the American majority now believes, will place the winner in the White House next year. Even the Republicans are more interested in the Democratic convocation and decisions than they are in their own. For the period of the Democratic convention, therefore, both political and popular interest the country over will be centered upon the great midwestern city, which should be thronged with visitors anxious to witness the discussions and processes whereby, according to all present indications, the next President of these United States will be chosen and introduced to the American public.

NEW YORK RESTAURANT PEOPLE are out after the scalp of the eighteenth amendment because they say it has killed their business. It certainly has hit eating as a fine art an awful wallop. Nowadays one eats in the same mood he takes a cold bath. And among other delectable things we deplore the passing of that succulent, savory compound, the welsh rabbit. We've tried 'em with ginger ale, milk, and near beer instead of real beer, but they might as well have been made with mucilage. Oh, to have another real, hope-to-die welsh rabbit and have great-grandma, waving a butcher knife, come in at midnight and dance on our tummy! That was the life!

THAT MUCH-TALKED-OF disarmament conference soon at Geneva doesn't seem as though it was going to busy itself very much with scrapping navies. The big idea all over Europe seems to be to scrap American dollars.

BRITISH COLUMBIA has ordered its farm experts to stop wearing silk hats, spats, and canes when they go out to tell the farmers they must economize. Because of their vanity, it's a hard struggle anywhere to make men give up their bits of finery on account of the depression. The ambition to be the best dressed man in the poorhouse is strong in all of us.

REMNANTS.

It's silly to save
A handleless cup—
I don't like my cupboards
All cluttered up.

So I never keep
A bracelet that's broken,
A torn handkerchief
Or a valentine token.

And some day I'm planning
On taking my heart
And packing it off
In a rag peddler's cart.

THE DEMOCRATS are trying to change their old Spanish custom of requiring a two-thirds vote to name a candidate in the national convention. With the election looking like a cinch to the downtrodden Jefferson boys, they all want to be President, and with every delegate voting unanimously for himself, they don't see how anybody can possibly get two-thirds of the convention with him.

Out in Loz Onglaize, where they hate snow worse than the drys hate a referendum, they were presented by old Dame Nature with a great blanket of snow two inches thick. And here in Chicago, where devoted souls prayed for snow so they might have a big skiing tournament, not a flake has fallen all winter, and they had to haul snow from way up in Wisconsin down to Chicago to put on the hill for the skiers. Due to the spots on the sun, or the influence of the stars, or something, the climate seems to have changed, and now we're going to have in Chicago the sort of climate that made Loz Onglaize what it is today, and they're going to have ours. And welcome. Let us hasten, then, to plant palm trees on the lake front and orange and lemon trees in the parks. And we must practice to say to visitors, after the Loz Onglaize fashion: "No matter how hot it is in daytime, even in January, one always has to have two blankets over him at night." And after that, Gabriel, go ahead and toot your horn.

VISIT TO THE OLD HOME.

An old enchantment lingers
About a quiet house,
Where once were busy fingers
And children to carouse.

And you shall miss the laughter,
The topsy turvy room,
The peals that shook the rafter
And drove away the gloom.

How long they have departed!
It seems but yesterday,
And she so tender hearted.
Now all have gone away.

Time spoke and they, commanded,
Left roof and hall and gate,
All scattered and disbanded,
It is the common fate.

Old houses stir and sadden,
With memories that they bring,
Of rooms that love could gladden
When children's voices ring.

TREATING SPORTS INJURIES.

DR. C. B. HEALD, one of the British authorities, gives football trainers and coaches a lot of advice as to how to care for sprains, bruises, charley horses, and similar unpleasant and inconvenient injuries.

When a man is injured in the course of a violent game he should first make certain that he has not broken a bone or torn a tendon or ligament. Assurance of this having been had, the next point is to reduce the swelling and pain as rapidly as possible. For this purpose Dr. Heald uses a sedative massage called Menuel's Glucokinesis, and small doses of direct current electricity.

If these measures cannot be made use of he advocates mild light massage and glycerin and belladonna liniment, applied on lint, for 24 to 48 hours. If the pain is great enough aspirin can be taken internally. It is better to suck an aspirin tablet or to chew an aspirin gum than to swallow quickly a tablet or capsule. Just why Dr. Heald makes this recommendation I have no idea.

If there is much effusion into the tissues, causing swelling, he advocates an elastic bandage with some adhesive qualities. If the swelling is in a joint, or if there is water in the joint, he advocates an elastic bandage, called an "elastoplast," on which Unna's paste has been applied. For inflamed bursa—and many sports injuries involve the bursae—he uses treatments with a Kromayer electric lamp.

Each treatment is continued until the skin over the bursa is reddened. This treatment is given to small areas of skin over the bursa rather than to wide stretches. The lamp light treatment is especially valuable when the injured part is a bursa around the shoulder joint. The application of heat and cold—one at certain stages and the other at other stages—is of very great service. Gentle massage helps to keep the lymph and blood moving in the injured areas and thus promotes the absorption of fluid that has oozed into the tissues, promotes the carryoff of waste, and assists in the nourishment of injured cells. Deeper massage and electricity from a Bristow coil are of help in restoring tone in the injured tissues. Their field is in the followup treatment of injuries.

Most people have had experience with sports injuries or bruises of like character due to other causes. They have learned that such injuries are spontaneously repaired and no treatment is required. However, experience has taught some people that swelling and pain can be partially controlled. Nearly every one has learned from experience that after a severe injury the part tends to be lame, sore, and somewhat crippled for a long time. That prolonged after-crippling could have been prevented in most cases.

EPILEPSY.

A. writes: I wish to indorse the theory of induced heat in epilepsy. In fever an epileptic avoids the convulsive state. In recurring artificial fever he might. Consequent fatigue is the unknown quantity. I believe epileptics have a dulled temperature sense, that their temperature responses are slow. Fatigue is hard to gauge, especially in an epileptic who rarely relaxes in a real sense. A hot bath, in a well ventilated room, in a tub deep enough to afford complete muscular relaxation should be beneficial.

But steam baths with extreme humidity would bring on convulsions, I believe. From observation I would say that 90 per cent relative humidity at temperatures above 75 degrees Fahrenheit increases the frequency of convulsions, but that moisture contents around 25 grains per pound of dry air is benecial, and cold air is to be preferred.

CHILBLAINS.

Mrs. B. C. P. writes: Please write something about chilblains.

REPLY.

Chilblains develops in people who have been sensitized to cold. It is akin to Raynaud's disease and poor circulation. A person who is subject to chilblains should wear loose, warm shoes and stockings. He should keep his feet dry and warm all the time. He may overcome some of the tendency to chilblains by washing his feet alternatingly in warm and cold water and then rubbing them vigorously. This should be done once daily for several weeks. I watch the literature closely for information on chilblains. Satisfactory methods of cure and prevention are lagging badly.

INCOME TAX RETURN.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please advise me about income tax? 1. (a) When and (b) where is it payable? 2. What amount is exempt from taxation? 3. Are retired firemen, policemen, and other city employés required to pay a tax on their pensions? 4. Where can blanks to be filled out be obtained? Also, on what kind of property is personal tax paid? What amount is exempt from taxation?

J. B. D.

1. (a) The return should be filed by March 15. It can be paid in installments if you so desire. (b) At the federal building in Chicago.

2. Every individual having a net income for the taxable year of $1,500 or over, if single (even though he may be the head of a family), or if married and not living with husband or wife, must make a return. In the case of a married person living with husband or wife a return is required if the net income for the taxable year is $3,500 or over. However, if an individual has a gross income of $5,000 or over he must make a return regardless of the amount of his net income. In the case of a husband and wife living together no return need be made unless their aggregate net income is at least $3,500.

3. No.

4. At the federal building.

PATROLMAN'S LIST.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—[Friend of the People.]—Could you advise me as to when they will post the patrolman's list for the police department, whether the old list of 280 names is going to be used, and when and how many patrolmen the city intends to put on? I plan on leaving the city soon, and would not leave if the list is going to be posted within the near future.

H. M. M.

You are advised that the results of the examination just concluded for patrolman cannot be posted for some time. The commission has not determined what ultimate action will be taken on the existing list for patrolman. The number of men to be added to the police department will depend entirely upon the number appropriated for by the city council in the new budget before that body.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

This nation has had other serious financial depressions, as the following excerpts from The Tribune files reveal. Each of these periods of hard times has been followed by periods of great prosperity.

Editorial, Oct. 16.—It is not to be denied that the business public reads dispatches from Wall street with considerable concern. Not that they have any sympathy with the "bulls and bears" of that far-famed den of corruption and villainy, but they are uneasy lest the sudden tumble of the nominal value of railway shares might produce a condition similar to that a few days ago which caused the bank collapses. The flurry in Wall street may or may not be a symptom of a new smashup among the stock members. For the present Vanderbilt and his piratical crew have been able to breast and turn back the downward tendency of the market.

New York, Oct. 1.—All eyes are on Washington. If only half the reports about the silver bill's repeal were true there ought to be little difficulty in getting the stock market in shape for the long yearned for boom—the boom which has been so long elusive. This week's rumors have been bull rumors. They have been as thick as receiverships. The most encouraging thing in the money market is the progressive way in which the New York clearing house's affairs are being administered. Clearing house certificates are now $10,000,000 or more below the maximum issue which was necessary a month or two ago.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Railroad employés, according to B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the executive committee of the Rock Island-Frisco lines, are losing every day through the present depression in trade $1,000,000, or $25,000,000 a month. One-quarter of them, or about 400,000 men, are out of employment and are living on their rapidly diminishing savings.

1921.

Boston, Mass., March 22.—Twenty-six strikes and lockouts exist in Massachusetts at present, according to the state department of labor and industry. The majority are said to be directly traceable to attempts to reduce wages.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 19, 1916.

ROME.—The charge that Montenegro agreed with Austria, even before the start of the war, to cede Mount Levcen and that the defense of the mountain was only sufficient to lull the suspicions of the entente allies, is made by a correspondent of the Idea Nazionale. "Montenegro allowed the Austrians to take Kuc, which was practically impregnable," says the correspondent, "and when the government retired to Podgoritza, Glukanovitch of the state council and other high officials remained in Cettinje with orders to yield the capital to the Austrians without opposition."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Renewed and more insistent demands for the employment of an armed force to protect Americans in Mexico and the desperate attempts of the administration lieutenants to suppress the discussion produced a turbulent session of the senate.

KIEFF.—Lutsk, the important fortress in Volhynia, one of the triangle of fortifications there, is being evacuated by the Germans, according to information obtained from prisoners arriving here. Four thousand prisoners have arrived here recently from the southwestern front.

CHICAGO.—Miss Leonora Hoyne is one of the several Chicagoans who will go east to attend the wedding of Eugene de Bronkart, who is to marry Miss Elinor van Gelden Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Theodore Davies of New York, at the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas on Jan. 22.

JANUARY 19, 1902.

CHICAGO.—Four Chicago men are leaders in the "syndicate" which is buying from the Pottawatomie Indians the lake front of Illinois from the Indiana boundary line on the south to the Wisconsin boundary on the north. While Robert Bines, grain speculator, is over at Dowagiac, Mich., distributing $34,000 among the braves and squaws of the tribe as an earnest to bind the proposed bargain to purchase the entire shore strip for $300,000, his co-partners in Chicago express all faith in the "syndicate's" plans and assert that $40,000,000 is behind it. It is a bold speculative move. Robert Bines, William H. Cox, E. B. Stark, and George W. Kretzinger are the men behind the project. They base their claim on an old treaty and ownership to the land under the water is asserted by virtue of deeds secured from the Pottawatomies.

LONDON.—Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, member of parliament for the Ecclesall division of Sheffield since 1885, died at the age of 53. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. His death leaves two American born men in parliament, Francis A. Channing of the Channing family of New England and Ashmead Bartlett Burdett-Coutts, brother of Sir Ellis and husband of Baroness Burdett-Coutts, whose name he adopted.

BY-PRODUCTS OF BUREAUCRACY.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—THE TRIBUNE deserves praise for its fight against bureaucracy and governmental waste and extravagance. In a recent editorial you pointed out the absurdity and infringement of rights of a ruling by the federal trade commission ordering a manufacturer to cease publishing testimonials of Miss Ethel Barrymore on the ground that the testimonials were paid for. This is only one of a long list of equally absurd interferences with trade of the commission, and our courts have repeatedly censured the commission for unwarranted meddling and reversed their rulings.

In the matter of the Ethel Barrymore order you express the hope that the respondent manufacturers will test the issues in the federal courts. It is probable they will do so—at considerable expense—and this point of expense calls attention to a very important item of cost of doing business which should properly be added to the direct tax burden of supporting bureaucratic regulation. It would be interesting if Mr. Henning would tabulate the legal contests which business concerns have fought out successfully against the federal trade commission—just the ones where the courts set aside the commission's rulings. The aggregate cost would be impossible to compute, but it must be staggering. Last year's budget for the federal trade commission called for an outlay of $1,700,000. It is safe to estimate that the private concerns that defended actions against the commission paid out no less than ten times that amount, to which must be added the time of the federal courts. How long must business continue to support such a burden?

FUNERALS.

Hinsdale, Ill., Jan. 7.—So the teamsters' union is to tell the citizens of this free country how much time we should take to bury our parents and children. Of course, we could arrange to have the first funeral before breakfast so the drivers could come back to the house of the deceased to have coffee, etc., and then allow them time in between funerals for a game of contract bridge, and see that they had another little snack before the next hard trip. I am sure we all know what a strain it must be for these teamsters to go to two funerals a day—their sensitive natures must suffer excruciatingly.

Then we said citizens who are driving these inexpensive cars at a friend's funeral seem to have suddenly lost our cunning after driving eight days out of a week and constantly dodging these aforesaid teamsters, saying to ourselves, "You great big ——, you missed me, didn't you?" We suddenly find ourselves incapable of driving behind a line of cars that have all the right of way in their favor.

In answer to these demands, in all earnestness I wish to say, let us build crematories within walking distance of our homes and let the first to use it be the officers and members of the Chauffeurs and Teamsters' union.

MONEY FOR CONVENTIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Will some understanding individual please explain how Chicago—whose funds are too depleted to pay its teachers and other employés—can offer the Democratic party $200,000 to hold the presidential convention here? A simple and brief explanation will suffice.

BEATRICE L. MARKS.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

Winamac, Ind., Jan. 12.—I have read with a great deal of interest the articles in THE TRIBUNE in regard to the milk situation. In one of Paul Potter's articles he states that under the new price schedule the producer receives $2.01 per hundred for milk amounting to 4.32 cents per quart. That would surely be fine if we received that for all the milk we produced. For instance, we get $2.01 per hundred weight for 90 per cent of our basic milk [milk produced during the months of September, October, and November, 1929, on the average per month]. For the balance of our milk known as surplus, amounting on the average to 25 per cent in this locality, we receive 3.5 times the price of 92 score butter on the Chicago market. The last quotation in THE TRIBUNE was 28½ cents, making .997 cents per hundred weight, less the hauling at 30 cents per hundred weight, leaving .667 or 1.5 cents per quart.

Now figuring $2.01 per hundred weight for ¾ of our milk less 30 cents for hauling and 3 cents to the Pure Milk association leaves us $1.68 per hundred weight, or 3.7 cents for three-quarters of our milk. We, in reality, get then but 3.15 cents per quart for all of our milk.

You can readily see that the producer would be forced out of business if there should be another cut in price. I think that in all fairness to the producer the consuming public should know just how things stand. There is absolutely no conspiracy existing between the dealers and the producers.

A DAIRYMAN'S WIFE.

GRATEFUL TO HOLDUP MEN.

East Chicago, Ind., Jan. 13.—I wish to express my appreciation to the two young gentlemen bandits who held me up in my car on Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. near Drexel boulevard for returning my flask which was not empty, the billfolder with my credentials, and the $4 out of $14 which I originally possessed. I did not report them to the police as, firstly, there is no use, and, secondly, the gentlemen needed the money badly. Noblesse oblige,

THE BUDGET MAKERS.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Your paper shows a picture of the school board in session making the budget with the chief of the engineers' union and the chief of the janitors' union looking on. As a parent, I am wondering whether the interests of the janitors and engineers are to be protected as against the interests of the school teachers. I frankly cannot understand why the presidents of these unions should be permitted to sit in with the committee.

In making these cuts are the engineers and janitors going to escape? Are the engineers going to be left with their tremendous salaries, salaries much in excess of the union scale for engineers? It seems that there is a chance to do a little trimming without impairing the service.

A PARENT.

BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Would you please get me the address of the business agent of the Livery Drivers' union so that I may make preparations for my funeral so as not to cause my family a lot of trouble? I want a permit to die first and also a permit to allow my friends to come to my home that they may view my remains without a racket card.

JAPANESE ARMY AVENGES DEAD; SHOOTS CHINESE

220 Are Slain in Raids; Many Wounded.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Japanese army has avenged its dead. Official communiques said today that hundreds of Chinese have been killed in a series of offensives undertaken in retaliation for the Chinese victories of last week, in which the Japanese casualties were heavy.

Supported by heavy artillery airplanes, the avenging columns of Japan killed at least 220 Chinese in engagements at Yentai and Tungliao, the communiques said, and near Yingkow, where a force of 500 Chinese was encountered, "a considerable number" of casualties was inflicted.

These were the three major engagements, but there were many others. Larger units were employed than in previous activities of this sort, and more imposing auxiliary arms.

Chinese War Lords Arrive.

While the Japanese pressed on with their work of revenge, new groups of Chinese war lords arrived in Mukden to take part in negotiations looking toward the establishment of a new Manchurian state, wholly free of Chinese control.

Gen. Shigeru Honjo, Japanese high commander, explained the fierceness of his new offensives by saying it was necessary to rid South Manchuria of "the curse of banditry" in order to permit the Chinese farmers to sow their spring crops "in assurance of safety and peace."

In the battle at Yentai, a coal mining center 25 miles south of Mukden, a Japanese infantry battalion, equipped with machine guns and backed by airplanes and artillery, fought forty minutes with about 500 Chinese. A communique said the Chinese were "almost completely annihilated." The battalion returned to Mukden and a gang of coolies was hired to dispose of the bodies on the battlefield. Numerous enemy wounded were taken to Japanese hospitals.

90 Slain, 22 Captured.

A Japanese column was sent to the Tungliao district after reports had been received that 1,000 Chinese were looting a nearby village. The Chinese lost 22 prisoners in addition to 90 dead in this battle, headquarters announced.

A brigade sent to the Chinsi district to smash irregular Chinese troops returned to its Chinchow base Saturday, reporting its mission accomplished.

Among the war lords arriving in Mukden for the negotiations about the establishment of a new government for Manchuria was Chang Hai-peng, who failed in an attempt to oust Gen. Ma Chan-shan from Tsitsihar before Gen. Jiro Tamon accomplished that task in November.

Chang Ching-hui, Harbin governor, is expected Wednesday. Later, Gov. Hsi Hsia will arrive from Kirin. Japanese advisers will be at hand during the negotiations, which are expected to take much time.

Japan Plans New Election.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Preparations for a general election, expected to prove necessary soon, were discussed by the cabinet today.

The Seiyukai party, headed by Premier Inukai, has only 171 seats in parliament against 259 for the Minseito party, and political commentators take it for granted that an appeal to the country will be made. The diet is to convene Jan. 21 and dissolution is expected to follow immediately thereafter. It was officially announced today that Japan will reply next week to Russian overtures for a nonaggression treaty.

Church Soloist Is Found Shot in Mystery Affair

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 18.—(AP)—George W. Anderson, Canadian soloist, was found with two bullet wounds in his head on a side road off the Niagara highway early today. Doctors believe he will recover. Anderson took his place in the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian church last evening as usual. After the service he disappeared. Today he told police he drove down the Niagara highway and turned up the side road. He saw two bright flashes from the roadside and that was all he knew.

Father, 89, Slays Son; He Pleads Self-Defense

Bethany, Mo., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Wounded by his father, an 89 year old veteran of the civil war, Alexander Smothers, 47, is dead. The father, Joshua Smothers, pleaded self-defense and has not been arrested. The shooting occurred Saturd. night at the home of the father. The home was in a state of siege for thirty minutes before the father fired. Inside the home, Mrs. Smothers sat in an invalid's chair and heard the threats of her son.

DAN SULLIVAN IS HELD.

Dan Sullivan, alleged proprietor of a saloon at 70 East 71st street, was released in bonds of $1,500 by United States Commissioner Edwin E. Walker yesterday when he was arraigned on charges of violating the prohibition law. Hearing on the case was set for Jan. 28.

TO BE BRIDE

LUCILLE WILLIAMS.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Climaxing a romance that began three years ago, Lucille Williams, young blond film actress, and John H. Harris, wealthy Pittsburgh, Pa., theater operator, will be married Friday, according to their announcement yesterday. Harris arrived yesterday by special car from Pittsburgh for the nuptials, accompanied by his mother, two sisters and several friends.

George O'Brien, motion picture actor, is to be best man, and Mary Harris, the sister of the groom-to-be, maid of honor.

Harris was a house guest at O'Brien's Malibu home three summers ago when he was introduced to Miss Williams, who had just started in pictures after coming here from Denver, with her mother.

INDIANA SPEAKER OUT FOR SENATE SEAT OF WATSON

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—In letters sent to friends in all parts of the state Walter Myers, Indianapolis attorney and speaker of the house of representatives, tonight announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination of the United States senate seat long held by James E. Watson.

Myers' statement is the first announcement of a candidacy for a major office in the campaign of 1932.

Finger Too Fat, Robbers Can't Get $2,500 Ring Off

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Because his fingers are fat, Ben McLenden, former Long Beach chief of police, still has his $2,500 diamond ring today. Two robbers who entered the McLenden residence last night couldn't get it off. Neither could McLenden. So the robbers left with just $460 in cash and a diamond stick pin McLenden valued at $1,200.

RADICALS TO PASS ON WILKERSON AS APPEALS JUDGE

Joseph C. Grew Will Go as Envoy to Japan.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Radicals will constitute a large majority of the subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee which will consider the elevation of Federal Judge John H. Wilkerson of Chicago to the United States Circuit court of Appeals.

The members of the subcommittee announced today by Senator George W. Norris, radical Republican of Nebraska and chairman of the judiciary committee, are as follows: Senators Borah, radical Republican of Idaho, chairman; Blaine, radical Republican of Wisconsin; Robinson, regular Republican of Indiana, and Walsh of Montana and Dill of Washington, both Democrats with definite "progressive" leanings.

Protests Are Filed.

It is this committee which will consider the protests against senate confirmation of Judge Wilkerson's promotion. Several protests already have been received by the judiciary committee.

The subcommittee will meet tomorrow and will, it is expected, set a date for the holding of hearings.

Joseph C. Grew of Hancock, N. H., ambassador to Turkey and former undersecretary of state, will succeed W. Cameron Forbes as ambassador to Japan when the latter relinquishes his office soon and returns to private life for personal reasons.

Envoy to Turkey Since 1927.

Mr. Grew has been in Turkey since 1927 and is a career diplomat, having been in the service since 1904. He was secretary general of the American delegation at the Paris peace conference at the conclusion of the world war, and has been minister to Denmark and to Switzerland.

The appointment of former Senator Lawrence C. Phipps of Colorado as ambassador to Great Britain to succeed Gen. Charles G. Dawes was urged upon President Hoover today by Senator Oddie of Nevada.

President Hoover was represented as having yet to reach a decision in announcing the appointment led to suggestions in official circles that Walter E. Edge, ambassador to France, might be shifted to London and his place in Paris taken by John W. Garrett, ambassador to Italy.

The senate approved the nomination of Lincoln Dixon of Indiana, as a Democratic member of the tariff commission today.

YOUTH STEALS APPLE; THIRD OFFENDER AND GETS 15 YEAR TERM

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A youth who stole an apple from a Park avenue apartment was sentenced to fifteen years in state prison today as a third offender under the Baumes laws.

Imposing the sentence in General Session court Judge George L. Donnellan, however, said that inasmuch as no firearms had been used and no property taken, he would approve of a commutation of the sentence after five years had been served.

The defendant, Paul Sweringer, 24, was convicted of burglary in the second degree in having entered the apartment of Miss Frances Milburn at 944 Park avenue the night of Nov. 27.

Miss Milburn testified that while a bridge game was in progress in her ten room suite she found Sweringer seated at a kitchen table eating the apple.

Sweringer, who had been released from Sing Sing only ten days before his arrest, testified that he had entered the apartment door only because he was hungry.

Seek Escaped Convict as Cleveland Rapist

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Edward Ralph, "masher gunman," who escaped two months ago from the Mansfield reformatory and long a suspect in the murder of Janet Blood, high school girl, was sought tonight as the one who raped and beat a 16 year old girl. Alma Shafrick, victim of the attack, was shown a picture of the fugitive and partly identified him. Shortly after Miss Shafrick was assaulted the same man attempted to rape Coletta Smith, 13, but was frightened when the child's screams brought several men to the scene.

ENDS STOMACH GAS PAIN QUICK

"I've suffered my last spell of sour stomach," says H. K. White, Chicago. "I found that by taking ACIDINE three or four nights a week, I never have that uncertain feeling whether my meals are going to set right, or make me miserable from excessive acid and gas."

"I cannot help telling how good ACIDINE is," says J. F. McCarthy of Dorchester, Mass. "I had been troubled with an acid stomach for the last ten years. Now after using two boxes of ACIDINE I feel O. K."

End gas, sourness, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, headache resulting from acidity. Maker guarantees ACIDINE ends your stomach trouble or money back. All druggists have ACIDINE.

DRIFT 3 DAYS IN OPEN BOAT; PAIR REACH A HAVEN

At Mercy of Waves on Lake Superior.

Bayfield, Wis., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—After being buffeted about by shifting Lake Superior winds for three days and nights in a small open motor boat, Allison Boutin, 27, and his brother, Manning, 24, made their way late today to Ontonagon, Mich., 110 miles east of here. News of their arrival after they had reached safety Saturday in an isolated cove near Ontonagon was given by the brothers to their parents by telephone. Hope for their safety had been abandoned.

The brothers were last seen Wednesday off Presque isle of the Apostle island group. Their motor stalled out of sight of other fishermen and they were tossed about by waves in a swirling snow. After drifting for many hours the brothers got their motor functioning again.

In the belief they had drifted closer to the Michigan shore than the Apostle islands the brothers set their course toward Ontonagon. Their reckoning proved wrong and they ran out of gasoline, leaving them at the mercy of the waves a second time. The winds carried them beyond the regular lake boat channels and fishing grounds.

Lived on Fish Caught.

The brothers had little provisions except for a few fish they had caught. Through the nights they took turns in holding the boat with the wind and bailing the craft. By day they had the added task of keeping a lookout for vessels.

When the brothers failed to return to their homes every available boat at Bayfield put to sea in a search. The coast guard cutter, Crawford, came from Two Harbors, Minn., to join the hunt Friday night. In the belief the fishermen had run aground on one of the Apostle islands the rescue parties searched the coastlines of the group.

Fishermen of the area forsook their nets in the search. Shortly after the fleet abandoned the search the brothers phoned their parents.

Reach Land Exhausted.

The brothers said they sighted the Michigan shore line late Saturday afternoon. After nightfall the tiny craft reached an obscure cove. They built a fire, ate, and dried themselves. Through Sunday they rested from the exhausting battle with the waves.

Today the brothers made their way to the Michigan town. They announced they will retrace their course over Lake Superior to their homes. Fishermen consider the brothers owe their escape to the mildness of the late season. Had one of the usual mid-winter storms come up the small boats would have been swamped, they said.

HOLD UP WOMAN IN STORE.

Two bandits held up Miss Mary Banzyk, the manager, in a National Tea store at 5844 Milwaukee avenue yesterday and took $30 from the cash register.

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC goes 3 times as far as other leading kinds because it's 3 times as powerful. There's economy for you! It can be diluted with 2 parts of water and still kill germs in less than 10 seconds!

THE saving in money—$2 on every dollar bottle of Pepsodent Antiseptic—is one reason millions are changing from old-style mouth washes to the new. Old-fashioned antiseptics must be used full strength in fighting colds and germs. The new discovery—Pepsodent Antiseptic—fights sore throat colds, even when diluted. It's perfectly safe full strength. But you can add 2 parts of water and kill germs in 10 seconds. If you always dilute your mouth wash, maybe you have been fooling yourself with one that is not effective unless used full strength. Make a mental note that Pepsodent Antiseptic is 3 times more powerful than other leading mouth washes—it goes 3 times as far—gives you 3 times more for your money—plus extra protection against sore throat colds. It protects you, also, against halitosis—gives you 1 to 2 hours more assurance of a pure, sweet breath—and peace of mind when meeting others.

Pepsodent Antiseptic offers you more—asks you less. It multiplies your safety but it divides your safety cost. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—the safe antiseptic that can be diluted.

BAD BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds, proves its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, it kills germs even when diluted with water!

THIS seven-point checklist simplifies space buying. It reduces the thousand and one facts and intangibles of newspaper value to one easily-remembered, quick test of reader interest and advertising response. It is the most basic, inclusive and dependable measure of what you get for your money.

The newspaper which scores highest on this checklist gives you greatest advertising value.

By this simple but searching test, applicable to any newspaper, used by newspapers themselves, the Tribune is first in Chicago.

No matter what your product is, no matter what you plan to spend in Chicago, the Tribune is best fitted to help you do the job. 4 out of 7 families in Chicago and suburbs read the Tribune. 150,000 more than read any other Chicago newspaper!

32% more metropolitan families prefer the Tribune to any other newspaper. And read it with a close personal interest they give to no other Chicago newspaper. For years the Tribune has been a compelling personality in the social, political and economic life of Chicago. It is the one newspaper most widely quoted on the day of issue, most frequently consulted in reference work.

Here is reader interest that explains the 100% increase in Tribune city and suburban circulation in the past fifteen years. Here is the reason for a Tribune home-delivered circulation that is far greater than that of all other Chicago newspapers combined. For the Tribune's 57% greater circulation in Chicago's 25 better residential districts and 67% greater circulation in the suburban towns.

In its own first purpose the Tribune outsells any other Chicago newspaper. It is better fitted than any other Chicago newspaper to produce volume of sales for advertisers.

Last year the Tribune carried 5,064,000 more lines of advertising than any other Chicago newspaper. Why?

Why did retail advertisers in 1931 place 1,790,000 more lines in the Tribune than in any other Chicago paper?

Why did general advertisers place 1,494,000 more lines?

Why did classified advertisers place 1,779,000 more lines?

Results! Greater return for their money! Because advertisers knew that as the Tribune is first in editorial influence, it is first in advertising productivity.

If this is a year in which to get back to first principles, if it is a time to cut out dead timber, then don't handicap your advertising by limiting its circulation to secondary media. You expect every dollar you spend to get maximum results. Spend it, then, in the Tribune which reaches the greatest audience in the Chicago market and has the best grip on the greatest buying power.

A Tribune representative will be glad to go over the facts with you in your office. Ask to have him call.

RUNS FORCE TWO BANKS TO CLOSE IN CHAMPAIGN

Funds Rushed by Plane to Protect Others.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Two Champaign banks, the First National, one of the largest in central Illinois, and the Commercial bank, failed to open their doors this morning. Steady runs during the last two weeks, due to baseless rumors, depleted the cash of the two institutions and resulted in directors of the two banks deciding to close.

Directors of the Busey State bank of Urbana, as a precaution against a run, closed the doors of their institution this morning. They may reopen in the morning.

Approximately $1,000,000 in currency was brought here from the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago in an armored car and an airplane this afternoon and distributed among three other banks, two in Champaign and one in Urbana, to protect them against runs that started with the closing of the two banks. Many depositors, however, who had withdrawn their money early in the day returned during the afternoon and redeposited their savings.

First National 67 Years Old.

The First National bank was founded 67 years ago. N. M. Harris is president, H. S. Capron and B. B. Harris are vice presidents, and G. D. Thompson is cashier. The capital stock is $300,000 and deposits as of Dec. 31, 1931, when a call was made by the controller of the currency, totaled $5,116,951.

The Commercial bank, a state bank, had deposits of $300,000, while the capital stock is $50,000. George W. Busey is president, M. W. Busey and P. G. Busey are vice presidents, and John C. Somers is cashier.

The First National bank was a depository for University of Illinois funds, H. S. Capron, one of the vice presidents, being treasurer of the university. According to a statement by President Harry Woodburn Chase this afternoon, the pay roll of the university will be met in cash.

College Funds Protected.

"University salaries are not affected by the closing of this local depository of the university treasurer," declared Dr. Chase. "Such university funds as are handled by Treasurer Capron are fully protected by United States government securities and by bond. They always have been and still are on deposit in Chicago, under the full and complete control of the university board of trustees, and their availability is therefore not affected by the closing of the local depository."

The Commercial bank, which had a working agreement with the First National bank, was a depository for funds of the city of Champaign.

Hundreds of University of Illinois students and faculty members are among the several thousand depositors affected by the closing of the two banks. The University State bank, located in the University of Illinois business district here, closed its doors the first part of December. The closing of the two banks today is not expected to result in any large number of students withdrawing.

Durham [N. C.] Bank Fails.

Durham, N. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The First National bank did not open for business today. Officers said that at the close of business Saturday the total deposits were approximately $3,500,000.

Trial of Dan Serritella Is Postponed to Feb. 16

The trial of Daniel Serritella, Capone lieutenant and former city sealer, and his chief deputy, Harry Hochstein, on charges of conspiracy to permit weighing frauds, was continued yesterday to Feb. 16 by Judge Philip Sullivan in the Criminal court. The postponement was asked by Assistant State's Attorney Harold Keele, who said that he was busy in the sanitary district conspiracy trial.

SHOOTS HERSELF TO PAY FOR FUNERAL OF WOMAN SHE KILLED

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A woman who arranged in advance for the use of some of her own insurance money to provide a decent burial for her victim threw the section around West 14th street into a turmoil today when she shot and killed another woman, slightly wounded her victim's mother, and probably fatally wounded herself.

She was Mrs. Laura Pagan, 32. She killed Miss Asuncion Rivera, 28, and wounded Miss Rivera's mother, Mrs. Juana Farjas. Her last act was to shoot herself under the heart and at Harlem hospital, where she was taken, it was said she probably would not live.

In her bedroom detectives found two notes in Spanish. One read:

"To my darling husband: Please take care of my insurance and bury me. Give my clothes to the poor. If the two people I shot are dead please bury them with my insurance money. Feed our two dogs and do not let them on the street. Love, your darling wife, LAURA."

Mrs. Pagan had been working in a cabaret, the police said, and the neighbors told them that she had been quarreling for weeks with Miss Rivera over a man who was paying attentions to the latter.

Holdup Man Is Captured in Act on Sheridan Road

Adrian Russell, 23 years old, who said he lives at 1748 Maple street, was arrested at Sheridan road and Clarendon avenue last night when Policeman Thomas Lamie saw him trying to steal a woman's purse. At the Town Hall police station Russell was viewed by Mrs. Mary Krambellas, owner of a restaurant at 4212 Broadway. "That is the man who robbed me three times in the last three weeks," she said. "He and another man took $65 from me two weeks ago last Saturday. They came in and got $42 last Saturday and this afternoon they took $12."

ARREST 77, KILL 1, WOUND 1 AS INDIA PRESSES REVOLT

Police, Stoned, Fire Into Crowd of 500.

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Police fired into a crowd of 500 natives today in the village of Gujerat, near Peshawar, killing one person and wounding another.

The natives had attacked them with stones after six of the local leaders of the All-India National Congress party were arrested.

Arrests for the day totaled 77. In Bombay 40 followers of Mahatma Gandhi, including a group of fourteen saffron-clad Beahsevika girl picketers, were arrested for trying to prevent further gold shipments to the United States and England.

Other Girls Step Forward.

Great excitement was caused in the bazaars by the arrests and other girls immediately stepped forward to take their places in the picket lines.

Fourteen Gandhiists, including the dictator of the Bombay branch of the congress, were arrested as they scooped water from the sea to make salt in obedience to the mahatma's injunction. Onlookers jeered as the police made the arrests.

Syed Abdullah Brevli, editor of the Bombay Chronicle, most important nationalist newspaper in India, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment at hard labor for ignoring an order requiring him to report daily to the police.

17 Nabbed at Poona.

Seventeen congress followers, including two women, were arrested at Poona. The women were the so-called and the Youth league. The head of the latter organization was sentenced imdictators of the Maharashtra congress mediately to one year in jail on a charge of making a seditious speech.

In Calcutta Miss Santi Ghose and Miss Sunity Chowdury, 20 year old government high school students, went on trial for murder before a special tribunal. The girls are accused of killing the district magistrate at Comilla at the outbreak of the nationalist trouble several weeks ago.

In protest against the government request that G. B. Halstead, an American missionary, leave the country because of an article he wrote calling upon Christians to support Mr. Gandhi, students at the Christian college of Luckow paraded the campus with black mourning flags.

The students adopted a resolution declaring the government's action to be "unwarranted and un-Christian" and asserting that they would resort to a hunger strike.

Thirty-three congress volunteers were sentenced in Bombay to six months' imprisonment at hard labor for peaceful picketing, making contraband salt and being members of the nationalist organization.

WILLIAM TOLD HE CAN DRINK ON SATURDAYS ONLY

William F. Wright, a city employe, owns 200 gallons of wine, but the only time he is permitted to have a drink is on Saturday between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. This is according to a court order entered yesterday by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath.

Wright filed a petition with the court to hold his former wife, Anna, who lives at 6612 South Irving avenue, in contempt. He alleged that under their divorce decree, entered last April, he was allowed to keep his wine in the cellar of his former home and to visit and sample it at his own discretion. Recently, he charged, his wife refused him entrance.

Mrs. Wright said that her ex-husband usually became intoxicated after visiting his wine and had appeared to imbibe at unreasonable hours. Then the judge announced his ruling.

FIRE CHIEF DUFFY says:

"For 32 years I have been a member of the Kansas City Fire Department and up to August 5, 1929, which was the date of the awful explosion and fire on Prospect Avenue which killed three of my firemen, I enjoyed almost perfect health. That explosion just wrecked my health, and I didn't know what it was to enjoy a decent night's sleep for more than two years. I was so nervous I couldn't sit still for five minutes at a time, and to read or do any writing was misery. I lost my appetite and my health. I tried many medicines, but nothing helped me and I began to get discouraged about ever getting well. A friend of mine told me of the wonderful results Wenvo was giving others, so I decided to give it a trial. I felt an improvement right away, and since continuing the treatment I am glad to be able to say that I now eat anything, am gaining weight, and sleep like a baby. I am grateful for the results Wenvo has given me, and I hope that other sufferers will profit by my experience."

E. J. Duffy

Nurse Fay Sellers Says:

"I couldn't eat or sleep—rest seemed impossible." Here are the true words of this trained nurse, 113 S. Kansas Avenue, Topeka, Kans., telling how Wenvo restored her health after three years of suffering. "A very light diet was necessary and I had to give up coffee altogether. Then I took Wenvo. In only four months I have regained my strength and vitality. Sleep as soundly as a child. My diet is forgotten. Wenvo is the greatest health builder I know."

SAYS HINSDALE VACANT IS LESS THAN YEAR AGO

J. E. Donnelly Tells of 25% Gain.

J. E. Donnelly, Hinsdale realtor, is authority for the statement that there are less vacant houses for rent in that village than at the time a year ago by at least 25 per cent and that some of the owners are stiffening up their rates slightly. Vacancies in business locations are almost all taken up, he states, with only two well located store rooms to be had. Inquiry for homesites and homes has increased since the first of the year.

J. E. DONNELLY.

Mr. Donnelly also points to the excellent showing made by Hinsdale in new building for 1931, which while less than for 1930, still was ahead of many suburbs of comparable size. The local total, if the Susanne King Bruweart home, outside the village limits, had been included, would have been close to three-quarters of a million. Mr. Donnelly is a member of the village development commission and is one of the faculty of the Hinsdale Art school. He lives at 7 South Washington street, Hinsdale.

Plan Food Mart.

The Harry Unger company has leased for ten years from Philip A. Weinstein and Dr. M. L. Weinstein 14,000 square feet of store space at 6851-55 Stony Island avenue and after extensive remodeling will open it early next month as a food market. The building formerly was known as the South Shore theater and was remodeled some time ago into stores.

The new establishment will be known as the "Park-N-Stop Food Mart." It will employ in the neighborhood of fifty persons. Lester Shafton was attorney for the lessee. The space leased for the new market comprises three former stores.

Sheridan-Lawrence Lease.

Joseph Siegan has leased the store at the southeast corner of Sheridan road and Lawrence avenue from Abraham Gumbiner for a term of years through Milton Moses, broker, and will operate a woman's ready to wear shop.

Cerf & Ehrenhalt report having closed a lease with the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company for the store at 2738 West North avenue at an annual rental of $3,600. Extensive alterations are being made. L. A. Goldstein was lessor. The same brokers also rented the store at 1641 West Chicago avenue, adjoining Goldblatt's department store, at an annual rental of $7,200 to Novak's Stock Yards Market. Herman R. Misch was lessor.

A. OF C. PRAISES ROSENWALD'S USE OF RICHES

The career and personal qualities of the late Julius Rosenwald were praised in resolutions sent to the Rosenwald family yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"His business career, which had its start in Springfield and reached its magnificent culmination in Chicago, was so impregnated with the highest ideals of commercial life that it has proved an inspiration to tens of thousands engaged in the avenues of trade in this and other nations, and has brought distinctive honor to our own land," the resolutions said in part.

"To be rich, and yet to hold one's riches as a trust from God for the welfare of mankind; to be generous and yet to give with a wisdom which prevented waste and promoted an ever wider charity; to be proud of one's race, and yet to know no barrier between class, creed or color; to be all this and more is to reveal, only in part, some of those noble and peculiar characteristics which made Julius Rosenwald one of the most outstanding and beloved citizens of our generation."

DRY SPY BARES AURORA BOOZE DEALS IN TRIAL

Tells of Alky Sent to Iowa Gang.

Evidence in the midwest booze conspiracy trial moved from official corruption in Whiteside county to the wholesaling of alcohol in Aurora and Waterloo, Ia., yesterday. The trial of 47 defendants and two corporations is being heard by a jury in Federal Judge Lindley's court.

MRS. HARRIET FRITTS. [Tribune Photo.]

Special Agent Jacob Erkilla, the government's principal witness, yesterday told how members of the Aurora and Waterloo gangs boasted of the quality of their product and the ease with which 4,000 to 6,000 gallons a month were "wheeled" over the Lincoln highway into Iowa.

Identifies Red Haired Woman.

The red haired woman in the case, Mrs. Harriet Fritts, was identified by Erkilla as the operator of a saloon at 37 Walnut street, Aurora, in which he and Cleo Hitzman, an undercover agent, purchased alcohol in lots of 60 gallons from Dave Dolff, alias Meyers, an associate of Mike Meyers in the Aurora group.

"Hitzman introduced me to Meyers as 'Jack, one of the boys'," Erkilla testified. "Hitzman was using the name of Joe Jerabec. I purchased beer from Mrs. Fritts while Hitzman gave Meyers the keys to our car. He took the car and brought it back with 60 gallons of alcohol, for which Hitzman paid him $189.

Meets Iowa Bootlegger.

"I was playing the slot machine in the back when Dick Price (a Waterloo defendant) asked if we were running a joint. I told him we were from Des Moines and he said he was from Waterloo and that he could let us have alky there for a dollar a gallon more than we were paying Meyers. He said he had been bringing in 4,000 to 6,000 gallons a month from Aurora, but that business was poor and he was forced to wheel it himself.

"On May 14, 1931, we met Dick, Russell, and Frank Price and Harry Chapman in a poolroom at Waterloo and purchased 25 gallons for $100.

Ebsen Finishes Testimony.

The testimony of Clarence (Sonny) Ebsen, rum runner who turned government evidence, was concluded during the day. Ebsen again brought out the names of State's Attorney Vincent Bell and former Sheriff Jerry Kelly of Whiteside county.

Ebsen said that after making bond in a vagrancy case he was rearrested for alterations in the bond. He thought there was an unnecessary delay in his getting free, he said, and threatened to "have plenty to say" if Bell and Kelly "double crossed" him.

"Bell said, 'Keep your shirt on and I'll take care of you,' and I got out that afternoon," Ebsen testified.

E. P. Richardson, Indiana Democratic Leader, Dead

Petersburg, Ind., Jan. 18. — [Special.] — E. P. Richardson, 84, former Democratic state chairman, who served two terms as district chairman of the old First Indiana congressional district and who served as Democratic county chairman, died here last night. He served one term in the state legislature. He was the oldest member of the Pike County Bar association.

WOMAN DIES ON STREET.

SINGING LADY

A DELIGHTFUL radio program for young folks which was started over WGN in Chicago eight months ago. Its success has been phenomenal. More than 40,000 mothers and children have written letters expressing their appreciation. And now, W. K. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, is sponsoring the Singing Lady, over the N. B. C. Blue Network, as a service to mothers, teachers and children throughout the country.

The Singing Lady tells the most fascinating stories; sings the most delightful songs. And she comes to entertain the children just before supper, which is a time when children should be kept quiet and amused, according to child authorities. It's also one of the busiest times in a mother's day.

Every afternoon (except Saturdays and Sundays) at 5.30 Eastern Time, over WJZ, WLW, WBZ,* WBZA,* WBAL, KDKA,* WJR, WGAR.

At 5.15 Central Time, WENR, WREN, KWK, KOIL; also WGN at 6.

Let your children listen in—and see how eagerly they will look forward to the Singing Lady.

RIDE VICTIM SAVES LIFE BY LEAP; WOUNDED

A quick leap from an automobile in which he evidently was being taken for a ride saved the life last night of Fred Hackney, 26 years old, 4741 Woodlawn avenue, former inmate of Pontiac reformatory. He was wounded in the face, however, by a shotgun charge.

Hackney was sitting in his car at 47th street and Ellis avenue last night when three armed men surrounded him. They boarded the machine, and one, sitting at the wheel, drove south. At 150th street and Western avenue, Harvey, the machine was momentarily halted. Hackney, defying guns, leaped out and ran. One of the men fired at him.

Bleeding in the face, Hackney appeared at the Homewood station of the county highway police and told his story. He was taken to the Ingalls Memorial hospital, where a pellet was extracted from his right eye. He was also struck on the scalp and in the arm. Hackney told police he believed the gunmen were robbers. Police, however, said they would investigate further. Hackney admitted serving a term at Pontiac. Records show a Fred Hackney served from 1925 to 1929 for robbery.

Trial of 6 for Murder of Policeman Set for Feb. 29

The trial of four men and two girls accused in the slaying of Policeman James J. Caplis during an attempted robbery of the Beach View Gardens café at 804 Wilson avenue on Dec. 21 was set for Feb. 29 by Acting Chief Justice Philip Sullivan of the Criminal court yesterday. Judge George Fred Rush will hear the case. Those held are Dorothy Evans, 16 years old; Marcella Royce, 17 years old; Frank Freeman, Jack Burlison, Tony Pape, and Nicholas Bruno.

Hearing Begun in $100,000 Damage Suit AgainstDoctor

Superior Judge Henry Prentice yesterday opened the court hearing of a $100,000 damage suit against Dr. Wallace F. Grosvenor, 4700 Sheridan road. The plaintiff is Mrs. Wendell W. Hall, 215 Wood court, Wilmette, whose husband is a stage and radio entertainer. In the declaration of her suit Mrs. Hall charged that Dr. Grosvenor failed to remove a 20 inch piece of gauze bandage following a Caesarian operation in the Ravenswood hospital on Aug. 23, 1928.

CONFESS 15 TAXI ROBBERIES.

William Hart, 20 years old, 7430 Vincennes avenue; Walter Hennessy, 20, of 1456 Clybourn avenue, and Edward Donnay, 19, of 7036 Princeton avenue, who were arrested on suspicion, have confessed to the robbery of fifteen cab drivers, according to the police.

Plunge of Advertising Man Called Accident by Jury

A coroner's jury investigating the death of Clarence E. Brinckerhoff, wealthy head of the advertising agency bearing his name, who fell from his fourteenth floor apartment at 4300 Lake Shore drive Sunday, returned a verdict of accidental death yesterday afternoon. His widow, Mrs. Harriet Brinckerhoff, told the jury her husband had no reason for ending his life. She said he had been ill, but was in good health recently and that his business affairs were in good shape.

'RIP VAN WINKLE' SLEEPS A WEEK; AWAKES TO REST

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A "Rip Van Winkle" who puzzles physicians awoke today after a week's slumber and decided to take a rest.

Ernest Lemay took a room in a hotel, giving his address as Springfield, Mass., and went to sleep. After 24 hours the alarmed proprietor called police. Lemay woke up for a few minutes as they shifted him to a hospital, and opened his eyes again when they took him to police headquarters for examination and back to the hospital.

Outside of that his doze was uninterrupted and he ate no food. When he awoke today physicians said he must rest a few days to build up his strength.

MRS. JUDD BUYS SMART CLOTHES FOR TRIAL TODAY

State Alienist Hints at a Sensation.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Newly purchased finery in which she will appear before an all-male jury on trial for her life held the final attention of Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, accused trunk slayer, on the eve of the opening of her murder case tomorrow.

The perpetrator of the dual trunk slaying which stirred the southwest three months ago will stand trial first for the death of Agnes Anne Le Roi, X-ray technician.

A separate murder indictment to be disposed of later accuses her of the slaying and dismemberment of Hedvig Samuelson, tubercular convalescent and close friend both of herself and Mrs. Le Roi.

The bodies of both women were found, divided between two trunks and a suitcase, in a Los Angeles railway station three days after the slayings took place in the victims' home here.

Selection of a jury, in the opinion of prosecution and defense counsel, will require "not less than two days," and possibly more.

Alienist Hints Sensation.

In San Francisco last night Dr. Joseph Catton, prosecution alienist, said Mrs. Judd has threatened to "tell everything if things don't go the way they are planned" at her trial.

Paul Schenck of Los Angeles and Herman Lewkowitz of Phoenix, counsel for Mrs. Judd, indicated they would attempt to establish hereditary insanity.

They said a "mother fixation," involving illusions on the part of Mrs. Judd that she is the mother of a three year old child, and depositions regarding insanity in her family would enter into the case.

Dr. Catton said Mrs. Judd had told him she was the mother of a child who was "the image of Dr. W. C. Judd, her husband. The defense will attempt to prove that no child ever was born to Mrs. Judd.

Alienist's Statement.

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Dr. Joseph Catton, San Francisco alienist, who has twice examined Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, hinted broadly last week that a second person may be involved in the slaying of Mrs. Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson.

"From all aspects of the case as I know them, almost anything may develop," Dr. Catton said. "Mrs. Judd said to me:

"'If things don't go the way they tell me, I'll get up and tell everything.'"

When Dr. Catton examined Mrs. Judd in the Phoenix jail, he asked her, he said, if she had severed the bodies, as they were found dismembered and packed in trunks. He said her reply was:

The alienist also revealed Mrs. Judd told him she was the mother of a boy who is the "living image" of Dr. Judd, his father, and that the boy is now in Mexico.

He said he believed Mrs. Judd was sane.

OWNER OF STORE HELD IN INDIANA ARSON PLOT QUIZ

Chris Spiros, vegetable merchant of Valparaiso, Ind., was arrested by Sheriff Bernie Maxwell of Porter county yesterday in connection with the investigation of an arson and bombing ring in northwestern Indiana. The gang is alleged to have set fire to Spiros' store on Christmas eve.

Sheriff Maxwell said that Spiros was on the verge of bankruptcy in December. After his store burned down the loss was estimated at $50,000. Spiros was known to have held insurance, according to Sheriff Maxwell.

Pete Popovich and Steve Swaykowski confessed yesterday that they set off the incendiary bomb that started the fire in the basement of Spiros' store and were severely burned in the explosion. They were removed during the day from a hospital to the Porter county jail.

In their confessions they did not name Spiros, who is held in $5,000 bonds on a charge of second degree arson. They were hired for the job, they said, by Robert Morse, ex-convict who is under arrest in Gary as a member of the ring.

Gary police seized four more men as accessories after the fact in the case yesterday. Those arrested are Frank Spiers, Russell Riley, Charles Kelly, colored, and J. G. Barnett, also colored. Sixteen alleged members of the gang are now in custody.

U. S. DELEGATION TO ARMS PARLEY TOLD NOT TO TRIM ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The American delegation which sails for the Geneva disarmament conference Wednesday has been instructed not to agree to further cuts in American land forces, according to information learned here today. While an eliminating figure may be set for American military forces, it was said this figure will so much exceed the expenditures which the United States has been making on its land armaments during the Coolidge-Hoover régimes that the sizes of the present establishment will not be affected.

As for naval armaments, American officials see little chance that any other powers will be willing to make armament cuts which would materially affect this nation's naval forces. The point where the United States seems most likely to be affected is in the air, a field not yet hit by arms reduction or limitation treaties. Efforts will be made at Geneva to set limitations on both numbers of military airplanes and horse power.

The five delegates and their forty assistants and clerks were assured of going to Geneva with expense money in their pockets when the house of representatives, after a heated debate, finally passed the $450,000 appropriation bill to defray the cost of American participation in the conference.

2 HARLAN UNION LEADERS APPEAL LIFE SENTENCES

Mount Sterling, Ky., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—William B. Jones and William Hightower, president and secretary, respectively, of Evarts union, in Harlan county, were sentenced to life imprisonment in the state reformatory at Frankfort by Judge Henry R. Prewitt in Montgomery Circuit court today. Following the overruling of the motions for new trials of the men, a written opinion being given in each case by the jurist, the sentences were pronounced. Immediately following the sentence the men, through their attorneys asked for a stay of judgment pending an appeal, which was granted. They were remanded to jail.

The men were convicted by juries from Montgomery and Bath counties for the killing of Jim Daniels, deputy sheriff in Harlan county, last May during a battle between deputies and union sympathizers at Evarts.

The defense filed a motion seeking to have the record and transcript copied by the county on account of the pauperism of the convicted men, who say they are without funds to help and are unable to prosecute their appeal.

After hearing arguments on both sides, Judge Henry R. Prewitt ordered the official stenographer to copy the record and said it would be paid by some one.

Legion Parley Today to Seek Jobs for Million

Jobs for one million men is the object of an American Legion conference to be held today in the Stevens hotel. Presiding over the meeting will be National Commander Henry L. Stevens Jr., who hopes to organize a nation-wide drive to induce industry to increase business 10 per cent by Feb. 1. Commander Stevens and Attorney Mark T. McKee of Detroit, who has been drafted to lead the employment campaign, met at the hotel yesterday to make preliminary arrangements.

Man Convicted as German Spy Flees French Court

STRASBOURG, France, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Paul Ohrig, sentenced to four years in prison last July on a charge that he was a German spy, took "French leave" today. Brought before a magistrate for a new examination, he jumped out of a window while his questioner's back was turned. All frontier posts and Alsace police were instructed to watch for him.

SCALDS FATAL TO BABY.

Helen Zander, 2 months old, died Sunday at the county hospital of scalds suffered when a pail of water was turned over on her in her home at 721 North La Salle street on Dec. 29.

OFFICIALS, CLUBS ACT TO CURTAIL BILLBOARD EVIL

"Billboard alleys" along the highways of Illinois were condemned in a resolution adopted yesterday at a meeting of representatives of a number of civic organizations in the City club. A committee was appointed to work for legislation eliminating the thousands of billboards which now mar the scenic beauty of the state.

FRANK J. CORR.

At the same time a city council subcommittee recommended to the judiciary committee that an ordinance be drafted directing the building commissioner to withhold permits for the construction of billboards in Chicago until advertising companies have paid their delinquent permit and inspection fees.

Club Women Attend Meeting.

At the City club meeting representatives of the Woman's City club, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, Garden Club of Illinois, Chicago Woman's club, Chicago Regional Planning association, and the art extension committee of the University of Illinois were present.

A number of photographs were displayed on a screen showing how long lines of billboards have marred scenes of pastoral beauty in the state and also have constituted a danger to the motorist at intersections and railroad crossings.

"I marvel that advertisers think it good business to buy such advertising space," commented Everett L. Millard, president of the City club, after the pictures had been shown. "I should think the public would develop ill will toward advertisers who thus spoil a motor outing.

"Legal action is slow, but you women have an extra legal weapon which you can use. Women in the east did much to eliminate these outdoor advertisers by writing to the advertisers condemning the disfigurement of nature. The response in an immediate reduction of the billboards was remarkable."

Aldermen Seek Action.

The council subcommittee which is considering a new billboard ordinance in Chicago was composed of Aldermen Frank J. Corr [17th], John J. Lagodny [21st], James B. Waller [43d], James R. Quinn [50th], and Thomas J. O'Grady [14th], who also is chairman of the judiciary committee and who sponsored an investigation into the billboard situation in the city.

Edmund Curry, secretary of the building department, informed the aldermen that a survey has been completed showing the number of illegal billboards in the city. This report will be submitted to the subcommittee at its meeting next Monday.

Thieves Take His $3 Auto, Also $18 of License Plates

Thieves took the automobile of William H. Becker, 4154 Wentworth avenue, yesterday. The car was worth only about $3, he told police. But attached to it were license plates, city and state, which cost him $18. Becker rushed into the South State street police station and reported the theft to Sergt. James Nugent, with a demand that a police squad, or maybe two, be sent after the thieves. The car was taken from State and Congress streets, where he left it parked.

Two well dressed men have been riding on the same Chicago and North Western train coach during the last week with Miss Marcella Bergman, 20 years old, a messenger for the Edison Park State Savings bank at 6733 Olmstead avenue. Yesterday before fifty passengers, the men grabbed a black bag containing $5,000 in checks and $1,000 in cash from Miss Bergman and leaped off the train as it neared the Irving Park station.

Miss Bergman, who lives at 6546 Northwest highway, was on her way to the bank from Chicago Clearing house at the Federal Reserve bank building. She recalled that the men had been riding near her recently.

Each bandit carried two revolvers.

"Just before the station stop," said Miss Bergman, "one of the men pushed a revolver in my face. He grabbed the bag from my hands with a finger of the other hand in which he held a second revolver."

Fire Captain James Collins, who was in the coach on his way to his home at 6430 Olympia avenue, described the men as between 23 and 25 years old.

LAST YEAR'S WIFE

By ALICE M. WILLIAMSON

SYNOPSIS.

Lorne Carlton and Dick Farrow, popular moving picture stars of Hollywood, sail for Europe on a delayed honeymoon, after a year's happy marriage. Lorne is sad about leaving, as she has an undefinable presentiment of trouble, but Dick is anxious for the adventure. Dick's parents are famous on the stage. Lorne, who fought her way through poverty to the heights, feels that she is not approved by the elder Farrows. Dolores, duchess of Crowninshield, a friend of Dick's parents, has invited the young people to be her guests in London. She is divorced from the duke, but is one of England's most important hostesses. From the first moment of their meeting Dick is a willing captive of the beautiful and charming duchess. Before the visit is ended Lorne realizes that she has lost her husband. She returns home alone, Dick deciding to give up his movie career and remain in London. Back in Hollywood, Lorne obtains a Mexican divorce from Dick.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

A LONELY SUCCESS.

Eddie Waring could "make" stars, or he could "bring back" stars about to fail, and he was considered almost irresistible to women. Lorne was a star already, and far from a falling star, yet never had she shown such power as in this film, and possibly she had reason to be grateful to Eddie for bringing out all that was best in her. Gratitude from a girl star to a great director often meant more than met the eye, and so some of the gossip that surrounded Lorne in her loneliness swept Eddie Waring into its circles, too.

Lorne saw a great deal of him. He was writing a scenario for her himself from a famous Russian book. The book had no heroine, but he was making one out of a prima donna who was mentioned in one or two chapters, and it bade fair to be an enviable part. So, after all, Lorne might have had secret hankerings after Eddie, even before she went abroad with Dick. It was remembered that Waring had been very attentive to her at the farewell party given to the Farrows at Santa Monica the night before they left, and he had been overheard saying that he wanted to direct her next film. So there you were! You could choose between a hard boiled Lorne, cold as ice, or a Lorne with a heart that melted too readily. No one knew the truth save Lorne herself.

"It wouldn't suit me," she urged, "I'd be a flop."

As a matter of fact she didn't feel divorced from Dick. That Mexican divorce! That "absentee" Mexican divorce! What was it? To her, beyond the pain and heartbreak of Dick's straying to another, the divorce itself meant strangely little. It was a shut door, a door not even very tightly shut, that was all. Sometimes Lorne peeped through the crack, but she could not see clearly what was on the other side.

The Mexican divorce had been Dick's own suggestion. He had said that Dolores would be content because it was the quickest way, and wouldn't take him from her. Lorne had done no more than grasp at the idea, as a drowning person catches at a staw. Meanwhile work was a comfort, and Lorne didn't want any more holidays.

Months pass at Hollywood as elsewhere; they somehow passed for Lorne. Eddie Waring hadn't finished the new scenario to his satisfaction, so Lorne was cast to star in another somewhat less important picture under his direction. Only Lorne guessed why that dramatic new story, which was to end on a tragic note, had been delayed. Just at the time it should have been ready and would have gone into rehearsal, Dick Farrow's novel was published in England and America simultaneously. On the very day it came out, much advertised, the author married Dolores, duchess of Crowninshield.

Perhaps Eddie thought it would be safer to star Lorne Carlton in something less trying than "Prima Donna," when all Hollywood was roused to talk about her and her affairs again.

In any case, he gave her a dramatic comedy, which suited her very well. And the girl's long suspense being over, she became more charming as a person than she had ever been before, even in the days of her young happiness, her dream of married love. She ceased to be cold and aloof, as she had been after her return from Europe. "How nice Lorne is!" the studio said. Lorne seemed in these days to think of herself as little as possible. [This happened to be easy because she thought of Dick most of the time.] And instead of being rather offhand, as she once had been, Lorne was kind.

"She's so darned sweet!" exclaimed some one; a man of course. But even women in Hollywood had always liked Lorne Carlton and admired her. They were glad when the premiere of "Devil May Care," with Eddie Waring directing, was a brilliant success.

Lorne was glad, too. She was as ambitious as ever and as anxious to succeed. She felt a new power in herself, and knew that it was not all Eddie's wonderful direction. Perhaps she was still at heart a little conceited about her self-control, and her mounting talent that the control did not hold down. We all have to be conceited in one way or another, especially if we are sad, in order to bear life at all. Those of us who are not conceited snobs are conceited because we are not snobs, or because we are not conceited about not being snobs. But Lorne bore her success with a singularly good grace and wondered rather humbly whether Dick, far away, had heard anything about it. She said to herself: "I know I have some new quality in me that I did not have till I was hurt, but does it make up for what I've lost? . . . No, it doesn't; nothing ever can or will. Unless——!"

Nobody mentioned Dick's marriage to Lorne, but there was real regret that the charming Carlton-Farrow romance was definitely dead and buried.

Lorne's salary was now twice what it had been when she was Dick Farrow's wife, buying antique furniture with every spare dollar for their small but pretty house. She could have launched out into the purchase of a magnificent Spanish mansion suddenly coming into the market, and situated next door to the colonial "shack," as Dick had once called it. The lordly place was offered her at bargain price when the star who had built it went broke in the great Wall street slump. Friends tried to persuade the girl that she would be happier to move away from old associations, and that she would have a unique investment for her money. But Lorne would not hear of buying.

"I hate everything Spanish," she said. "I have a sort of complex that puts me against Spanish things." She wouldn't even play the part of a Spanish princess in a story which the studio wanted to buy for her at a very high price to keep it from rivals. "It wouldn't suit me," she urged, "I'd be a flop," and she refused to change her mind. Possibly Edwin Waring guessed why, because he had an understanding soul, or he could not have been a genius director. Besides, he kept himself au courant in most things all over the world, and he knew that the Duchess of Crowninshield had been born a Spanish princess.

By and by Dick Farrow and the duchess had been married for a year, which made it a year and a half since the announcement of Lorne's divorce from Dick. Nobody, save Lorne, counted the time, however [unless it might have been Eddie, for his own secret reasons], or even thought about Dick Farrow any more. If you go to live in England, or even further from Hollywood than New York, you might as well be dead; indeed, to all intents and purposes you are dead, unless you dig yourself up in some sensational way.

Dick did not dig himself up so far as Hollywood was concerned, for after the book brought out with a smart stroke of publicity on his wedding day he did not publish another. Possibly the comparative failure of "Rack and Ruin" had discouraged him. It had sold fairly well, on his name, but the critics had not been enthusiastic. "An attempt to do something big which hadn't come off," was the comment of one man whose verdict went far to decide the fate of a novel.

Lorne had bought the book, and had it bound in Russian leather of robin's egg blue, tooled round the edges with gold, the binding that Dick had planned for his presentation copy to her. She could have repeated almost every word in her favorite chapters, for the whole story had been written and read aloud to her before the two sailed for Europe. It was still, in a sad, heartbreaking way, her book, and she kept it in the drawer of a little Chippendale card table beside her bed. But nobody else ever remembered the somewhat undistinguished "highbrow" novel, which the American publishers had not thought it worth while to put into a cheap edition.

The correspondence between Lorne and her parents-in-law dwindled, and finally dropped altogether. They had never approved of Lorne as a wife for their wonderful Dick, and had stood by her during the time when her divorce pended more in order to make sure that it went through than because they were fond of her. Dick's marriage to the duchess delighted them both, and Lorne, being out of his life, was out of their lives, also.

Dick, of course, never wrote. But though to others in Hollywood he had become a negligible figure—a boy who had given up work and fame to marry a divorced duchess—Lorne provided herself with news of him. She subscribed for the London "Daily Mail" and the "Tatler," where the name of Crowninshield often occurred. There were photographs, too: "Mr. Farrow, and Dolores, duchess of Crowninshield," going here and there, or doing this or that.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Costly Yawn.

I was attending church and the minister said to the audience, "Every one who will subscribe $10 to this relief fund, raise his hand."

I was very sleepy and started to yawn and raised my hand to my mouth. Just then I heard the minister say, "Mrs. V—— gives $10." I was so embarrassed I let it go and paid the $10, because I wouldn't explain that I was yawning. J. V.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

The puffed sleeves of this formal afternoon frock are snugly fitted from the elbow down, and a contrasting material is used. There is slimness, too, for which the curved skirt seaming both at the front and back is responsible. Black velvet with lace is stunning for formal afternoon wear, and with short sleeves of sheer crêpe, lace or metal lamé, it will be just the thing for Sunday night and dinner wear.

The pattern, 2612, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting and ⅝ yard of 35 inch lining.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

THREE MEALS A DAY From the Tribune Cook Book

BY MARY MEADE.

Food Talk.

Should you be weary of always serving bacon for a breakfast offering to your family, try it as a luncheon or dinner dish. You may not suspect the possibilities lurking within the commonplace paper wrapped package.

Before starting tomorrow's recipes, let me tell you something about the cooking of bacon, even if you do have it for breakfast. Bacon is sugar cured and sugar burns readily, so the first step means placing bacon in a cold frying pan or skillet. Use a low fire and turn the meat frequently to perm even cooking. If you are cooking a large amount at one time, pour off the drippings occasionally. Cherish these, for they will give you a grand seasoning for vegetables. Then again, you might like them for shortening in muffins and dark cakes. When the bacon is no longer transparent, remove it from the pan and drain it on unglazed paper for a second or so. Don't permit it to get cold. Take it from the paper and place it on a hot platter in order that it may be hot and crisp for immediate serving.

Tomatoes have tumbled considerably in price, and with bacon so obligingly cheap, the luncheon dish suggested should be thrifty—and I promise, it's good!

BACON AND TOMATOES.

Wipe three large firm tomatoes and cut in halves crosswise [canned whole tomatoes may be substituted]. Sprinkle with a little salt, pepper, and sugar [only if raw] and place in a pan. Arrange two or three slices of bacon on each piece of tomato and place it in a hot oven under a broiler until the bacon is crisp. Remove to a hot platter and serve immediately.

6 eggs.
½ teaspoon of salt.
¼ cup of canned milk.
⅛ teaspoon of paprika.
Pepper to season.
1 cup of grated cheese.
6 slices of broiled bacon.

Beat the eggs slightly and mix with the milk, salt, pepper, and paprika. Cook the diced bacon in a hot frying pan until brown. Pour in the egg mixture and cook slowly until firm. Spread the cheese over the omelet and place in a hot oven for two minutes; fold, turn out on a hot platter, and garnish with the broiled bacon. Serve at once.

A broken date and a broken heart—all because of a blemished skin! Photo specially posed by Miss Alice Way she locked herself in her room!

SO ASHAMED OF HER

POOR COMPLEXION

3 weeks later she had a gorgeous skin—a better figure!

NO USE! She'd powdered and powdered but still those pimples showed—red, ugly, glaring . . . She couldn't keep that date. Couldn't, couldn't—no matter how much Mother scolded!

Broken-hearted over her complexion. Hiding away in her room—ashamed, afraid to face people. That's Virginia when her story starts—but she's a "changed creature" when it ends! Read what she says:

She confesses . . .

"My complexion has always been dull and muddy and sometimes it broke out. Recently I have been in a badly rundown state, thin, stomach often upset and feeling low generally. My skin got worse than ever. I was so ashamed of it that one night when I had a date I simply wouldn't go—actually locked myself in my room.

"Lucky for me, a friend advised Ironized Yeast. It did everything my friend said it would and more! It purified my blood so that my pimples vanished. It gave me an appetite, too. I gained 6 pounds in 3 weeks." Virginia McPherson, 6726 Honore St., Chicago, Ill.

Many quick results

A clear, radiant complexion is only one of the many benefits Ironized Yeast brings. This "wonder" tablet purifies and tones up the entire system—ending constipation, nervousness, that "always tired" feeling—as well as building firm, healthy flesh.

Two scientific processes

In Ironized Yeast you get the richest yeast science has produced—Copenhagen beer yeast. Cultured by foreign experts, this marvelous health yeast is concentrated seven times. Thus seven pounds of raw beer yeast are required to make one pound of the concentrate used in Ironized Yeast. The Biological Commission of the League of Nations regards this concentration process as so vitally important that—at an official session in Geneva, Switzerland—it recommended its adoption as a world-wide standard.

Ironized Yeast is put through still another scientific process. It is ironized—treated with three distinct types of energizing, blood-enriching iron. The result is a pleasant, easy-to-take tonic tablet—almost unrivalled in its amazing, body-building results!

Tested three times

Not only is Ironized Yeast manufactured by trained experts, but it is triple-tested for actual health-building results. These tests are made by our own scientists, by an eminent physician and by a professor of Bio-Chemistry in a famous medical college.

GUARANTEED: Thousands upon thousands, once thin and sickly now enjoy radiant health and an attractive figure—thanks to Ironized Yeast! If the very first package does not help you, too, its cost will be gladly refunded. AVOID IMITATIONS. For your own sake be sure you get the genuine Ironized Yeast. Look for the "I. Y." on each tablet. At all druggists. Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Widow Writes About Life of Arnold Bennett

Critic Wonders Whether She's Devout or Satiric.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"My Arnold Bennett," by Marguerite, His Wife. [Dutton.] Published today.

THE world has been sitting up on its hind legs, with its tongue lolling out, panting with eagerness to be thrown juicy morsels from the biography of Arnold Bennett, announced as the work of his estranged French wife.

Poor world. It will find the morsels of little succulence. It will find "My Arnold Bennett" the simplest of volumes, completely free from scandal.

ARNOLD BENNETT.

If the world hoped to find out the concrete whys of the disruption of the Bennettmenage in 1921, it will have to do its sniffing in other volumes yet to come. It will, oddly enough, find out a great deal about Arnold Bennett, however, which might explain why no wife would have been a success with Arnold Bennett, as well as why Marguerite herself wasn't.

Marguerite, who bears with an almost arrogant pride the mark of "his wife" throughout the volume, has written this book, she says, as "a token of my love, my appreciation, and my admiration for him."

In it she praises him in the most extravagant fashion, and declares again and again that he was irresistible to women, a statement which I feel must have been born in her own impossibility to resist him, for when I met him, under the most attractive circumstances possible—at a very small luncheon party given by one of his closest friends and most ardent admirers, and including only my host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swinnerton, H. G. Wells, and the St. John Ervines, I was able with the exercise of no will power whatever to resist his allurements. An adenoidal mouth and a stutter and a high, squeaky voice do slightly take the shine off of even Arnold Bennett as a person.

I thought him extremely amusing and I had a grand time, but the idea of his being a Don Juan, or, as the former Mrs. Bennett infers, the kind of man at whom women threw themselves, is little less than comic. But I never knew him in his more youthful splendor.

But her eyes must have got a little accustomed to the brilliance for she makes her hero a very mortal mortal at times. On the memorable evening when George Doran, the American publisher, first dined with them to discuss publishing Bennett in America, through Arnold Bennett's carelessness in turning a wick of a lamp up instead of down much havoc was wrought. "He never admitted that he had turned the wick of the lamp himself. It was strange but my dear husband would not admit himself in the wrong, not even in a mere trifle." And again, she says, "It was not the fact of having to do what Arnold wished that made me rebel or hesitate, it was the dictatorial way he expressed himself. The tone of his voice was too dogmatic, to imperative."

Arnold Bennett was not the proud husband in his public treatment of his wife, it seems, for, she says: "Another idiosyncrasy was to refuse to take me to a public function. I was rarely to be seen with him at any shows except theatrical ones. He was for years asked out alone by many and he entertained many of his friends of both sexes in restaurants without me."

In another place she writes:

"No, he had not time for Marguerite, for his wife."

When she was doomed to an immediate operation in Paris—which she refused to have performed until after she had got him comfortably settled in their English house after a long trip—he sent her, with plenty of money, but utterly alone, across the channel to face the operation by herself and almost immediately upon her return to England went on a long cruise with friends and without her. It isn't—despite Marguerite's declarations of this book's being a token of her appreciation and admiration—an entirely admirable person that emerges from its pages.

"My Arnold Bennett" is written with such simplicity and such naïveté that is difficult to understand whether it is an ironic indictment of a very unsatisfactory husband or an illuminating picture of a genius.

About his trip to America she writes what is to me a priceless sentence: "It was a strenuous life for him, only made possible because he took two baths a day and was adulated by women." There is either a supreme and childlike simplicity in that sentence or it is the work of one of the great satirists of her day. What is true of that sentence is true of the whole volume. Either it is naïveté of the first water or incomparable irony. You take your choice—and in either case are for 165 pages vastly amused.

Good morning!
Georgie and Eddie decided one day
To go into partnership and make hey hey.
By just acting like loons,
This rare pair of buffoons
Reaped a very big harvest of bright ducatoons.

When Mr. Georgie Jessel calls Mr. Eddie Cantor his stooge and when the latter murmurs none too softly that Georgie doesn't smell any too sweet—why all is merry at the Chicago theater.

"Yes, we have no depression today!" sing all the Balabans and Katzes, for the aforementioned comedians in their stage act are bringing record breaking crowds to this cinema emporium.

What do the boys do? Why, Georgie takes off Eddie and Eddie indulges in blackouts, and they joke and joke and joke, and some of the jokes are funny and some are if you think they are, and in the last act they don kilties and, a la duet, caricature Harry Lauder and his works. Here they pull a wise crack that I thought in execrable taste. But that, of course, is just my idea.

Being no drama critic—on to the picture!

"Two Kinds of Women" is the story of a Broadway playboy and two women—one good and one bad—who come into his life. One he has married in a gin-blurred moment. The other—daughter of a strait-laced Montana senator—he craves to marry, and eventually—well, what do you suppose?

The acting is all good, but story and dialogue are far from hot. The film has some laughs, some suspense, some tragedy—of a sodden nature—and, because of its A1 cast, should prove good box office.

Once upon a time Marilyn Miller and Ben Lyon were "that way" in real life. Then Marilyn decided in favor of Jack Pickford while Ben discovered Bebe Daniels to be his ideal woman. Now Marilyn and Ben are seen romancing in a movie.

Pictures starring Miss Miller are always cut on the same pattern. She invariably Cinderellas at the start and queens at the finish. She's a Viennese bar girl at the beginning of "Her Majesty Love" [and I think that is a punk title], and a baroness by the time six reels have slipped by.

Those reels depict her love affair with a rich young Von Wellingen, whose multitudinous family threaten to throw him out of the ball bearing business that bears their honored name if he carries out his intention of wedding Lia of the Berlin café.

In a weak moment [and don't we all have 'em!] he accedes to their wishes—to repent soon and thoroughly. For, of that weak moment, much is bred. Didn't I tell you that Lia becomes a baroness? And is Von Wellingen a baron? No!

Ah, well, you'll see!

There's some rather nice music, and Ben and Marilyn sure do tango beautifully together. If the yarn and dialogue were as good as cast and direction—and music and tango—"Her Majesty Love" would be a humdinger. Unfortunately they're not.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

THE golden music of "Carmen" and the most famous Carmen of Europe as guest-artist to sing its principal rôle made a more than commonly attractive offering at the Civic Opera house last night.

It is not difficult to see why Mme Supervia has developed her European reputation in the rôle. In the first place she is Spanish, and is therefore able to put as much of Spain into the rôle as a French story, Prosper Mérimée's, a French libretto, and a French score will allow her. In the second, her voice is of exactly the right character and color to sing the music.

Her voice is mezzo-soprano, not of extreme weight, but suave and supple, and with unfailing warmth in its quality. Its character permits her to make love and fly into a rage with equal facility. For everything that Mme. Supervia sings in the opera is heavily underscored with sex, which, one seems to remember, was rather explicitly stated in the original story.

She excelled last night in the parts of the work which permitted her to exercise her undoubted charm, the Habanera, the Seguidilla, the first scene of the second act. These were delightfully sung and presented. Later, in her quarrel with Don José, there was a suspicion that her serious moments might not quite ascend the lofty peaks of tragedy. But there was enough in the beginning to identify her as an extremely pleasant and welcome guest-artist.

John Charles Thomas, who has been out of town for some weeks, returned to sing the part of Escamillo, and at the end of the Toreador song stopped the show with an emphasis and certainty such as it has seldom received in the past.

Because of the illness of René Maison, Antonio Cortis stepped in at short notice to sing Don José. It was some of the best singing he has done this season, and his best is uncommonly good, but in the readjustment from the change, or whatever reason there may have been, the matter of providing him with a well fitting costume was apparently overlooked. He really deserved a much better one.

Minneapolis Musicians and New Conductor Win Praise of Critic

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, now on tour from its native city, appeared at Orchestra hall last night, with its new conductor, Eugene Ormandy, in artistic command. He is both young and good.

In his early thirties, he has the gift of a memory which permits him to conduct without score. This is of less importance, however, than another fact, that he has definite ideas about how to make his music interesting and expert knowledge of how to reproduce his ideas through the instruments of the orchestra. An operatic assignment kept me from hearing his performance of Brahms' First Symphony, but Debussy's "The Afternoon of a Faun" had all the elusive, misty charm that one expects from it, and the suite from Stravinsky's "The Fire Bird" had color, pace, accent, and driving energy.

Mr. Ormandy has eloquence and style. One can expect him to be heard from.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra, Ebba Sundstrom, conductor, gave its third concert at the Goodman theater last night, playing Bossi's "Intermezzi Goldoniani" and the prize song from "Die Meistersinger," in memory of the late Mrs. A. J. Ochsner, followed by Glazounow's Fourth Symphony and other number of lighter character. William Miller, tenor, was the soloist, with Coleridge-Taylor's "Onaway! Awake, Beloved!" and a group of songs. E. M.

CALIFORNIA BIDS AGAIN FOR DARING SEEKERS AFTER GOLD

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Under the feet of a few thousand Californians there lies, supposedly within comparatively easy reach, virgin gold estimated by the state bureau of mines to be worth $600,000,000.

Taking cognizance of the increasing clamor for the precious metal, the bureau today summarized in that figure its idea of the amount of gold still within the grasp of casual prospectors and placer miners. Their ranks have been swelled by the unemployed.

To the $600,000,000 total the bureau added $900,000,000 as possibly approximating the value of recoverable gold in California remaining within the reach of quartz or "hard rock" miners, who must have capital to follow the precious veins 7,000 feet or more into the earth in order to produce profitably.

On top of these reports are figures from various government agencies showing the gold fields of the United States are capable of yielding an estimated maximum of $2,333,393,500 in the 22 year period ending in 1950.

Crowd Attends Radio Show on Opening Day

Television Progress Part of the Display.

The tenth annual Chicago Radio Electrical show opened at the Coliseum, 1600 South Wabash avenue, yesterday afternoon. Several thousand persons attended, watching television demonstrations and listening to radio artists broadcast over local stations from a studio in the hall.

Although the number of exhibitors is less than in previous years, the variety of radio sets on display is extensive, ranging in price from $30 to $300. Radio sets for airplanes and for automobiles are shown, and a number of radio appliances, including static eliminators, air cell batteries for use where electric power is not available, and instruments are on view.

The most interesting apparatus, however, shown is a household appliance that can do anything but whistle while it works, according to the exhibitors. They call the machine an "electro-mechanical labor eliminator," but it is better described as an electric housemaid.

This machine washes dishes, whips cream, makes toast, and cooks soup, has an electric vibrator for reducing its owner's weight, chops meat, irons, reams fruit, barbecues meat, and separates cream. When all of these operations have been completed it folds up and goes under the kitchen sink. And the machine competes with a human maid in price as well.

Speaking at the official opening of the show last night, United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson declared that police radio was directly responsible during 1931 for more than 1,000 arrests in Chicago and vicinity, 580 of which were on burglary charges. Miss Radio, who is Miss Janes Carpenter of station WBBM, and Miss Television, who is Miss Ruth Wenter of the NBC chain, were introduced. The program was broadcast.

A national meeting for radio merchants will be held at the Congress hotel this morning at 10 o'clock in connection with the show. The show will last until next Sunday.

A number of electric refrigerators are on exhibition with other household appliances. They, and a booth in which phonograph records of people's voices were made free of charge, attracted large numbers of showgoers. The world of radio workers was represented by two organizations, one of amateur radio operators who comprise a relay league covering the nation, the other an organization of radio "trouble shooters."

THE STAGE

"ZIEGFELD FOLLIES, 1931."

THE COMPANY.

Harry Richman — Jack Pearl
Wini Shaw — Faith Bacon
Hal Le Roy — Mitzi Mayfair
Milt Britton — Frank Britton
Cliff Hall — Jack Hubert
Gladys Glad — Rasch ballet and others.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

AND so another "Ziegfeld Follies" comes to town—the twenty-third in the series of brilliant and bountiful entertainments that began in 1907, renewing the rich tradition after a silent interval of four years. Like all, or nearly all, of its predecessors, it is a magnificent show, staged with opulent pageantry, lusty with humor, and gleaming with "glorified" girls. Its première at the Illinois theater last night was the customary Ziegfeld triumph.

Harry Richman is master of the revels; Gladys Glad and Faith Bacon are the leading beauties; Jack Pearl is the principal humorist in mangled English; Wini Shaw is the singer of sophisticated ballads, as successor to Helen Morgan. But these are familiar personalities; let's study the complex catalogue for new reputations.

Hal LeRoy and Mitzi Mayfair come under the heading of young blood—fresh discoveries of Ol' Massa Ziegfeld, who has been dredging theatrical geniuses out of obscurity for a quarter of a century. Their dancing is extraordinary, even for a "Follies."

Hal is a gangling, buck-toothed lad who can mix up his feet and legs in the furious, fantastic patterns that were characteristic of the late Jack Donahue. Mitzi is a small trick with a merry, comic mask who seems to be double-jointed at the knees, elbows, and wrists. They make their first hits alone, and then, in the second act, they join in a number called "Changing the Guard," which is one of the gayest scenes in the glittering spectacle.

Then for another surprise—and the chief laughing event of the program—there are the Brittons, Frank and Milt, plus their "gang." They seem to be merely another jazz band at first glance; and you sink down in your chair with resignation, saying, "Well, this may be the spot for a little nap." But when they have finished you are in the mood to cheer.

For this is a burlesque jazz band which soars to amazing heights of knockobut, gymnastic clowning. There have been many notable carnivals of slapstick fun in the "Follies" of the past, but this crazy, fiddle smashing, hell roaring act is the peer of them all.

A long, rough handed travesty of "Grand Hotel" starts the chuckling, immediately after the opening pageant which places Faith Bacon, tactfully nude, on a pedestal as the symbol of the cult of "glorification." Then the well balanced program runs along with typical Ziegfeldian suavity and pace. Its humor has vigor; its tableaux have glamour; its songs are briskly in the vogue. "Doing the New York," for example, is not only an effective bit of popular music in jazz time, but also a masterpiece of modern choreography, a highbrow fantasia in changing lights and rhythms that even Mary Wigman would admire.

The jungle scene should not be overlooked in this casual survey of the copious program. Ziegfeld always rises to Miltonic magnificence when he goes in for the primitive, and here his barbaric belles and savage dancers—the Albertina Rasch dancers—represent him at the peak of his florid style. The episode comes to its climax with the elephants of which you may have heard. There are three of these pachyderms, wagging their ears and winking their eyes as if alive, and each bears the gleaming, almost naked body of a Ziegfeldian nymph on its tusks. It is one of Ziegfeld's master strokes.

The "glorified" girls are as choice a troupe as I have ever seen in a "Follies" outside of New York. Maybe the depression, which Mr. Richman discusses with so much genial philosophy, has persuaded these sleek creatures to absent themselves from Broadway felicity for a while.

Gifts Lagging, Hungry Pupils' Fund Dwindles

Work in 211 Schools May Stop Next Month.

Those administering the Hungry School Children's fund to 211 public schools are wondering what is going to happen when the last of the fund has been spent the first part of February.

The fund is raised through the contributions of TRIBUNE readers. In the last weeks, however, these daily gifts have diminished, and although there have been special benefits the total has not been enough to guarantee the continuance of feeding needy children in the schools after January is over.

A little under $32,000 has been raised since the fund was started last fall. In a few weeks, none of this will be left. It is therefore urgent that those interested in the welfare of children who depend entirely on the Hungry School Children's fund for their heartiest meal every day, hasten to enlarge the balance now in the fund.

A total of $51.17 arrived yesterday. Although every dollar is gratefully received, that amount is scarcely enough to feed pupils in 211 schools.

$5—Anonymous, P. F. M., Mrs. Martin J. Isaacs.
$3—C. C. C.
$2.17—Employes of the State of Illinois to Governor's Unemployment Relief fund.
$2—Alma Feiter, Anonymous, "Snook."
$1—Miss D. F. E., W. L. Lee, Anonymous, Mrs. V. G. Burns, N. Davidson.

Total	$ 51.17
Previously acknowledged	31,825.19
Grand total	$31,876.36

Over 200 Meet Child Violinist Here for His Concert on Sunday

A reception committee of more than 200 persons greeted at the Illinois Central station yesterday Grisha Goluboff, 9 year old violinist, who will play as soloist with the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra Sunday. Heading the committee were Judge Harry M. Fisher, Judge Joseph Sabath, Barney Balaban, Ald. Jacob M. Arvey, Max Shulman, and Rabbi Saul Silber.

The child violinist was accompanied by his father, Maxim Goluboff, and carried his cherished instrument, a $52,000 Joseph Guarnerius del Gezu violin, used by Fritz Kreisler for several years, and loaned for Sunday's performance. The boy prodigy never receives fees for his performances, his appearances having been limited to benefits. He, as well as stars of the Chicago Civic opera, will offer his services for the benefit of the Hebrew Theological college.

Frat Control of Politics Threatens Campus Revolt

Dentists Using Forceps Now for Art Work

Tell Here How Patients Improve.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

DENTISTRY always has had its ethics. Now it has its esthetics as well. And so important a phase of the profession is this comparatively recent development conceded to be that it is occupying much time and territory these days at the Stevens hotel. There thousands of doctors of dental science, both from this country and from Canada, are inspecting exhibits and listening to discussion of the sixty-eighth annual meeting of the Chicago Dental society.

Toothaches always have been with us, but the technique of treatment has changed utterly since the days when prehistoric man nursed a jumpy molar for the first time. There are countries where the cure still is as bad, if not worse, than the ailment, but not in America under the methods described last night at the opening meeting by Dr. V. P. Blair of St. Louis. Dr. Blair is both a dentist and a doctor of medicine, and in addition is a specialist in plastic surgery.

Take his description of the process now utilized when an individual has to lose all his teeth. As far as the world knows, providing he has a good dentist who keeps abreast of the times, he still has his original teeth after the operation.

There is never the slightest outward indication of any change in the patient's dentistry. No sunken jaws and toothless gums; no weeks of waiting for soreness to disappear and gums to shrink, and a new plate to be constructed and fitted.

"All perfect nonsense," is Dr. Blair's way of viewing such proceedings. "Nature put a covering over those gums—so we do the same. Nature never meant food to be crushed up against that tender portion of the mouth, nor for those gums to shrink. We keep a protective covering of artificial dentures over them always."

What happens is this, he explained. The prospective patient is first photographed, full face. Then the contour of his face is taken by molding wire down his forehead, the bridge of his nose, across his lips and chin. Then a plaster mold is taken of his features. Impressions of all his teeth are taken. All these permanent records are then filed away for future reference. The patient may move from Chicago to New York, but the eastern dentist can still obtain these records and manufacture for him a perfect set of teeth.

When the work is started, the teeth are removed from the back, four at a sitting, until only the six frontal molars are left, upper and lower. Partial dentures have been fitted over the back of the mouth as soon as the teeth are removed. These are worn for about a month. Then one morning the dentist takes another impression of those frontal teeth, and that afternoon he makes up a practically perfect copy, shaped and tinted exactly to resemble the original.

Next morning when his patient is put in the chair, the dentist removes the frontal teeth, slips in the denture he has ready, and nobody is the wiser.

A few weeks later, the entire plate having been constructed, it is adjusted in the mouth, and so excellent is the shaping and the coloring that even another dentist could easily be fooled into believing them genuine, barring examination.

"Consider that in view of the days when a dentist used to measure one's jaw, and then just make up as many teeth as he judged would fit in to replace the old ones," Dr. Blair laughed.

At last night's session Dr. Blair displayed lantern slides and moving pictures demonstrating the newest methods of building up jaws and faces where plastic surgery is necessitated by congenital, traumatic or other causes. Surgery to cure cancer of the mouth, displacements from fractures, loss of tissue from disease, and other factors are now treated by him and his associates in such a way as to restore the normal appearance and give the patient the maximum use of jaw or cheek.

His discussion emphasized the understanding there should be between the dentist and the surgeon in such cases, to assure the patient the greatest benefit from such treatment.

Dr. Hugo G. Fisher, chairman of the public service committee of the Chicago Dental society, announced last night a plan by which the indigent and unemployed may receive needed dental attention. By arrangement with the Council of Social Agencies, he stated, those needing such attention will be given a card to the University of Illinois dental college or the Northwestern University Dental school, where they will receive the service free. Materials used by the dentists will be paid for at cost prices by the Joint Emergency Relief fund. All the service will be donated by the members of the organization.

"This service," Dr. Fisher said, "must not be taken as a mere gesture. It is meant to be a serious and earnest offer of our members to unfortunate society at this time and we expect every member of the society to share in the obligation."

Among points emphasized yesterday at table clinics held in connection with the meeting was the fact that persons having a full set of false teeth should not for that reason neglect their regular visits to the dentist.

Opera Is Too Realistic, Lawrence Tibbett Injured

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Lawrence Tibbett, after dying with his boots on in the season's first performance of "Peter Ibbetson" at the Metropolitan, tonight reached his dressing room to find himself wounded and bleeding. Once last year the baritone cut his hand in breaking the window to call for help in his scuffle with Edward Johnson as the younger Ibbetson. Tonight the falling glass struck Tibbett's shoe and one sharply pointed knife-like fragment pierced the leather and severed a vein of the foot at the instep.

Use Brains Before You Wed and Avoid Sorrow Afterward

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Dr. Sidney A. Cook, professor of psychology at New Jersey College for Women advises: "Use your mind when choosing mate!"

Sez you and me and a couple of other people: "Good doctor, where do you get that mind to use when you are in love?"

But we'd better not interrupt until we hear all Dr. Cook has to say. "The mental element," he tells, "is vitally important in marriage." He adds words to the effect that emotions are all very well for the first lap or two on the matrimonial career, but you have to have something to talk about, also. So, if you can turn your heart into an adding machine for a pre-marriage moment and compute whose qualities and ideas best conform to your own, you are in a fair way to marriage success. Fairer, anyway, than if you let your heart run away with your head completely.

It's a perfectly good piece of advice, too, if you can apply it. Those long, cold winter evenings before the burning fire must have mental compatability to see them through. And one of the things that pre-marriageites rarely ever think of are the evenings and Sundays to be spent together when the keen edge of emotion has been rubbed off with the routine of every day living.

But we say, try and turn the heart into a computing machine! Dr. Cook isn't the first man to suggest the formula for a happy golden anniversary. It just doesn't seem to work, somehow. One's mentality seems to go off on a spree when the heart is inflated. They are the east and west that miss meeting by a good many brain waves.

Not that we wish to disparage the good doctor's advice, but love being what it is on the brain, we hold out more hope for the use of brains after the deed is done. It may be too late to catch up on all of the emotional mistakes, but many of them have been righted by calling on the latent brain force and putting it to work.

I speak with the authority of the thousands of confessions that have been offered me on how marriages escaped near ruin. Brain after brain after brain has been put to work to salvage threatened romances and the successes reported prove that the mind is a reliable old friend and critic.

I think that's a grand age for your boy companion.

Ungentlemanly Conduct.

"Dear Miss Blake: I went to a dance with two boys but neither danced nor talked to me all evening. Should I continue to go with them?" "BROKEN HEARTED."

Most certainly not!

Mrs. Bevans Tells How Mothers May Deal with "Awful Little Liars"

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: My child is an awful liar—what shall I do? I spank him and it does no good."

Here is another request for help, with the victim giving no clew. Why do children lie? There are imaginative lies and boasting lies, and lies due to fear, and imitative lies.

Take the last first. Sometimes children lie because they see their parents do not respect the truth and they are merely imitating. If a child hears his father or mother saying things he knows are not true, he will not respect the truth.

If he hears his mother tell social "white lies" it is difficult for him to make the distinction between the lies of varying shades, from white to black, between those harmless social lies we sometimes have to tell to those which indicate less desirable qualities of character.

Perhaps, with stern parents, lies are told to escape punishment. If retribution is dire, children may fear it so much that they are driven to escape it by not telling the truth. Of course, we cannot expect parents to reward a child for not telling the truth about doing a forbidden thing, but we should try not to make truth telling too difficult or beyond his powers.

Then, to find still other reasons for lying, we can, of course, go back to one of the sources of much behavior difficulty—the desire to be a little bigger than we are, a little more important than we are, a compensating instinct children have. And we find them "telling stories" which in their exaggeration lend a pleasant and exciting importance to their small exploits.

The imaginative lies are not really lies at all, but only combinations of fact and fancy. The best way to treat these stories is as stories—an interested attitude and the implied assumption that of course they are amusing and exciting, conveying by your attitude that they are narratives and not explanations of actual happenings.

How Do Chorus Girls Manage?

The theatre knows no "sick list." Chorus girls just can't be "absent." Regardless of their monthly sickness, they must be in line, on time, on their toes, and smiling. How do they do it? Nature doesn't spare them. They menstruate, of course; but stop the pain for hours at a stretch by the use of a perfectly harmless medicine called Midol.

It acts in seven minutes. Relief is complete. The pain is gone. You menstruate in comfort. Midol is not a narcotic and offers no interference with nature. All druggists; ask simply for Midol.

Night Coughs

require something more than ordinary remedies. Piso's is especially good for night coughs. Clings to your throat better than a gargle. Checks the cough spasm, opens the air passages and you get a good night's sleep. Safe even for babies—contains no opiates—does not upset the stomach.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

"The best laid plans of mice and men——" O, well, you know the rest of it. Regardless of how exactly a partnership may place all the aces and kings in their own hands; regardless of how soundly they may bid, the addition of distribution may disturb the most conservative and proper of bids.

In yesterday's play-a-problem North and South held all the aces and kings in the pack and they bid a little slam—quite properly. Any fair player would, I believe, have bid the small slam. And yet it took a great deal more than a fair player to make six-odd. This was the hand:

NORTH (Dealer)
♥—9,2
♦—K,J,9

WEST
♠—Q,J,6,2
♥—8,7,6
♦—Q
♣—Q,8,6,5,4

EAST
♠—10
♥—Q,J,10,5,4,3
♦—7,4,3,2

SOUTH
♠—K,7,5,4
♥—A,K
♦—A,10,8,6,5

North dealt and bid a club. East passed. South took out with two diamonds. This is a bid of one more than necessary for the take-out and, hence, is a jump shift bid (a game demand take-out showing at least 3½ high card tricks). West passed. Now North, knowing his partner must have 3½ high card tricks, and holding the same number himself, knew that there were seven between the two hands and therefore felt very sure that at least a small slam could be made. He now bid two spades. East passed. South now bid two no-trumps. West passed. North can pretty well place South with the two top hearts since it would be very difficult in view of North's own holding for South to have his 3½ high card tricks without holding the top hearts. North now bid four diamonds to show South the diamond support which had not previously been shown. East passed. South bid four no-trumps. West passed, and North jumped to six, which ended the bidding.

West opened the ♣ 5, North played the 3, East the J, and South the 2. East returned the ♥ Q, which declarer took with the K. South now led the ♦ 5 to dummy's ♦ K, and led the ♦ J from the dummy. To the next trick South led the ♦ 9 from the dummy, overtaking with the ♦ 10 in his own hand. He then cashed in the ♦ A and followed by the ♦ 8. Next South led the ♥ A (note this play, as we will refer to it later on). Now South led the ♠ 4 to dummy's A and led back the ♠ 9 from dummy and overtook with the ♠ K in his own hand. He then led the good ♠ 7 and next the ♠ 5. South then took the thirteenth trick by leading his ♣ 10 to dummy's A for the little slam bid and made.

The squeeze play was developed at trick No. 8 and was made possible by allowing the first club to hold. Had West opened a spade instead of a club, there would have been no difficulty whatsoever in making the contract, as the ♠ K would take the first trick, East's 10 falling. A spade return would give South three spades, two hearts, five diamonds, and two clubs—twelve tricks in all.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S. 3, H. K, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

$750.00 Cash Offered For Name of Movie Actress

Reward Will Be Paid Everyone Who Submits Most Suitable Name

From Hollywood comes an extraordinary announcement. A movie actress is in need of a name, and $750.00 in cash will be paid for the best suggestion. You can give her yours, or any other name you think of, it may mean $750.00 to you.

This movie actress, whom you have probably seen on the screen of your favorite motion picture theatre, is the beautiful Helen Mann. Like most of the stars, she prefers to use a name other than her own, and in order to help her obtain it, $750.00 in cash is offered to anyone who is quick in sending in the name selected. Miss Mann's publicity director says, "Most any name may win." It may be your very own, a name of a friend or relative, or a coined name made up by you. Readers of this announcement are urged to send their suggestions for a name at once, because $250.00 extra will be given the winner if name is mailed and postmarked before January 24, 1932. Just make it easy to pronounce and easy to remember. But send it right away, or you may be late for the promptness prize.

All entries must be sent to the Publicity Director's office, E. A. Williams, Studio AA370, 1023 N. Sycamore Ave., Hollywood, California. Only one suggestion for a name should be submitted by each contestant. Everyone is invited to submit a name, and in case of ties, duplicate awards will be given. Officials say that any name may win the $750.00, even if submitted on a post card or scrap of paper. If you can use $750.00, here is an opportunity to get it. Send your suggestion at once. — Adv.

Potter Palmer, Third, to Wed in East Feb. 6

THE Potter Palmers and undoubtedly quite a few other prominent Chicagoans will be going to Boston early next month for the wedding there on Saturday, Feb. 6, of Miss Rose Saltonstall Movius and Potter Palmer III. The ceremony is to be read at 12:30 o'clock at the First Unitarian church in Chestnut Hill by the Rev. Dr. William Greenough Thayer, former headmaster of St. Mark's school, where young Mr. Palmer and Miss Movius' brother, George, attended school. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dan Huntington Fenn, will assist.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the residence of Mrs. Richard Middlecott Saltonstall in Chestnut Hill. The list of bridesmaids and ushers is not yet complete, but Miss Dorothy West of Chestnut Hill is to be maid of honor for her cousin and Gordon Palmer, now attending St. Mark's, is to be his brother's best man. Miss Movius is the daughter of Mrs. Alice L. West Movius and Hallam L. Movius, both of Boston, and is as prominent socially in Boston as Mr. Palmer is in Chicago, so it goes without saying that the wedding will be one of the most important of the season in the eastern city. Mr. Palmer's sister, Mrs. Oakleigh Thorne Lewis [Bertha Palmer], and her husband, who are at Sarasota, Fla., for the winter, will go to Boston for the wedding and its attendant festivities.

The Friends of Opera will have to find a larger place for their musicals next year if the affairs increase in popularity, it would seem, for at all three of the musicals this winter the Drake ballroom has been so crowded that it did not look as if there were room for one more in the appreciative audience.

At yesterday's affair, the last of the sort this year although the organization will continue to have meetings for the rest of the season, a delightful program was given by Mme. Lotte Lehmann, Chase Baromeo and Charles Hackett, and although "no encores" was on the programs, underlined, all three artists were applauded until they did sing encores.

After the program tea was served. Among those in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, she had arranged the program; Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Arthur Meeker Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher M. Durbin and Miss Elinor Durbin, Mrs. Albert M. Wolfe, Miss Peggy Hambleton, Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. Francis J. Johnson, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Arthur A. Small, Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Mrs. Lewis L. Coburn, Mrs. John W. Kendrick, Mrs. Tracy C. Drake, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mrs. C. Morse Ely, Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, and Mrs. Eugene Wheeler.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Borden had to hurry away from the musical immediately after the program to attend a meeting at the Casino of the committee in charge of the French-American benefit to be given Sunday afternoon at the Erlanger theater. Mrs. Johnson presided at the meeting and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf acted as a sort of hostess, greeting the committee members as they came in, among them being Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. William H. Bush, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. Moise Dreyfus, Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. William A. Yager, M. Bougereal, the French consul, Ira Nelson Morris, and several members of the French colony. Tickets for the benefit, which will be given by Maurice Chevalier, assisted by Jacques Fray and Mario Braggiotti, may be obtained from the French consul or from the headquarters of the committee, room 718 at the Ambassador hotel.

There are one or two boxes left, a few main floor seats, and quite a few in the balcony. Miss Barbara Wendell, one of the younger girls assisting the committee, has sold quite a number of tickets for balcony seats to some of her friends who will give leap year parties and invite escorts for the occasion.

Philadelphia Artist Finds Welcome Among Chicagoans.

No attractive young man who comes to town, knowing or bringing a letter of introduction to some one "in the know," needs to have many meals alone, for society's smartest hostesses always are most hospitable and cordial to the strangers who come here. Howard A. Patterson, the young Philadelphia artist, who now lives in Santa Fé, and is here this week for the opening of his exhibition of paintings and water colors at the Arts club this afternoon, is being entertained extensively during his brief stay here.

Tonight Mrs. Howard Linn is giving a dinner and opera box party for him; tomorrow she and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable will be hostesses at quite a large luncheon at the Arts club for him; Thursday he will be Mrs. Waller Borden's guest at dinner, and Friday he will dine with Mrs. Walter S. Brewster. Mrs. Patterson [neé Perrigo] is a former Chicagoan, but is not with her husband on this visit.

Paintings and drawings by Charles Sheeler and paintings by André Bauchant also will be opened at the Arts club tea this afternoon.

Another young man who is being entertained a lot during his stay in Chicago is the Count René d'Harnoncourt, who will talk this afternoon on "The Human Background of Mexican Popular and Modern Art" at Le Petit Gourmet, 619 North Michigan avenue, under the auspices of Fred Leighton's Indian Trading Post. Mrs. Nathaniel Owings and Mrs. Walter Paepcke will pour at the tea which will follow the talk.

Members of the University club and their ladies will have a thrilling evening tonight at the club when Frank Buck, famous zoölogical collector, will tell tales of the capture of dangerous animals for zoos. His subject will be "Bring 'Em Back Alive." The talk will follow dinner in Cathedral hall.

The Junior Friends of Art will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the French room of the Drake. Mrs. Howard L. Willett will read from "Mourning Becomes Electra" and Mrs. Arthur Friedlund will sing.

Japanese Count-Banker Will Speak Here on Saturday.

Count Aisuke Kabayama and Takashi Komatsu will speak on "Japan's Position in Manchuria" at a luncheon to be given by the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations on Saturday at 12:30 o'clock at the Palmer house. Count Kabayama is a member of the Japanese house of peers, president of the Japan Steel works, president of the Taisho bank, and vice president of the America-Japan society of Tokio. He was adviser to the Japanese delegation at the London naval conference in 1930. Mr. Komatsu is managing director of the Asano Shipbuilding company. In 1922-'23 he was attached to the Japanese delegation at the Washington conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Goddard departed on Saturday for their annual winter holiday at Coronado Beach, Cal.

Mrs. Jay Morse Ely and her small daughter, Nancy, who has recovered from the pneumonia she contracted shortly after Christmas, are with Mrs. Ely's mother, Mrs. John H. Hamline, in Lake Forest, and will not return to their Georgia residence until early next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Zabriskie of Aurora-on-Cayuga are visiting Mrs. Zabriskie's mother, Mrs. Sumner T. Everingham, at the Churchill.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Primley of Hubbard Woods have returned from New York, where they visited Mrs. Primley's sister, Mrs. Cornelius Piers, and attended the wedding of Mrs. Primley's niece, Miss Constance Kearns, and Samuel Reta Walker on Jan. 8. En route home the Primleys visited another sister, Mrs. R. A. Lovelace, in Montreal.

Famous Circus Finished.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Bostock and Wombwell's royal menagerie has given its last performance and today the management of the century-old circus was shipping hundreds of wild animals and birds on their last ride to the Zoölogical society's spacious new park at Whipsnade, Bedfordshire.

PLAN CHEVALIER BENEFIT

Movie Gossip as It's Heard in Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18.—Under his movie contract with Fox, Will Rogers receives more than $600,000 a year. Under his contract to write daily for newspapers, Rogers received something like $3,000 a week. Yet, much to Hollywood's agitation, Rogers' friends say he prefers the newspaper job, and has been talking to them about quitting films and devoting himself to being "the world's airplane reporter."

Even while Rogers is rushing home to resume film work, so as to bolster the Fox company's box office returns [on the Fox company's urgent request], Rogers' friends say he is mulling over the idea of establishing himself in London, or Paris, and flying here and there, wherever events of world interest begin to happen, so as to cable his low down on events back to the newspaper public in America.

It was this kind of a hankering which put Rogers in the mood for his trip to the Manchurian fighting area, and it was a similar hankering to translate international events into homely American words that spurred Will to his aerial jaunts into Mexico in previous years.

Sewell Avery, J. P. Wilson Field Museum Trustees

Sewell L. Avery, industrial and civic leader, and Attorney John P. Wilson were elected trustees of the Field Museum of Natural History at the annual meeting yesterday. According to Stephen C. Simms, museum director, they will fill vacancies caused by the recent death of R. T. Crane Jr. and the resignation of William Wrigley Jr. Stanley Field was re-elected president of the museum for the twenty-fourth time. Others re-elected are Martin A. Ryerson, A. A. Sprague, and James Simpson, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Mr. Simms, and Solomon A. Smith, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. David Torrey Wells have come from their country place at Cold Spring Harbor to the Park Avenue club.

Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin and Miss Hope Iselin have been passing a week with relatives of Mrs. Iselin at Providence and will return next week to their country home at Glen Head.

Paris Evening Gown Shows Personality Plus

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Personality clothes that are good citizens, obeying all the rules of current fashions aren't easy to find even in Paris, where styles are turned out by the minute. Personality clothes so easily get too personal and seem bizarre, thus breaking the rules of good dressing. No really smart woman wants to look like a picture out of an old fashioned album, nor does she care to be remarked for what she wears apart from her own sweet self. These are unbreakable rules in the code of chic.

Therefore the personality frock has a narrow row to hoe if it is going to be introduced into smart society, and for this reason the illustrated Philippe et Gaston evening dress is one of the successful style débutantes of the winter season. It has personality plus without outraging any of the strict rules of good taste.

This dress is made of black pile velvet and it is a fitted princess frock of the utmost simplicity and becomingness, being draped gracefully toward the back at waistline and hips. It is around the neckline that this dress gets personal, or I should say around the shoulders, where a perky circular ruffle is made to stand erect because it is lined with orange taffeta. Taffeta lined ruffles edge the miniature sleeves, too.

More personality is gained by the velvet lacing down the back to the waistline, and by the orange taffeta lined ruffles that cascade down the back of the skirt from this lacing. This is the kind of frock that happens seldom and is a star among evening styles.

Antoinette Gives Tips on Makeup to Middle Aged Woman

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Women have learned pretty well the fact that dressing their own age instead of stealing their deb daughters' style turns them out smarter looking persons. They have learned this since the demise of the bobbed hair, short skirted era, particularly. At that time the one who arose first in the a. m., mother or daughter, could have grabbed the dress and worn it. But mamma has taken on more dignity, sartorially speaking, of recent times.

She still has a lesson to learn about makeup and her age, however. What's ripe for her 17 year old's lips may be slightly decayed fruit for her own. Rather, it brings out the disparity between real and imitation youth. There are certain lipstick shades and certain ways of applying them that look pert on the young miss, but on the older women look awful.

I saw an example just yesterday. A woman obviously close to the 50 line had lips and rouge of an unholy red. Instead of a youthifying effect, every line in the face and neck stood out like sign posts.

On eyeshadow, perhaps, the older woman has to bring her best sense to bear, so that she doesn't drown her eyes in a sea of crinkled lids and crow's feet. Striking effects are not for the older woman unless she is one of those rare characters who has struck a pact with youth somewhere along the line and held to it in spite of the years and troubles of life.

The older woman's makeup rôle is the rôle of subtety, or she is better without any. Around the eyes, especially! Ever so light a touch of blue eye shadow and ever so light a touch of blue makeup on the lashes may be tried if the hair is white [or light] and the skin and eyes are not age dimmed. The very chic older woman may even try a bit of green on her eyelid, or a silvery blue or mauve.

With rouge she must exercise a restraining hand. A rouge of the petunia shade is a good tone to adopt. Then, apply it most lightly! Or, if the skin is sallow, a slightly brighter tone may be used. Soft peach, apricot, medium rachel, these are the powder shades least startling and usually best on the older skin.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Peggy, aged 8, had been naughty and her father had to scold her before he went to work.

On his return in the evening, Peggy called with frigid politeness, "Mother, you husband's home." C. J. H.

After a rather lengthy study of his catechism lesson, Bobby, nearly 7, asked: "Dad, won't it be rather exciting when I am 7 years old and able to commit sins?" L. O. N.

MOTHER OF 7-STILL YOUNG

Her system doesn't stagnate; her face doesn't age. She has the health and "pep" that come from a lively liver and strong, active bowels.

When you're sluggish and the system needs help, don't take a lot of "patent medicines." There's a famous doctor's prescription for just such cases, and every druggist keeps this standard preparation. It is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a little every day or so, until every organ in your body feels the big improvement.

The next time you have a bilious headache, or feel all bound-up, take this delicious syrup instead of the usual cathartic. You'll be rid of all that poisonous waste, and you haven't weakened the bowels. You'll have a better appetite, and feel better in every way. The constant use of cathartics is often the cause of a sallow complexion and lines in the face. And so unnecessary!

Would you like to break yourself of the cathartic habit? At the same time building health and vigor that protects you from frequent sick spells, headaches, and colds? Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin today. Use it often enough to avoid those attacks of constipation. When you feel weak and run-down, or a coated tongue or bad breath warns you the bowels need stimulating. Give it to the children instead of stronger laxatives that sap their strength. It isn't expensive.

The germs that start winter ills are almost always with us, but it is when our vitality and resistance are low that they get the upper hand.

In each Adex Tablet you get as much of Vitamins A and D as you do in one-half teaspoonful of Squibb Cod-Liver Oil, long famous as a health-builder.

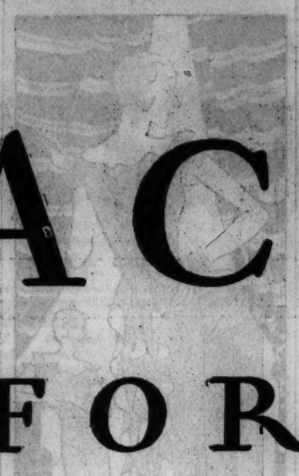
PACKARD

FOR 1932



IN announcing its program for 1932, Packard has been conscious of the desirability for stabilization. In presenting now its plans for the year, it hopes to dispel uncertainty — at least insofar as Packard is concerned — as to later developments.

Toward that end it is announcing now two new lines of cars for delivery shortly — the Twin Six and the Light Eight. These new lines will be in addition to Packard's present, very popular Standard Eight and Eight DeLuxe models, and with them will completely cover the fine car field in all price ranges from $1750 upward.

Prices have been established on its entire four lines of cars so low that only an anticipated increase in volume can justify them. Packard expects to supply no other models of these cars before the close of the year and any price changes are more likely to be upward than down.

Alvan Macauley

President—PACKARD MOTOR CAR COMPANY

FOUR LUXURIOUS LINES OF PACKARD CARS AT FOUR DISTINCT RANGES OF PRICE

The Twin Six

The supremely luxurious Packard Twin Six is a new and sensational achievement embodying sixteen years of continuous experience with twelve-cylinder designs. It is offered in two wheelbase lengths — 142 and 147 inches — with a wide range of standard and individual custom bodies. Chassis include Packard's New Synchro-mesh Transmission, quiet in all three speeds, Finger Control Free-Wheeling and Ride Control, the original system of dash-adjustable shock absorbers. When you consider the performance possibilities of the conservatively rated and economically developed 150 horsepower of the new Twin Six you will be surprised at its price.

FACTORY PRICES

The Eight De Luxe

The new Packard Eight De Luxe is the companion car to the superb new Twin Six. It is the supreme development of Packard's ten years of straight-eight engineering and will continue to rank as the world's finest eight-cylinder car. Like the Twin Six it is offered on chassis of 142 and 147 inch wheelbase and with a wide choice of standard and individual custom bodies available. With its new features — Sychro-mesh Transmission, quiet in all three speeds, and Finger Control Free-Wheeling, both available as optional equipment at no extra cost — it brings luxurious transportation in a greatly enhanced degree to the discriminating Packard clientele.

FACTORY PRICES

The Standard Eight

The famous Packard Standard Eight, the most popular, widely acclaimed Packard car in history, is available as in the past in thirteen beautiful models on 130 and 137 inch chassis. Now, with Synchro-mesh Transmission, quiet in all three speeds, and Finger Control Free-Wheeling, both optional at no extra cost, it becomes an even greater and more outstanding value in the fine car field than ever before. Automatic chassis lubrication and Ride Control add to its riding ease. Complete body insulation excludes noise and temperature, prevents the development of squeaks and rattles. A distinguished car for those whose motoring standards are high.

FACTORY PRICES

The Light Eight

The new Light Eight — Packard in design, Packard in quality and, therefore Packard in name — is offered in four large, beautiful, completely modern models, all on a chassis of 128 inch wheelbase, with eight-in-line motor of 110 horsepower, Angleset Rear Axle and the new double drop frame. Like all current model Packard cars, the new Light Eight provides Synchro-mesh Transmission, quiet in all three speeds, and Finger Control Free-Wheeling. Thousands who have long desired the luxury of Packard transportation can now enjoy it, for the Packard Light Eight costs no more to buy or to operate than cars providing far less in size, performance, prestige and pride of ownership.

FACTORY PRICES

You are cordially invited to inspect the Packard Twin Six and Light Eight which will be exhibited at the Chicago Automobile Show, and the Individual Custom Bodies mounted on both the DeLuxe Eight and Twin Six chassis which will be exhibited at the Drake Salon from January 30th to February 6th

THURNBLAD AND LAYTON WIN AS TOURNEY OPENS

Cue Veterans Rout Westhus, Kenney.

Today's Matches

AFTERNOON.
1:30—Otto Reiselt vs. J. N. Bozeman.
3:00—Allen Hall vs. F. Scoville.

NIGHT.
7:30—Augie Kieckhefer vs. Gus Copulos.
9:00—Jake Schaefer vs. Tiff Denton.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Two old war horses of the billiard game, Art Thurnblad of Chicago, the world's champion, and Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., a former world's champion, rolled along to easy victories as the world's championship three-cushion billiard tournament opened last night.

Two young bucks, Bud Westhus of St. Louis, a stranger to world title competition, and Len Kenney of Chicago, fell before the masterful shots of the two old timers. They were so badly beaten before the games were half way along that there wasn't even a climax when Champion Thurnblad and ex-Champion Layton wrapped up their cues and put them to bed for the night.

Layton Displays Old Form.

Thurnblad opened the tournament, which is being held at Mussey's rooms at 131 South Wabash avenue, by beating Westhus, 50 to 32, in 65 innings. Layton, playing like the champion of old, made shots that had the spectators up and cheering and stamping their feet even though it is not quite ethical to whistle and to stamp one's feet on the floor of a billiard match. He beat Kenney, 50 to 27, in 36 innings.

There was just one incident to mar the opening and to make the billiard fans of yesterday shudder in their embarrassment. Young Mr. Westhus of St. Louis, who has been polishing off all the good pool and billiard players way down in Arkansas where the southwest begins and who never had looked at a world's champion, insisted on smoking cigarets and chewing gum while he was engaged in his match with Champion Thurnblad.

Lights Another Torch.

Young Mr. Westhus observed the ruling by applying a lighter to a fresh toch and ripping open an untouched package of chewing gum. It made Champion Thurnblad and Referee Cutler furious. But no strong men were called in to toss the incorrigible St. Louis lad, who was a football player, out of the bowl around which some 700 spectators were draped.

So the match went along. Thurnblad turned in a run of seven in the 14th inning and romped into a 11 to 9 lead. In the sixteenth inning he clicked off five more billiards and in the 34th inning got a cluster of six, taking a 27 to 22 lead. It was just a question of how much he would win by from there until the finish.

Along about the 40th inning Westhus agreed to quit smoking, but he rolled his gum around from one molar to another.

Layton Becomes Favorite.

Thurnblad wasn't so hot. Maybe the cigaret and the gum in Westhus' corner had upset him. But finally in the 65th inning he scored his victory over Westhus.

Layton, by winning from Kenney in 36 innings, gave warning that he's the player to beat in this tournament. He wound up with the high run of the night, clicking off eight billiards and most of them were difficult shots. One was a lucky kiss which kept him going in the 26th inning. This gave him a lead of 39 to 20, and while Kenney made numerous difficult shots from there until the finish he could never get near the Missouri red head. In the 36th inning Layton ended it when he scored with an around the table shot off the red ball.

Layton is going to be hard to beat. As a result of his brilliant play he became the 5 to 2 tournament favorite. Allen Hall, who had been the choice and who plays his first game this afternoon, was quoted at 3 to 1.

FISHING TACKLE MAKERS TO HEAR FISH, GAME BILL

Hawes to Speak on New Measure Today.

BY BOB BECKER.

Members of the Fishing Tackle Manufacturers' institute who are in Chicago for their annual meeting at 10 o'clock this morning will hear about a new bill recently introduced in congress to provide more fishing, when Senator Harry B. Hawes of Missouri addresses them on the so-called "coördination" bill.

Although the tackle manufacturers are meeting primarily to stage their annual "style show" of new lures and discuss problems of their industry, Senator Hawes' arrival to be the featured speaker on the program threatens to make the question of more fishing and conservation predominant.

Urges Support on Bill.

The coördination bill sponsored by Senator Hawes and his colleague, Senator Frederic C. Walcott, chairman of the senate's special committee on conservation of wild life resources, is one that every outdoor lover and sportsman in the middle west should want to support Senator Hawes said yesterday, because it calls upon every department of the government to coördinate its efforts in the production of fish and wild game and the establishment of adequate supplies of wild life of all kinds.

Incidentally, the bill has as one of its main objectives the elimination of wasteful and ineffective duplication of effort and expense between the several departments of the federal government having to do with our outdoor resources.

"We ought to have a department of conservation," said Senator Hawes yesterday in discussing the bill, which already has received the approval of the Izaak Walton league. "But this is no time to establish a new department. This bill doesn't cost a dollar, but it does direct practically every department of the government to do its bit for conservation. Moreover, by demanding correlation and the most economical conduct of wild life research and the elimination of a lot of expensive duplication of effort, it will provide for more game and fish and a nation-wide program of wild life conservation and rehabilitation without setting up any more bureaus and increasing government expense.

"We have approximately 13,000,000 men and women who take out hunting and fishing licenses every year. They spend around $650,000,000 for their sport. Therefore, it seems that we should be making a concerted effort to maintain this outdoor resource."

Briefly the so-called coördination bill directs the secretary of agriculture, the secretary of commerce, the biological survey, the bureau of fisheries, the bureau of reclamation and other bureaus and departments to get together on how impounded waters in government projects may be utilized to produce the largest amount of fish, how government lands may be used for both fish and game, how Indian reservations may be handled to make their contribution to our outdoor life resources, and parks and other areas may through coöperation be administered for the most extensive recreational uses of the public.

FT. WAYNE PRO FIVE TO INVADE BRUINS' COURT

With their series standing at one victory and one defeat apiece, the Chicago Bruins and the Ft. Wayne Hoosiers will meet in the deciding match of the three game set Thursday night at the Rainbo fronton.

Early in the season the Hoosiers defeated the Bruins at Ft. Wayne, but the Chicagoans evened matters with an 18 to 14 victory later on the north side.

Both teams will present the same lineups that faced each other in the first two games. The Fort Wayne lineup is composed of Saunders and Husta at forwards, Chadwick at center and Meyers and Shimek at guards.

The Bruins will have Murphy at center, Bramhall and Skurnick at forwards and Miller and Barek at the guards.

In the preliminary game Thursday night the Lake View Night School and the Edgewater Presbyterians, two undefeated fives, will meet.

Ted Lyons and Sam Jones Sign 1932 Sox Contracts

Two more athletes who will wear the White Sox regalia during the coming summer slipped into the fold yesterday. J. Louis Comiskey, the club president, announced that the signed contract of Ted Lyons had been received from Vinton, La. From Woodsfield, O., came word that Sam Jones, the veteran obtained from Washington, had dropped his signed papers into the mail. Both are pitchers.

British Accept U. S. Walker Cup Golf Bid

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—In spite of rumors to the contrary, the Walker cup matches which bring the leading amateur golfers of the United States and Great Britain into competition every two years will be held this summer as usual.

Cables from London today brought word that the Royal and Ancient club of St. Andrews, ruling body of golf in Great Britain, had decided to accept the invitation of the United States Golf association to send a Walker cup team to the United States in spite of financial difficulties. These, it was reported some days ago, might lead to the abandonment of plans to hold the matches this summer.

Ouimet to Lead U. S.

Word of acceptance by the British club will enable the golf authorities on this side of the Atlantic to go ahead with plans for the matches which have been held in abeyance. Francis Ouimet, national champion, has already been selected to head the American team, but his team mates have not as yet been named.

Just who will be on the American team probably will not be known until the April meeting of the association. It is believed, however, that there will be a number of new faces in the lineup as a result of the showing made by youngsters like Billy Howell of Richmond in the amateur championship.

H. H. Ramsay, president of the U. S. G. A., is now in California on business, and it is expected that no definite action will be taken until his return early next month.

British Expected Bid.

President Ramsay was surprised to learn that the British were awaiting an invitation from the U. S. G. A., since the matches have come to be a biennial affair, alternating between the two countries. Had it been known that the British were awaiting an invitation one would have been dispatched to them months ago, for the U. S. G. A. is not anxious to see the event dropped.

The scene of this year's event will be announced as soon as possible. It is likely that the matches will go to the country club at Brookline, Mass.

SPORTING GOODS DEALERS OPEN 3 DAY CONVENTION

More than 600 sporting goods dealers from all over the United States yesterday opened their annual three day convention at the Sherman hotel. Nearly 100 manufacturers of sporting equipment have samples of their products on exhibition. Tomorrow A. A. Stagg, athletic director at the University of Chicago, is to be the guest of honor at luncheon.

John A. Hatton of Kansas City, secretary-treasurer of the national association, voiced an optimistic note on business conditions.

"Americans will play, and our business is not nearly as hard hit as some other lines have been," he said.

DETROIT SKATER IS CHOSEN FOR OLYMPIC TEAM

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Harold Delpier of Detroit today was named a member of the United States Olympic speed skating team, raising the strength of the squad to 14 members. Delpier will compete in the 10,000 meters.

The United States team, now training at Speculator, N. Y., will move Thursday to Lake Placid, scene of the winter Olympics to complete its training.

Pecatonica High School Grid Captain Elect Dies

Stadium Adds Nekolny and Brady to Card

Franta Nekolny, European welterweight champion, will make his second start in this country and his first in Chicago when he meets Jackie Brady of Syracuse, N. Y., in the semi-final contest to the Jackie Fields-Lou Brouillard 147 pound title battle at the Chicago Stadium, Jan. 28. That was the statement Jack Root, former light heavyweight champion, who is Nekolny's manager, made here yesterday. Brady already is here and Franta will arrive tomorrow.

Brouillard, world's champion, arrives this morning from Worcester, Mass., and will establish himself at Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon.

Belle Plaine Athletic club officials announced last night that entries for the north side suburban amateur boxing championship tournament closed yesterday with 100 contestants scheduled to fight in the preliminary rounds tomorrow and Thursday at the Belle Plaine club, 3943 Lincoln avenue. The finals will be held Jan. 28. The four lighter classes, flyweight to lightweight, will battle tomorrow and the heavier divisions, welterweight to heavyweight, compete Thursday. If most of the entrants show up for weighing and examination, there will be at least 15 matches each night in the preliminary rounds.

Baxter Calmes, Chicago light heavyweight, will start training today for his fight with Paul Pantaleo at White City next Monday night. Calmes came out of his 175 pound championship tournament victory against Bob Olin without injuries. The Olin victory was Calmes' eighth in a row. Calmes and Pantaleo are scheduled to fight ten rounds at the heavyweight poundage. Mique Malloy is arranging the supporting card.

Scotty Sylvano, Catholic Youth organization welterweight champion, will meet Ray Cannek of Chicago Heights in the windup bout of the amateur show tonight at Midway arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue. Red Chinski, Kankakee, Ill., lightweight, fights Ralph Lubansky in the semi-final contest. Six other matches are on the card.

Eight amateur boxing bouts will be staged at the Mid-West Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue, tomorrow night. The feature bout brings together Barney Hassen and Al Garcia, lightweights.

Eddie Shea, south side featherweight, yesterday had his bout against Jackie Johnston at Toronto, Ont., postponed from Jan. 21 to Jan. 27. The postponement was necessitated when Shea had a tooth pulled.

When Muscles HURT

Here's good news for everyone who has rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia or any ill or sore muscles and joints. Science has found a new way to end muscular troubles. It's Muscletone—ends all pain in from 7 to 10 minutes.

May Bring In New Partner.

Mr. Long, one of the founders of Ah-wah is out, and it is reported that the remaining sportsmen in charge are thinking of bringing in Mr. William P. Kyne to take charge of the racing. Mr. Kyne rattles around the west a good deal, running little horse meets here and there, carrying his entire plant in a few trunks like a traveling carnival show. He is undoubtedly qualified by experience not only to conduct a horse meet, but also to make change at the ticket windows and lose no money by little mistakes in the counting.

A man of Mr. Kyne's experience in making change at the ticket windows may never become mistake-proof because to err is human, but he would not give too much change. However, he might suffer from unfamiliarity in the large surroundings of Caliente. Ordinarily, in the carousel meets, there are few horses, and a man comes to know just about where each horse will finish in relation to the other horses. He would be among strange horses at Ah-wah.

Mum on Sweepstake.

There has been no mention of the Caliente sweepstake or lottery this year, and I wonder if that, too, has been affected by the depression. The Caliente sweepstake was a copy of the Calcutta sweep of England and there was a large sale of tickets when it was first conducted in 1929. The most scrupulous precautions were taken to protect from error the clients who had purchased tickets at one dollar each or $20 for a book of twenty and it was reported that several hundred thousand were distributed throughout the United States and Canada.

There was some thoughtless criticism of the sportsmen in charge of the sweepstake when the drawing disclosed an unknown copper miner as the winner of the capital prize of $80,000. Some persons went so far as to suggest that the copper miner was a dummy and complained that, anyway, $80,000 was not enough for the first prize, considering how widely the tickets had been circulated.

Bear Criticism with Fortitude.

The management of the sweepstake bore this criticism with commendable fortitude and dignity, however, realizing that the thoughtless rabble seldom rewards altruistic service with anything but suspicion and complaint. The receipts of the sweepstake, over and above the various prize awards, were spent for necessary administration expenses, and any well informed person will concede that administration is a very expensive thing.

I thought the management acted in a wise and dignified manner when the boys decided not to honor these evil mutterings with a formal explanation or denial and to stand on their reputations as sportsmen of the highest type and also on their constitutional rights [Mex.].

Interests Well Guarded.

Possibly, while the reorganization is on, the American association of poolroom, handbook, slot machine and punch board operators will wish to bid for influential places on the board, to keep the racing at Ah-wah on a high plane and guard against unethical practices such as Mr. Long confessed to.

On second thought, however, maybe that would not be necessary. Their interests seem to be well guarded at Ah-wah.

Hornsby to Play Second or Third if Rookies Fail

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby still believes he can do the Chicago Cubs more good as a player-manager than he would do directing activities from the bench. Unless some younger man shows that he can do the work more satisfactorily Hornsby expects to play second or third base next season.

"I still consider myself a player-manager," Hornsby, the slugger who led the St. Louis Cardinals to a pennant and world championship in 1926, said today when he called at the office of Branch Rickey, business manager of the St. Louis club. "Of course, I can't cover the ground I used to cover. But perhaps I may be able to win more games with my bat than I would lose by my decreased ground covering ability."

Today's visit was described as purely social and not for the purpose of discussing trades.

Hornsby predicted that Stanley Hack will be the Cubs' regular third baseman, and said he hopes that Billy Herman will be able to fill second base satisfactorily. If either of them fails, however, Hornsby said he would be ready to take the place.

M'NAMARAS MEET FLORALS.

The McNamara Brothers quintet of Whiting, Ind., defeated in an overtime game Sunday night, will seek revenge from the Duffy Florals tonight when they meet the Midwest Professional league leaders again at White City.

LOOK OUT, DUSEK—ZAHARIAS HAS A MYSTERY HOLD!

George Zaharias, boasting a new mystery hold, and Rudy Dusek will meet tonight in the main event of Promotor Doc Krone's five match wrestling show at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue.

RUDY DUSEK.

During a two hour workout yesterday afternoon at Kid Howard's gym, Zaharias did not attempt any unusual holds, but did emphasize head and toe holds.

The young Greek from Colorado refused to disclose anything about his new weapon. Dusek scoffed at the report that Zaharias had a new hold. He said he will use his Omaha split against George. Zaharias was disqualified in a recent match with Rudy at the Coliseum.

Eight other grapplers have been assembled for the minor roles. Frank Bronowicz, Polish star, goes up against Milo Steinborn of Germany in the semi-windup.

Tonight's card:

Frank Bronowicz vs. Milo Steinborn.
Hans Bauer vs. Gino Garibaldi.
Earl McCready vs. Floyd Marshall.
Jack Smith vs. Paul Harper.

Funny-Looking—Yes! —but it's no laughing matter!

MAYBE your best friend won't tell you—but your doctor will! A fat man's his own worst enemy. Those saggy extra pounds that weight down your chances of health and happiness are anything but a joke. If you don't believe it, see if your insurance examiner thinks it's funny. He'll say, "Reduce—then come back." It's easy to follow his advice—try the 14-day Pluto Water treatment—including a quarter of a glassful of Pluto in a glass of hot water each morning. You'll feel like a new man—and look it! Your druggist has Pluto Water for you. Mail coupon for free reducing book, "Cutting Down the Waistline", telling how moderate exercise, food selection, and Pluto will help you.

HEAD DOWN, fingers going hard, 50 seconds of massage with Vitalis—and circulation quickens, natural oils return, hair gets healthy!

COMB and brush—for 10 short seconds more. What a difference! Your hair falls easily into place, and it's alight with life and lustre!

The 60-Second Workout keeps your HAIR well-groomed

The 60-second workout for your dried-out scalp is as important to your looks as your well-tailored suit, and your well-polished shoes. Unhealthy-looking, straggly hair spoils more men's appearance than any other one thing!

Take just 60 seconds, twice a week, to rub Vitalis briskly into your scalp. A brief vigorous massage with this pure vegetable oil preparation will make an immediate difference in your looks.

The natural oils that nourish the hair roots will be restored. Circulation will be quickened in the scalp. Loose dandruff, forerunner of falling hair, will be checked. Your hair will look rich, healthy, naturally lustrous—without a trace of that objectionable "patent-leather" look. And it will stay in place always!

Get a bottle of Vitalis today. Barbers have it. Druggists have it. It is the preparation made after the formula approved by leading doctors who specialize in hair culture. Begin your 60-second workouts today, and look your best!

Ask your Barber . . .

You'll never get such a good view of your hair as your barber does. And nobody can tell you better what it needs. Don't ignore expert advice. When he says "Vitalis?" you'd better say "Yes!"

3,150 NAMED FOR SILVER SKATES; THAT'S NOT ALL!

Last Minute Entries May Send Total Near 4,000.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Tabulation of entries for the sixteenth annual Silver Skates Derbies sponsored by THE TRIBUNE shows that 3,150 boys and girls filed their names up to Sunday. The final day's mail, which was turned over to the clerks yesterday, will bring the grand total to within a few hundred of 4,000.

This present list of entries, without the final group, is as follows: Men's senior, 714; boys' intermediate, 659; boys' junior, 767; boys' juvenile, 431; boys' midget, 380; girls' senior, 78; girls' junior, 121.

Northwest Names 30.

R. Notz, secretary of the Northwest Skating club, has entered 30 skaters. Nineteen will compete in the men's senior race. Bob Little, president of the Opal A. A., will have a team of 34 in five of the seven Derbies.

Little says that Charles Serro is outstanding in the men's senior division. Joe Svoboda, one of the finalists last year in the senior Silver Skates race, is back for another crack at the championship. Paul Pierce is listed as the best of the Opal boys in the junior Derby.

The Henry playground, as usual, will have a large group of contestants. Henry Mock, playground instructor, who has been at Henry for 15 years, is one of the veterans who have cooperated with THE TRIBUNE in promoting Silver Skates competition.

Who's Who on Henry Team.

Here is Mock's survey of Henry playground's chances:

"In the midget class we have hopes that Bertil Liljeberg will win. Arthur Frantz and Morris Lazarus are others of top standing. In the juvenile Derby we should hear from Berwyn Lemke and Walter Schulteis. Werner Sevander, Leonard Miller, and Robert Wilken are the best in the junior class. Ray Schenk is favored in the intermediate, while his brother, John, should be in the finals of the senior championship."

Maury Farber, former Wisconsin basketball star, now at the John S. Clark municipal playground, has named a team of youngsters for the races. John Nemec of McCormick playground will have boys in all five Derbies.

Definite announcement probably will be made tomorrow whether the races will be postponed. There remains an outside chance that the races can be held Saturday and Sunday.

SPEED SKATING GROUP ARRANGES PRO RACES JAN. 30

The Chicago Speed Skating association was formed yesterday at a meeting at the Chicago Stadium, where officials long prominent in skating affairs met in an effort to bring the national professional championships to Chicago.

A meet is planned for Jan. 30, on the Stadium ice. Officials of the new organization have issued invitations to the leading pro-racers of the country.

Everett McGowan, Bobby McLean, Ben O'Sicky and others are expected to respond. This will be the first of a series of races and exhibitions planned for the winter months by the new organization, which is headed by Frank Kalteaux, Otis Taylor, Edward Mahlke, Harry Berz, Norman Ross and Paul Staff.

Cicero Moves to Cincinnati; but It's Only a Player Deal

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Acquisition of Outfielder Joe Cicero from the Nashville club of the Southern association, in exchange for Catcher Johnny Gooch, was announced today by Cincinnati National league baseball officials.

Lott Begins Defense of Canadian Net Title Today

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—George Lott Jr. will meet Ernest Savard of Montreal in the first round of the single matches of the Canadian covered courts tennis championships, which begin here tomorrow. Lott is the defending champion and is picked to retain his title against 38 challengers, including 11 players from the United States. The tournament will continue through Saturday.

Reiff Retains Big 10 Scoring Lead with 50

Joe Reiff of Northwestern, defending high scoring champion in the Big Ten, kept his place at the top of the 1932 procession when he counted ten points against Wisconsin last night. Reiff's total for five games is 50. Moffitt of Iowa is second with 45 points in four games. His average is better than Reiff's.

Johnny Wooden of Purdue, who has participated in only three games, has 34 points and holds fifth place.

Twenty-two players have scored 20 points or more this season. Four of the group are Northwestern men, while the fifth regular, Bus Smith, has 18 points to his credit.

Charley Paddock Refused Amateur Card by A. A. U.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Charley Paddock of Pasadena, Cal., once known as the "world's fastest human," was refused a registration card tonight by officials of the Southern Pacific branch of the A. A. U., practically barring the runner from athletic competition. Officials would not comment, but Paddock attributed the action to his moving picture activities.

WORLD TOURNEY BOWLING RECORD FALLS AT AURORA

Chicago Quintet Knocks Over 3,450 Pins.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The Moulding Brownell corporation quintet of Chicago established a new world's record for tournament bowling by shooting 3450 today in the interstate tourney. It is the highest score ever shot in a tournament sanctioned by the American Bowling congress.

The five Chicagoans each averaged 230 to pass the Verifine five, of Milwaukee, which had been holding first place with 3,220.

REALTY FIRM IS MADE MANAGER OF 'LAKE VIEW'

Hogan & Farwell Named by Bond Committee.

If you have a defaulted real estate bond and haven't been able to get the desired information regarding it from the bondholders' committee or from other sources, The Tribune may be of assistance to you. Write to "The Tribune Real Estate Bond Service, Chicago Tribune." Don't ask for information regarding more than one issue at a time. Give name of underwriter and full title of the bond. Inquiries must be accompanied by self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

BY AL CHASE.

Hogan & Farwell, realty firm and managers of the Michigan Square building and other structures, have been made managers of the nine story 2600 Lake View building, owned by the Marlborough Building corporation, according to a letter sent out yesterday by George L. Wire, secretary of the bondholders' protective committee. Leo L. Hogan is head of Hogan & Farwell. The property was financed by a $1,200,000 first mortgage bond issue underwritten by the American Bond and Mortgage company in 1927 and now reduced to $1,122,500.

Installments of principal which matured Dec. 1, 1930, and thereafter and interest due June 1, 1931, and since then have defaulted.

The committee announces that the stockholders in the Marlborough Building corporation have agreed to the formation of a new company to take title to the property. The stockholders also have deposited with the committee more than $35,000 for expenses, taxes etc. The balance will be distributed to the depositing bondholders.

A Semi-Coöperative.

The building is located at 2600-08 Lake View avenue and 400 Deming place, and contains 103 apartments of from one to eleven rooms, or a total of 459 rooms. The building is known as a semi-coöperative property. Ten of the apartments are leased to stockholders of the corporation and the other ninety-three are leased to tenants.

Every year since the date of the loan the rents from others than the coöperative tenants have been inadequate to meet its requirements; consequently the stockholders have assessed themselves in amounts equal to or in excess of the current rental value of the apartments occupied by them.

The bondholders' protective committee is composed of Craig B. Hazlewood, chairman; Frederick G. Curry, H. K. Hallett, Dayton Keith, Joseph E. Otis, Walter J. Sugden and Charles W. Weston.

Buys In Factory.

County records yesterday disclosed the transfer of the three story industrial plant on the west side of Morgan street, between 36th and 37th street, lot 50x360, by the Federal Furniture Factories, Inc., a subsidiary of the Albert Pick-Barth company, to Roy L. Wakefield for $1,000.

This was a step in the reorganization of the property and title was taken for the Central-Republic Bank and Trust company on behalf of the bondholders' protective committee, of which C. S. Tuttle is chairman. Arthur Leonard, W. G. Strum and Howard H. Hilton are members.

The original first mortgage bond issue made on this property was by the Chicago Trust company and was for $40,000. The land and building then were valued at $70,000. They are now appraised at $35,000. The bond issue has been reduced to $23,500. The building is under lease to an ice cream cone concern until February 1934, at $400 a month rental.

INFORM WORLD U. S. WILL BACK GOLD DOLLAR

Banking Authority Explains Stand.

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—America will stand for no debasing of the United States gold dollar, and the world should know it, asserted a high banking authority today. He said the European newspapers were raising a false cry over the erroneous possibility of currency inflation in the United States and had given the gravest misinterpretation to the program of American financial leaders to arrest wholesale deflation of credit.

The United States government and its banking system, he stated, is in splendid position to meet any sudden call from foreigners for gold that might arise, but nevertheless it wants to correct false impressions which have been widely scattered throughout all of Europe.

While the country's banking leadership does not want again to face an international "run" for gold, he said that the country is just as well prepared to meet it today as it was in the feverish financial days following upon England's abandonment of the gold standard last October.

Cites Example of News.

As a sample of misinterpretation which many European newspapers have been placing on the American campaign to arrest credit deflation, this spokesman cited the opening paragraph of a newspaper dispatch from the United States which appeared in a French journal. "The new order of the day is inflation," this article read.

Unfortunate misinterpretation of the American campaign to stop deflation of credit and to prepare the way for return to normal conditions, he explained, grew out of Europe's own experiences with inflation. In Germany, France, and other countries inflation meant the speeding up of government printing presses to turn out more paper with which to pay off internal debts.

The American program, he explained, is the direct opposite of this. Through formation of the proposed Reconstruction Finance corporation the concerted effort to stop continued deflation of credit, and other remedial measures for business improvement, he emphasized, do not mean inflation of currency. Instead, they were defined as efforts to end the "vicious circle of deflation."

Has Gone Far Enough.

"This deflation has gone far enough," he said. "It is our job to check it, but not to start a new inflation."

The Reconstruction Finance corporation, by creating a government formed bank, which will be empowered to take over certain assets which are now frozen, although sound, will not prompt currency inflation, he said. Nor will other measures now enjoying the support of both political parties in congress.

In the gold run on America, following England's departure from the gold standard, he said, $700,000,000 of gold was called to Europe. Only $10,000,000 of gold was taken out of the banks for corporations in this country, and nearly all of them were American corporations representing European concerns.

Gold Transactions.

Today's gold transactions resulted in a gain of $2,500,000 in the country's monetary stock, according to the New York Federal Reserve bank statement. There was a decrease of $600,000 in gold under earmark for foreign account and $1,900,000 was received at Chicago from Canada.

Wall street, nevertheless, is rather looking for a resumption of gold exports to France, although it has been understood that the movement might be gradual, causing little or no disturbance.

OPEN CAMPAIGN TO STOP SHORT SALES OF GRAIN

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A group of house members today opened their campaign for the abolishment of short selling on cotton and grain exchanges with criticism of the grain futures act.

Before the house agriculture committee Chairman Jones said the grain futures administration "has been of no benefit whatever."

Representative Cross, Democrat, Texas, added that "the grain law has been absolutely worthless," and Chairman Vinson of the house naval committee held the administration of grain futures transactions "has not been up to expectation."

Vinson, a Georgia Democrat, said he was convinced the exchanges should be controlled and regulated by the government.

American Is Blamed for Dollar Sales

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 18.—Europe's biggest offensive against the American dollar is now in full swing and the "vigilance committee" of American banking heads in Paris, which checked the bear raids last October, reorganized today to face the new threat.

PROF. H. P. WILLIS

Thus far the international marauders, whoever they may be, have not attempted to renew the erratic forcing down of the price of the dollar by massive short sales which cost them so heavily in the end last fall.

The sales of the dollar in Paris were heavy last week and much heavier today. The reason is not a technical manipulation, but is regarded as the effects of an insidious campaign of alarmist propaganda by representing the Hoover refinancing scheme as "inflation"—a word which causes a panic whenever it falls upon European ears.

Regarded as Infallible.

Sincere technical criticisms of the plan by French financial experts are not included in the alarmist campaign, according to the American vigilantes. Their investigations have led them to conclude the whole campaign against the dollar in Paris is the work of one man—that man is pointed out by the investigators as an American.

He is H. Parker Willis, who is employed as an economic expert by the senate's banking subcommittee. He is also professor of economics at Columbia university. As New York correspondent for a French financial news agency, Agence Economique et Financiere, the leading financial service of this country, he is regarded in French financial circles as an infallible oracle. His opinions, reproduced in substantial financial sheets, have an immediate effect on the market.

Here is what Mr. Willis said this morning:

"The keen desire of American politicians evidently is to create the appearance of a return to prosperity before the nomination of candidates for president," he declares. "The fact that the federal reserve is participating in a program of inflation is considered in qualified circles as a violation of the understanding made public during the visit to Washington, D. C., of Premier Laval, unless, indeed, the time limit of this understanding already has expired."

Interpret Statement.

The revelation that the Federal reserve is "participating" in a policy of "inflation" is not calculated to increase Europe's confidence in the dollar. But the deadliest barb was the reference to the understanding between Laval and President Hoover.

Since Hoover solemnly informed the French premier that the dollar would be kept on the gold basis at all costs, the Willis statement can only be interpreted over here as meaning that the dollar is definitely sliding on the inflation toboggan and that abandonment of the gold standard is looming.

As a direct result of the whispering campaign the dollar slumped from its usual rate of 25 francs, 55 centimes to 25.41 and a fraction at the end of the week. Today it dropped almost to 25.39 and then recovered exactly to 25.41. At this figure gold shipments begin.

Embassy Statement.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 18.—The American embassy issued a statement to the French press today calling its attention to a declaration by President Hoover on Jan. 9, not previously published here, in which the President asserted that the budget of the United States would be balanced for the year beginning July 1.

"The policy thus enunciated by the President would seem to insure against inflation of the public debt," the embassy's announcement concludes. The statement is believed to have been called forth by two dispatches from Prof. Parker Willis, New York banking expert, to a French financial daily, which have been widely quoted here. Prof. Willis writes that there are reports in New York that the Bank of France is recalling its foreign holdings, including dollars, at which there is no surprise. The report, however, was denied here today by a qualified source.

Pressure Against Dollar Eases; Sterling Declines

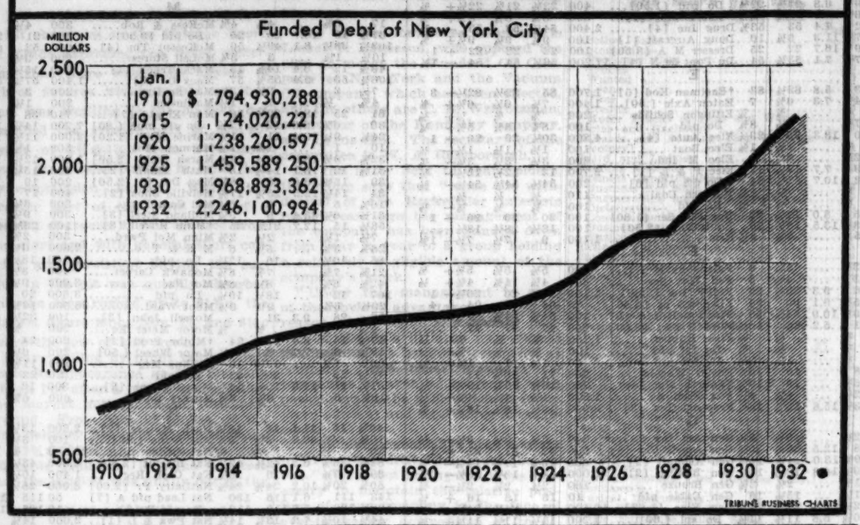
New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Pressure against the dollar abroad relaxed somewhat today. Although French francs hovered around the point at which it would be profitable to ship gold from New York to Paris, no movement took place. Sterling eased more than a cent for cables, which closed at 3.47¼ after narrow fluctuations. Scandinavians eased in sympathy. Dealers said the demand for franc futures from French banks was active and three months' quotations commanded a considerable premium over spot. Because of the favorable demand rate, it was assumed that a lack of fast transportation at the moment had made exports unattractive.

Blue Ridge Corporation to Reduce Capital Stock

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Blue Ridge corporation will vote Feb. 10 to change the $50 par value preference stock into preference stock without par value and to reduce the capital represented by them to $25 a share and credit the remaining $25 a share to capital surplus.

Kelvinator corporation stockholders at their annual meeting today recommended to directors that the balance of the company's funded debt be retired. It amounted to $1,073,000 as of Sept. 31 last.

New York City Has Set a Fast Pace In Municipal Borrowing--Now Owes Over 2 Billion Dollars



ANCILLARY RECEIVERS ARE REQUESTED FOR SPRECKELS SUGAR CO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 18.—A petition asking the appointment of ancillary receivers for the Spreckels Sugar company was filed today in the federal court. Rudolph Spreckels is the petitioner. He states that receivers were appointed today in Delaware.

The balance sheet of the company as of Nov. 30, 1931, filed with the petition, shows assets of $13,659,540, but an answer filed at the same time admits the inability of the company to meet its present obligations, and says that the directors have agreed to the receivership.

The liabilities of the company, according to the balance sheet of last November, were $5,430,068, including current liabilities of $2,384,568, and a funded debt of $3,045,500. The funded debt is the outstanding remainder of a $5,000,000 bond issue floated by the Federal Sugar company, predecessor of the Spreckels.

Mr. Spreckels, who was head of the Federal as he is of the company bearing his name, stated in his petition that he has an investment of $10,000,000 in the concern seeking receivers, and that he is its creditor in the sum of $50,000. The petition stated that Henry P. Scott, Edgar H. Stone and Winfred V. Holton Jr. were appointed receivers in Delaware, where the company was incorporated, and asks that they also be named here.

APPROVE CUT IN CAPITAL STOCK OF CEN.-ILL. CORP.

Stockholders of Central-Illinois Securities corporation at the annual meeting yesterday approved the recommendation of the directors to reduce the capital of the corporation by retiring 80,364 shares of common stock held in the treasury. By this action the number of common shares outstanding was reduced from 1,000,000 to 919,636. Charles C. Haffner Jr., executive vice president of Central Republic Bank and Trust company and treasurer of the corporation, was elected a director.

C. S. Castle, vice chairman of the executive committee of the National Bank of the Republic prior to the consolidation of that bank with the Central Trust Company of Illinois, was elected chairman of the board of the National Republic Investment Trust, a position which has been vacant since the resignation of George Woodruff. David Adler was elected secretary to succeed Ward C. Castle.

North American Approves $19,000,000 Construction

Frank L. Dame, president of the North American company, announced yesterday that construction budgets totaling $19,000,000 for the corporation's utility subsidiaries had been approved. The total amount is for work definitely planned for completion or in progress during 1932. In 1931 construction expenditures were $40,000,000, and in 1930, $70,000,000.

General Electric Orders in 1931 Total $252,021,496

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Orders received by the General Electric company in 1931 totaled $252,021,496, compared with $341,820,312 in 1930. This was announced today by Gerard Swope, president of the company. Orders for the quarter ended Dec. 31 amounted to $49,321,480, compared with $74,168,480 in the final quarter of 1930, a decrease of 34 per cent.

SURETY FIRMS CLAIM UNFAIR BOND LIABILITY

Protest Losses Due to Closed Banks.

BY SCRUTATOR.

Tax collectors, county and city treasurers and other public officials serving in a fiduciary capacity, as well as surety companies who furnish bonds for such officials, have been striving for relief from provisions of state laws holding them financially accountable for losses of public funds deposited in closed banks.

Laws provide that a public official who handles funds shall put up a bond to insure his faithful performance of duty and due diligence in handling the public's money.

This implies more than a guarantee of personal honesty. There is a contingent depository liability which holds the official and his bondsmen financially responsible for any loss due to failure of the bank in which he deposits the public money.

Involves Double Liability.

A double liability is therefore involved. The surety company or individuals furnishing the officeholder's bond are required to make good any loss that may result from the closing of the bank in which public funds are deposited as well as any loss due to dishonesty of the bonded individual.

The latter, however, usually has no choice in deciding in what bank he will deposit the money for which he is responsible. In most states the bank is selected by the county board on the basis of competitive bids.

Until a year or two ago the surety companies willingly assumed the contingent depositary liability because they had experienced practically no losses through bank failures.

W. E. Krafft, head of the surety department of the Continental Casualty company, says such concerns are still willing to assume it, but that they demand the opportunity to charge an additional fee to cover the contingent liability risk. In 1931, he says, the business of bonding public officials was a losing one because of the closing of numerous banks having public money on deposit.

Holds Up Collections.

"A month ago in many Michigan communities," says Mr. Krafft, "tax collections were held up for three weeks because tax collectors were unable to get surety bonds. People who came to pay their taxes had to be sent away. Finally a scheme was devised whereby the directors of banks receiving deposits of public funds furnished the bonds guaranteeing both the honesty of the tax collectors and the security of the funds on deposit in their banks.

"Then the surety companies, in turn, issued reindemnifying bonds protecting the bank directors against loss that might result from dishonesty of the tax collectors.

"In that way the directors, being in a position to know that their banks were in sound condition, assumed the depository risk and the surety companies assumed the fidelity risk of the official."

Mr. Krafft states that in Illinois recent legislation has made it possible for county treasurers of counties having a ppoulation of 150,000 or more to be covered by two separate bonds, one guaranteeing the treasurer's honesty and the other guaranteeing his deposits.

Need Similar Legislation.

Surety concerns, he adds, contend that similar legislation should be enacted to cover other county officials handling public funds and officials in counties having less than 150,000 population.

"We believe," Mr. Krafft says, "that it is manifestly unfair to hold an official financially responsible for a condition over which he has no control. Until this situation is remedied it will be difficult for such individuals to get surety bonds, especially in small communities.

"Surety companies do not fear additional bank closings. They merely object to contingent depository liability for which they receive no recompense. A few scattered losses quickly turn such business into the red. The surety business is operated on the basis of extremely low loss ratios and charges are based accordingly."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Products valued at $6,282,092,240 were turned out by Illinois' 15,383 manufacturing establishments in 1929, according to results of the biennial census of manufactures for the state, made public today by the department of commerce.

The net value of the products, which the department termed "value added by manufacture," was $2,930,037,761, representing the gross value less the cost of materials, containers for products, fuel, and purchased electric energy, which totaled $3,352,054,479. The department pointed out, however, that the net value does not represent manufacturers' profits, as the census figures do not include certain expense items such as interest on investment, rent, depreciation, taxes, insurance, and advertising.

An average salary of $2,712 a year was paid to the 135,952 salaried officers and employés of the state's manufacturing establishments in 1929, the report showed. The aggregate salary paid for the year in all industries was $368,721,898. There were 29,559 salaried workers in such offices, the figures indicated.

Wages totaling $1,024,870,235 were paid by the state's manufacturing industries during the year to 691,555 wage earners, according to the report, the per capita yearly wage in industry amounting to approximately $1,484.

Products of wholesale meat packing establishments in the state, with a gross value of $760,872,847, led the list of individual industries in gross value of products during the year. The figures showed, however, that the cost of materials in this industry, amounting to $664,513,288, nearly equaled the gross value of products, reducing the net value to $96,354,559.

Chicago Towel Earnings Equal $5.49 on Common

Net profit of $569,835 was reported yesterday by the Chicago Towel company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1931. After preferred dividend requirements this is equal to $5.49 a share on 80,000 shares of common stock outstanding. In 1930 the company showed a net of $742,279, or $7.59 a share on the same number of shares. The balance sheet as the year closed showed current assets of $549,371, and current liabilities of $233,121.

Erie Road Places Orders for 31,377 Tons of Rails

Erie railroad yesterday placed orders for 31,377 tons of rails. Carnegie Steel received 18,955 tons of the order and Illinois Steel 6,147 tons. Balance of the order went to miscellaneous producers.

1931 Proves Best Year for Auburn Auto

BY O. A. MATHER.

Although 1931 was a comparatively meager year in the automobile industry, it is likely that the earnings reports of the big companies will not make nearly as gloomy reading as has been expected. In fact, there may be some pleasant surprises, as witness the annual report issued by the Auburn Automobile company last night.

E. L. CORD.

Auburn Automobile had the best year in its history, both in number of cars sold and profits. And on top of this record President E. L. Cord expects this year to be even better. As basis for this prediction he points out that the company's retail sales at the three principal shows held so far this month exceeded such sales in 1931 by about 25 per cent.

Sales for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30 exceeded 34,000 cars, compared with somewhat above 14,000 in 1930 and more than 23,000 in 1929, which was the previous banner year. Thus, unit sales were about 2½ times above 1930. Although dollar sales increased only one-half, net profits were more than 3½ times carnings for the preceding period.

Net sales for the 1931 period totaled $37,086,489, compared with $24,113,793 in 1930, but net profits, after all charges, were $3,579,848, which was equivalent to $17.64 a share on 202,909 shares of capital stock. Net profit for the 1930 period was $1,018,331, or $5.43 a share on 187,533 shares. Auburn Automobile pays dividends of $4 cash and 8 per cent in stock annually. Dividends last year totaled $324,004 in cash and $304,425 in stock. After dividend payments and surplus adjustments the company's surplus was increased by $1,940,348 to $7,172,121. The balance sheet as of Nov. 30 shows an unusually strong financial position, with current assets of $14,401,084 and current liabilities of only $1,923,840. This is a ratio of better than seven to one.

Another fairly cheerful report came from E. I. Dupont de Nemours & Co., which is a large holder of stock of the General Motors corporation. Preliminary figures indicate that earnings for 1931 were equivalent to $4.29 a share on 11,008,512 capital shares, compared with $4.67 a share earned in 1930 on 10,783,550 shares outstanding. It is pointed out that 1930 earnings included an extra dividend from General Motors that was equivalent to 28 cents a share on Dupont stock. Figures for both years include Dupont's equities in undivided profits or losses of controlled companies not consolidated.

Alfred Decker & Cohn Has Loss.

The clothing industry suffered from a combination of distress merchandise, low volume and declining prices last year, according to the annual report of Alfred Decker & Cohn. Inventory losses were heavy and general conditions have called for rigorous readjustments.

For the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1931, the company had an operating loss of $474,102, other adjustments required $373,538 and preferred dividends took $35,322. The company gained $23,545 in discount on preferred stock purchased. The net result for the year was a final deficit of $864,418, which reduced surplus to $712,340. In the preceding period a deficit of $55,756 was incurred. The balance sheet as of Oct. 31, 1931, shows current assets of $2,497,150 and current liabilities of $333,164.

The General Public Service corporation reported 1931 net income of $173,200, or 26 cents a share, compared with $46,936, or 7 cents a share, in 1930.

The Procter & Gamble company reported net earnings, after all charges, for the final six months of 1931 at $9,299,156, equivalent after preferred dividends to $1.42 a share on the common stock, compared with $12,194,732, or $1.84 per share, in the like period of 1930.

Norfolk and Western 1931 Net Near $14.25 a Share

Norfolk and Western railway earned $14.25 a common share last year, A. C. Needles, president, states. He adds that the road's expenses currently are running about 65 per cent of expense levels of a year ago and the road is in good physical shape. In 1930 net income amounted to $31,816,765, equal to $21.96 a share.

Central of Georgia railway will show a deficit after charges of about $500,000 for 1931, according to H. D. Pollard, president. For 1930 the road showed net income of $1,407,764, after taxes and charges, equal to $7.03 a share on 200,000 shares.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 18.—Some self-appointed market "fixers" got hit in the eye with a boomerang of their own making today when they attempted to halt a dribble of short selling by placing a prohibitory premium on United States Steel in the loan market.

The order very evidently was intended to create the impression that there was a scarcity of the issue available for lending purposes. But it had exactly the opposite effect. There are some 8,700,000 shares of the stock outstanding and the trade was unable to figure out how there possibly could be a shortage—certainly not enough of one to warrant the charge of ⅝ of 1 per cent, which would cost the borrower some $37.50 a day for the use of each 100 shares borrowed. Something looked rotten in Denmark or somewhere. There was a general sniffing of the air.

Sweeps List Down.

Gradually the selling dribble turned into a freshet—a mild one it is true—but one with sufficient volume, nevertheless, to sweep the whole list down from 1 to 3 points or more. U. S. Steel itself was toppled from its leadership and a 2 point gain which it had run up in the early dealings was replaced with a fractional net loss. American Can, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, and other trading favorites were taken for losses of 2 points or more each.

The rail section, with the burden of the protracted wage conference at Chicago on its back, was set upon and borne along helplessly. Its losses on the face of the final figures ranged generally from 1 to 3 points. The utilities, oils, and merchandise stocks had no fight in them at all.

Genuine Liquidation.

Most of the selling undoubtedly was genuine liquidation—brought on largely by traders convinced that the recovery had carried as far as it could without a shot of some powerful stimulant and alarmed by the efforts of those in high quarters to halt selling by artificial barriers. Probably the news from Washington that the bill

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 32,000; sheep, 17,000.

A moderate run of hogs, a cold snap and fair eastern demand constituted the combination of factors that sellers used successfully in pushing the average price of hogs up 5c on yesterday's comparatively brisk trading. No appreciable change was noted in the wholesale price of fresh pork, but packers found a better movement at points where conditions were practically demoralized last week because of the unseasonable weather.

All city butchers and smaller packers were aggressive in the hog market and when larger houses swung into the trade with orders to buy at the slight upturn, a good clearance for all but pig weights was effected. The latter are arriving in larger numbers, and the rank and file are of only fair slaughter quality and sell at $3.00@ 3.50. Only outstanding lots of pigs reached $4.00. Bulk of the 170@300 lb hogs cleared quickly at $4.00@4.30, while numerous sales of 170@210 lb lightweights topped the market at $4.35. The general average price reached $4.15.

Hog receipts are running light for this time of year. Yesterday's total at 11 points at 135,000 head compared with 206,000 last Monday and with 190,000 a year ago.

Very few bids and no offers were made in the futures trade yesterday. May lightweights carried bids of $5.00. March contracts were bid $4.50, and February bids stopped at $4.25.

Pressure on Cattle.

Pressure was brought to bear in the cattle market yesterday when wholesale beef prices failed to respond as readily to colder weather as the trade had expected, and soon after a scattering of top grades had sold the market developed into a slow peddling affair. The finish was weak to slightly lower on the rank and file of cattle that are selling at $5.00@9.00. Numerous loads of medium to good quality steers of good killing flesh, that lacked the high finishing touch, are selling on local account at $6.50@8.00. The latter range represented a big part of yesterday's business.

The few lots of cattle at top prices cut little figure in the general market. One load of exceptional quality averaged 984 lbs and filled a special order carried by Swift at $10.75, the extreme top of the market. Selling in all divisions of the cattle yards showed last week's full decline.

Lambs Get Setback.

The lamb market took a setback when early reports failed to indicate a reaction in the wholesale market for dressed lamb except on high quality carcasses, and packers proceeded cautiously in their buying when only a moderate Monday run came on the market. Sheep receipts at the seven leading points at 85,000 compared with 110,000 a week ago. However, early sales were weak to 25c lower, and the bulk of trading was transacted at the later 25@50c price cut.

Packers obtained many good grades around the $6.00 line late after purchasing a few for an early kill at $6.35. Shippers bought at $6.35@6.50 on opening rounds, and the top to city butchers reached $6.60. Matured sheep and yearlings were unchanged.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 6,000 cattle, 32,000 hogs and 17,000 sheep, against 7,610 cattle, 29,561 hogs and 10,697 sheep the previous Tuesday, and 7,342 cattle, 41,-741 hogs and 20,438 sheep a year ago.

LARD MARKET STRONGER

Lard prices averaged higher yesterday with a stronger tone to the hog market and the advance in wheat. At the close futures were unchanged to 5c higher. Lard in Liverpool was 6d lower on spot and 6d higher on January and May. Exports of lard last week were 15,687,000 lbs, against 6,448,000 lbs last year. Exports of bacon were 1,244,000 lbs, against 6,460,000 lbs last year. Hog receipts in the west were materially lighter than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

BUTTER FUTUERS ADVANCE

Materially improved support carried butter futures higher on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday, final sales being at net gains of ½@¾c. Egg futures remained quiet, closing ½c lower to ¼c higher. Potatoes were unchanged to 2c lower. Buying carried butter forward rapidly at the opening and continued support worked prices still higher at mid-session. Profit taking entered near the close, however, and part of the advance was lost. Weather conditions which may curtail production slightly were the major factor in the advance, storage news continuing bearish. Egg news also was bearish, and there was little interest in the market. Sales: Butter, 69 cars; eggs, 8 cars; potatoes, 7 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 5 cars; potatoes, 1 car round whites. Prices follow:

WHEAT SCORES GAIN; BEARISH NEWS IGNORED

May Brings Highest Price Since November.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Pit observers on the Chicago Board of Trade expressed the belief yesterday that there was some buying of wheat futures which looked as if a pool was working in the market, but ascribed the greater part of the advance of 2¾@2⅞c from Saturday's finish to general buying in small lots by commission houses. While the greater part of the news was of a bearish character it was ignored from the start and with general short covering and persistent buying the surplus in the pit was quickly absorbed and the May rushed up to 61¾c, the highest figure since Nov. 21, and 6½c above the low of last week.

Heavy selling by profit taking longs made its appearance at 61c for May wheat, but after a period of hesitation the market forged ahead into new ground. From Nov. 22 to Jan. 16 the May delivery has held within a range of 53¾@60¾c and there was considerable jubilation in some quarters that the market was finally out of the rut.

Howell Not in Wheat Pool.

According to friends of Thomas Howell, a well known Chicago operator who is now at Miami, Fla., Mr. Howell is not in any pool to advance the price of wheat, and they expressed doubt as to whether he was trading in the market on a large scale. There was some buying of futures early attributed to short covering by a local professional, and also heavy buying by houses with eastern connections, some of which were extremely active on the buying side during the Oct. 5-Nov. 9 bulge which carried the price of the May up 24¼c.

Stop loss orders were uncovered in wheat on the way up, while the bulge was checked by selling against daily and weekly offers, the latter being good for 2½c in extreme instances, and by local and outside longs who were taking profits. Closing trades were on a moderate reaction from the best figures, but with net gains of 1⅝@2¾c. March finished at 58⅞c; May, 60⅞@61c, and July, 60¼@60¾c.

Liverpool failed to follow the upturn in North America on Saturday and closed 1¼@1⅜c per bu higher, with May at 56¾c, or 4¾c under Chicago at the time the English market closed.

Chicago Buys at Liverpool.

According to the gossip of the trade a Chicago house was a buyer of wheat futures in Liverpool yesterday, and the latter also bought here. There was spreading between Chicago and Winipeg on a fairly liberal scale, with some buying and selling at 4c difference between the two markets. Winnipeg finished 1@1¼c higher with May at 64¼c in Canadian funds, which were quoted around 14¼ per cent discount, against 15¼ per cent on Saturday.

A surprising development in the wheat situation was the export sales of around 1,000,000 bu in all positions. While the bulk of this grain was Canadian there was also some hard winter sold from Atlantic ports. Supplies on ocean passage increased nearly 9,000,000 bu for the week and are now 40,056,000 bu, against 27,-752,000 bu last year. A decrease of 2,611,000 bu was shown in the domestic visible supply with the total 208,535,000 bu, against 189,766,000 bu last year.

Corn Dull But Firm.

Short covering apparently ran its course in the corn market on Saturday, as there was not the snap to the buying which characterized it late last week. Prices were off ½c early followed by an advance of around 1½c from the inside figure with wheat. Closing trades, however, were only ⅛@¼c higher, with March, 40¼c; May, 42⅛@42¼c, and July, 43⅝c.

The country showed a pronounced disposition to sell cash corn to arrive, with local handlers booking 125,-000 bu. No improvement was shown in the shipping demand with sales of 10,000 bu. The basis in the sample market was steady to a shade easier. An increase of 247,000 bu was shown in the visible supply, with total stocks of 12,508,000 bu, compared with 16,-358,000 bu last year.

Standard Oil (Kas.) Control Fight Looms

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 18.—A fight for a change in management of the Standard Oil Company of Kansas loomed today when it was learned that a stockholders' committee had been formed by three holders of large blocks of the company's shares, who sent out a letter asking for proxies to be voted at the annual meeting March 9.

One of the committee members is Lionel T. Barneson, who opposed the plan to merge the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Oil company, which has been effected, and the others are C. B. Wrightsman, a director of the Kentucky company, and Cyrus Bell. The secretary of the committee is W. A. Roseborough.

In the letter sent to shareholders, the group says that "since the withdrawal of the Rockefeller interests many years ago the management of the company has been handed down from year to year to a group holding a relatively negligible amount of the company's stock.

"Under this management in spite of the obvious advantages enjoyed by reason of its name and former position in the field little or no progress has been made by your company as compared with other Standard Oil companies or even as compared with newcomers in the field which have enjoyed efficient and aggressive management.

"The management has been content to let matters drift," continues the letter, "and is not taking the steps necessary to maintain the relative position of your company in the face of ever-increasing competition or to develop the great possibilities of its exceptionally advantageous geographical situation."

Mr. Wrightsman is reported to be the holder of the largest block of the company's stock.

BOND MART SUFFERS FROM SINKING SPELL; U. S. ISSUES HOLD UP

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The bond market had a moderate sinking spell today and virtually all classes of securities recorded losses in varying degrees.

Only United States government obligations put up a relatively strong resistance and most of them closed fractionally higher. Two of the liberty loans sold slightly lower, however. The decline was orderly throughout except that the low-priced railway mortgages were in abundant supply in the final hour of trading.

Foreign loans sagged, rumors of probable moratoriums in some middle European countries unsettling the list. Argentine issues lost some of their recent substantial advances and Uruguay 6s gave up 4 points.

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

Wheat has advanced 5½c from the low prices on Saturday. The trade has been filled up with stories about pool operations. One of the leading traders who is credited with being in the combination is in Florida and he has never been known to enter into any combinations. The trade had it that there was evidence of profit taking by those who have been following the pool. The shorts have generally run in and the technical position at the close was not as strong as for several days past, the market being considered one on which it was dangerous to buy on bulges or to sell short on breaks.

The government report on live stock on farms in the United States will be given out at 2 o'clock today.

There are traders who believe that the wheat market is acting similar to that during the October bulge when May wheat sold up to 73c, an advance of 24¼ from the low point on Oct. 5. Others, however, express the belief that unless the export demand takes hold readily on the advance and millers come in as heavy buyers it will be hard to hold prices above the 60c level.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Demand for fresh eggs was somewhat better with prices unchanged. Receipts, 7,984 cases. Butter was steady to ¼c higher. Receipts 7,954 tubs. Live hens advanced 1c and spring chickens ½c. Receipts 3 cars and 7 trucks. Potatoes were about steady with receipts 120 cars and 222 cars were on team track.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part sooner. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1928 and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

FOR EXAMPLE:
The average monthly cost of a $200 loan repaid in 20 equal monthly payments is $2.63. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.

Get the Cost in DOLLARS Before You Borrow.
